House Group Report Praises Industry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Representative May.

Washington, D. C., June 18.—Complimenting private industry on its full coöperation with the government in the armaments program, the house committee on military affairs today laid squarely on labor's shoulders the responsibility for delays in the production of war weapons.

The committee headed by Representative Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], made its formal report in connection with submission to the house of amendments to the selective service act. In addition to providing legislation for the seizure of arms plants held up by strikes, the committee recommended the draft deferment of all men 28 years of age and over.

Aviation Plant Case Cited.

"From the evidence heard by the committee," the report said, "it is apparent that private industry has, without exception, coöperated to the fullest degree with both the war and navy departments, but unfortunately certain minor groups or elements of employés in many of the factories and industrial plants of the country have sought for one reason or another to stop production, and in many instances have largely succeeded in doing so."

The report said communistic elements had aided in the stoppage of arms production, citing particularly the case of the North American Aviation corporation at Inglewood, Cal., which the army, under Presidential order, recently took over. Because there is some question of the President's power under the constitution to take such action, the committee asserted, it was deemed wise to pass legislation making clear his right to intervene in such cases.

Pay Restriction Stressed.

The committee said that it regarded as "of vital importance" its recommendation that strikers in arms plants shall not be allowed back pay for the time they have stayed away from work.

"It was the intention of your committee," the report declared, "that this provision should operate against those employés, regardless of their relation or position in such industry, who wilfully and deliberately obstruct and interfere with production as well as the right of those who wish to work.

"In short, the committee does not believe that one who commits a wrong should be permitted to take advantage of his own wrongful act and at the same time be paid for loss of work during such time."

Open Shop Principle Recognized.

The principle of the open shop was recognized by the committee in a provision of which it reported:

"This section relates to and protects those employés in any industry or plant who wish to work and makes it unlawful to prevent them from working, either by threats, force, or violence, and at the same time recognizes the right of any person or organization to strike or to engage in peaceful picketing.

"It then denounces any violation of the provision of the section as sabotage and provides a penalty of a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment of not more than five years or both."

The measure recommended by the committee differs materially from legislation with similar aims passed by the senate. After house passage a conference between the two houses will be held to iron out differences.

DAYLIGHT TIME CONSIDERED FOR ALL OF INDIANA

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18 [Special].—Gov. Henry F. Schricker today considered issuing a proclamation asking the entire state of Indiana to adopt daylight saving time.

One hundred and one cities and towns are using daylight saving time and Indianapolis will adopt the new time at 1 a. m. Sunday by proclamation of Mayor Reginald Sullivan.

LOUIS KNOCKS OUT BILLY CONN IN 13TH ROUND

Joe Louis knocked out Billy Conn of Pittsburgh in the 13th round last night to retain his world heavyweight boxing championship. Trailing the former 175 pound title holder on points, he landed a crushing right to the jaw and Conn was counted out with two seconds of the 13th round remaining. A crowd of 54,487 watched the fight in New York.

NAVY'S CHIEF ADMITS SEAWAY ISN'T VITAL NOW

Talk of Pork Barrel Enlivens Hearing.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Joseph J. Mansfield.

Washington, D. C., June 18.—The congressional hearing into the merits of the 285 million dollar St. Lawrence waterway and power project took on farcical aspects today as Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was drawn into an admission that the project was not vital to the nation's defenses.

Guffaws from a large audience greeted the squabbling of several committee members regarding the lack of shipyard contracts in their districts. Chairman Joseph J. Mansfield [D., Tex.] of the rivers and harbors committee conducting the inquiry, was led to remark:

"I hope the committee is not going to get back to the old pork barrel scheme of things."

Predict Pork Pledges.

Predictions have been freely made that the administration forces backing the measure confirming the agreement between President Roosevelt and the Canadian government regarding construction of the seaway could not attain their ends except by granting juicy quantities of pork for congressmen not benefited by the legislation. Today's developments indicated the veracity of such forecasts.

Representative Joseph A. Gavagan [D., N. Y.] got the biggest laugh of the day. After listening to the complaints of several southern legislators about the scarcity of naval expenditures in their seaport districts, Gavagan solemnly demanded a share of navy pork for the Harlem district in New York City which he represents.

"When you're handing out business, Mr. Secretary," Gavagan said to Knox, "don't forget my district. It is entirely surrounded by water but it has no shipbuilding contracts."

Safety Project, Knox Says.

Secretary Knox began his testimony, as had yesterday's witnesses, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Assistant Secretary of State Adolph A. Berle Jr., with assertions that the St. Lawrence waterway was needed to insure the safety of the United States.

"We're going to live in a disturbed world for a long time, no matter what the outcome of the war, with the world out of balance, struggling for a new footing," Knox told the committee. "Control of the seas will be of immense importance."

The navy secretary asserted that the shipyards on 12,000 miles of American seacoast were working at capacity to meet the demands for merchant and war craft. If the waterway is completed, he said, cruisers, destroyers, and submarines could be built on the protected inland waters of the Great Lakes.

Knox ran into trouble at this point.

"Do you consider this project necessary to the national defense?" asked Representative Hugh Peterson [D., Ga.].

Desirable; Not Vital.

"Well, it is desirable," said Knox, "not vital."

"You are asking the people of this nation," said Peterson with indignation, "to stint themselves in the name of national defense, to buy all the government bonds they can, to make sacrifices of every kind—yet you and the secretary of war and other government leaders come in here asking for a vast and expensive project which you admit is unnecessary."

"It's essential for the long range needs of the country," insisted Knox.

Peterson then began complaining that a shipyard at Savannah, Ga., had not been given contracts by the navy. He was joined by Representative Lex Green [D., Fla.], who said that a shipyard at Jacksonville, Fla., had similarly been neglected.

"Why don't you use these shipyards before proposing to spend hundreds of millions in the Great Lakes?" Green demanded.

AFL, CIO DIVIDE HARVESTER VOTE

Each Wins 2 Elections; Two in Doubt.

Elections at six International Harvester plants yesterday resulted in two victories for the American Federation of Labor, two for the Congress of Industrial Organizations and two in which the choice of bargaining agent still is in doubt. The elections were conducted by the National Labor Relations board for the choice of bargaining agent at two plants in Chicago and at four others in surrounding territory. Each plant determines its own bargaining agent.

Isaiah S. Dorfman, assistant regional NLRB director, said that at the McCormick plant in Chicago and the Rock Falls [Ill.] plant, where one union received a plurality but not a majority of the votes cast, run-off elections would be necessary unless a review of the challenged votes by the regional director gave a majority to one or the other union. This means that a run-off is a certainty at the McCormick plant and a possibility at the Rock Falls works.

Results of Balloting.

The plants involved, and the results of the votes, follow:

McCORMICK PLANT [Chicago]—Approximate number employed, 6,300; AFL, 2,671; CIO, 2,682; challenged, 78; no union, 206.

WEST PULLMAN PLANT [Chicago]—Number employed, 2,800; AFL, 887; CIO, 1,138; challenged, 10; no union, 124.

MILWAUKEE PLANT — Number employed, 3,600; AFL, 2,067; CIO, 910; challenged, 43; no union, 92.

ROCK FALLS [ILL.] PLANT—Number employed, 220; AFL, 97; CIO, 101; challenged, nine; no union, one. The CIO challenged eight votes.

Challenges at McCormick Plant.

The Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee [CIO], which was on strike at the McCormick plant in Chicago for nearly a month earlier this year, had only an 11 vote margin over the AFL union. This advantage may be wiped out in a run-off election necessitated by the fact that 78 votes were challenged and 206 men voted for no union. Seventy-five of the votes were challenged by the CIO.

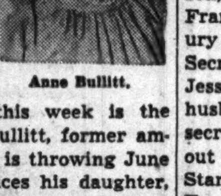
At both the McCormick and Milwaukee works the AFL Pattern Makers league was permitted to hold its own separate elections and in each case the AFL won. Fifty to eighty men are affected in each plant.

The CIO, which had claimed a majority at the McCormick plant during the strike there, and the AFL, which claimed the same, were surprised by the closeness of the vote.

Voting was done in booths set up near the plant gates, with a time schedule followed by the various departments. Two observers were assigned to each booth. All observers were eligible voters.

The NLRB order for the elections resulted from an AFL petition that they be held. The board had upheld the AFL contention that only men on the current pay rolls should vote, not those employed as of last Jan. 29 as the CIO requested.

Off-to-War Set Going All Out for Anne Bullitt's Lavish Debut



Anne Bullitt.

New York, June 18 [Special].—No matter how unlimited America's current national emergency is, Bill Bullitt's little Anne is not going to be gypped out of the coming-out party that debutantes of her standing get in peace times.

The talk of the off to war we go eastern seaboard this week is the party William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France, is throwing June 27 when he introduces his daughter, Anne, to Philadelphia society. Society has seen nothing this season to compare with it and Bill Bullitt is expecting such a crowd he is clearing a pasture on his summer estate, Meadow Farm, as a de luxe airport for the hordes who will fly there from all points of the compass.

A Second Coming-out.

This will be the second coming-out party this season for little Miss Bullitt. Last Thursday Mrs. Frederick Stirling, wife of the United States minister to Sweden, gave a lavish ball for her at the fancy Sulgrave club in Washington.

Coast to coast, bigwigs have been invited to make merry on the farm and they have accepted in double quick time. Governors of at least eight states are coming, various and sundry Roosevelts, the mayors of major cities from Boston to Baltimore and nearby flagposts, the "White House set," the diplomatic set, the cream of society, a few stars of stage and screen, and the so-called international set which now is resting uneasily on the eastern shores.

Acceptances have come from Secretary of War and Mrs. Henry Stimson, Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Frank Knox, Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau Jr., Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Jesse Jones, Mrs. Cordell Hull, whose husband is so busy with his duties as secretary of state he can't take time out for parties; Justice and Mrs. Stanley Reed, Justice and Mrs. Felix Frankfurter, and others up and down the line who are known as front page personalities.

And a 30 Piece Orchestra.

Meyer Davis, the priceless [some might call him merely expensive] orchestra leader, is getting together a 30 piece orchestra for the ball. This will be his largest band since the ball Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. H. Ripley gave for their daughter, Lesley, in Newport a few years ago.

Bill Bullitt and his daughter, Anne, who has been by his side in all his European posts, acting as a youthful and efficient hostess for him, are such pals that she has had Davis write special lyrics to the tune of "My Sister and I." The parody will be called "My Daddy and I," and Anne has been rehearsing to sing it at the party.

PRESIDENT ASKS U. S. FOOD STUDY IN FRENCH ISLES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 18.—President Roosevelt has ordered the agriculture department to make a survey of food and health conditions in the Caribbean region, including the French islands of Martinique and Guadeloupe, it was disclosed today.

This action was interpreted as foreshadowing possible seizure and occupation of the French possessions by American armed forces, as long rumored, in case of a break with the Vichy government. The agriculture department has sent C. B. Munson of its office of foreign agricultural relations to make the survey and report to the President.

"For some time there have been reports of food shortages on the islands," the department explained.

CHURCHILL VOWS DEBATE ON ANY U. S. UNION PLAN

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 18.—Prime Minister Churchill, who recently promised the house of commons he would make no transfer of empire territory without giving the members a full opportunity to discuss the advisability beforehand, today assured the house that the government would not formulate a plan for federal union between this country and the United States without a mandate from the British parliament. So great a change, Churchill said, could not be brought about without the fullest public and parliamentary discussion beforehand.

Capt. John Dugdale, Laborite, earlier had suggested in commons that each of Britain's larger colonies be permitted to choose a native to act as high commissioner to Britain.

George Hall, undersecretary of state for colonies, said he saw no advantage in the plan.

"Does not the minister consider that people who are worthy to fight are also worthy to be represented in our capital?" Dugdale asked.

Hall replied that the proposal "opened up a wide question of policy."

Hall also declared the government was not prepared to take up the question of the constitutional rights of speech and assembly taken from the people of Cyprus in 1931.

British Planes Fly on Guard Over the Derby

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 18.—A protective force of many fighting planes roared overhead, bookmakers reaped a harvest and a brilliantly garbed crowd of war beleaguered English men and women cheered under a clear blue sky today as Owen Tudor, a 25 to 1 shot, won the 261st English Derby over the Newmarket course.

Gay occasion tho it was, the day was not without its drawbacks for the spectators, who arrived on foot, in buses and in something like 4,000 private automobiles.

THE TRIBUNE learned that inspectors for the government petroleum department took the number and registration details of each car and bus to investigate whether gasoline regulations were being evaded.

Was Plane Fuel Misused?

The authorities, it was reported, are tracing the gasoline coupons used by the car owners, while the air ministry is investigating to learn whether there was any misuse of plane fuel by officers and men who attended the classic.

A special writer for the Daily Mail, Eve Fayne, asserted thousands of persons driving to the course never reached it because they met a long convoy of army vehicles on narrow roads out of London and became entangled with them.

"Tanks, armored cars and Bren [machine gun] carriers, trucks and motorcycles stretched for miles," she wrote. "For more than an hour and a half, seven miles of road were blocked completely. The army could not move. Neither could the crowd.

Might Have Been German.

"Airplanes roared overhead. Today they were British. In other circumstances they might have been German."

The race was a thriller. Twenty colts that had started from a gate out of sight beyond the green hills came galloping down the almost straight track. Out from the crowded mass leaped Owen Tudor, aptly named for the Tudor line of kings. His margin was a length and a half at the finish. Monogoro was second and Firoze Din third. The winner was ridden by Billy Nevitt, on leave from the army.

CANADA EASES BAN ON PASSAGE OF U. S. TROOPS

Detroit, Mich., June 18 [Special].—In order to expedite the movement of United States troops and defense materials, Canada has relaxed its prohibition against the passage of armed forces of another country thru the dominion.

Lieut. Col. H. F. Wilkinson, post quartermaster at Fort Custer, today announced an agreement between this country and Canada by which troops may be sent east thru Canada, cutting six hours from the trip via Cleveland.

Col. Wilkinson said the arrangement will make way for shipment of preparedness materials over American railroads.

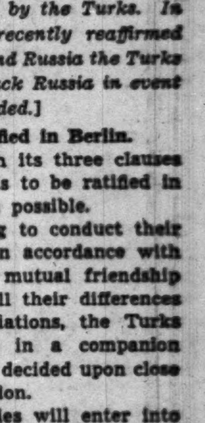
Germany's Price!

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 18.—If Russia wishes to avoid war with Germany, it must surrender most of the territories it has gained since Great Britain and Germany went to war, it was declared here tonight. Germany reportedly is demanding immediate Russia evacuation of Bessarabia [taken from Rumania], the Baltic states, and those lands wrested from Finland. There also have been reports of fresh peace negotiations between Germany and Great Britain. These discussions supposedly were started three weeks ago and were declared to be continuing.



Sukru Saracoglu [top] and Franz von Papen.

BERLIN, June 18 (AP).—Germany gained the signature of Britain's nonfighting ally, Turkey, to a 10 year friendship pact tonight, thereby assuring herself that the Turks will stay out of the reich's battle with the British.

On the other hand, should German-Russian friendship turn into enmity Germany can feel free of danger from an interfering Turkish attack on her southern flank.

Adolf Hitler's ace diplomat, Ambassador Franz von Papen, scored the new triumph, signing the pact at Ankara with Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu. It binds each party to respect the other's territorial integrity and to take no direct or indirect measures aimed at the other.

Altho the pact frees the German army of fear of trouble from Turkey in event of a push in the middle east, authorized sources said it has no bearing on the warfare in Syria.

Previous Commitments Stand.

The French are taking care of the British there to the satisfaction of Germany, authorized commentators said. The treaty also says that nothing in it impairs the obligations which either party previously has contracted.

Will Be Ratified in Berlin.

The treaty, with its three clauses and a preamble, is to be ratified in Berlin as soon as possible.

Besides agreeing to conduct their press and radio in accordance with the principles of mutual friendship and to iron out all their differences in friendly negotiations, the Turks and the Germans in a companion note to the treaty decided upon close economic coöperation.

The two countries will enter into economic negotiations "utilizing the mutual experiences gained by the two countries during war," the announcement said.

Won't Be Weighed Down.

The phrase referring to war experiences caught the eye of foreign observers, who were told by authorized commentators that "we do not want to be weighed down with ancient economic theories."

The understanding that both sides will be nice to each other in all avenues of their publicity, put an end to something which has irritated German authorities considerably in the recent past—the unfriendliness of a section of the Turkish press and radio.

It was not known here whether any negotiations are under way to conclude a similar pact between Turkey and Germany's axis partner, Italy, but the spokesman said Premier Mussolini had emphasized that he, too,

British Withdraw After Libyan Advance

(Story in adjoining column.)

Yesterday's developments in the war in Libya are indicated by captions. Tobruk is still held by the British.

English Offensive Into Libya Shattered.

BERLIN June 18 (AP).—Germany today announced a "complete victory" over the British forces on the Egyptian-Libyan border, with the four day old British attack on axis positions collapsing in fierce tank battles nearing world war intensity.

The anti-tank guns of the axis forces, the Germans said, shattered this British drive into the desert of northern Cirenaica which was believed aimed at snatching the approach to Egypt from axis hands and at relieving the beleaguered British garrison at Tobruk, 80 miles farther west.

Heavy British Losses.

The British offensive "has been frustrated with extremely heavy British losses, especially in tanks," the high command said in its daily communique, and a German-Italian counter attack has "ended with complete victory" and with the British "overwhelmed and retreating."

[The British middle east command at Cairo acknowledged that the British advance forces had withdrawn to positions on the Libyan front, but said that they "had accomplished our objects" of forcing the enemy "to disclose his strength."]

Holding All Their Positions.

The Germans declared that both sides threw powerful forces into the fighting, and the resulting battle was regarded here as the greatest yet fought in Africa.

The Germans said that an important part of British tank power had been destroyed, and the axis forces were declared to be still holding all their positions. An authorized spokesman said that maps of the British general staff taken from prisoners showed that the British aimed at recapturing large portions of Cirenaica, the eastern part of Libya.

The German air force last night carried out one of the heaviest bombing raids yet launched on the British naval base at Alexandria, Egypt, authorized sources announced. "Considerable" damage was reported.

American Made Tanks Cut Off.

ROME, June 18 (AP).—The axis powers today declared the British had suffered resounding defeat in their counter offensive into Libya and that hundreds of American made tanks were cut off and probably would be captured.

[In Washington, D. C., military circles believed the new light American tank, the M-2, was receiving its baptism of fire in Africa, since several hundred have been sent to British forces. It is of 13 tons, armed with a 37 mm. cannon and several machine guns and having steel sides of special strength.]

An official Italian comment on the battle said the British forces were divided into two groups, one fighting between Sidi Omar and Girba, and the other between Fort Capuzzo and Upper Sollum.

Two Italian columns, one from southeastern Cirenaica and the other from the Bardia sector, moved together near Sidi Suliman on the Halfaya [Hellfire] highland, and caught the British in a pincer movement. Italian tanks shunted the attacking British tanks into Italian anti-tank emplacements, where large numbers were destroyed.

$75,000 BID FOR PLANE TO CARRY REFUGEES TO AMERICA REFUSED

New York, June 18 [Special].—A wealthy German father whose refugee family is in London unable to get transportation to the United States because of government priorities on air service accommodations, has offered $50,000 to $75,000 to charter a plane for a private flight to London and return—and was turned down.

News of the offer was disclosed today by an official of one of the major air lines.

The would-be customer said his wife and four children had escaped from Germany to London, where they have been stranded a year and a half.

Papers for admission of the family to the United States were in order, the air line official said.

FRANKFURTER DEFENDS WAR IN RADCLIFFE TALK

Cambridge, Mass., June 18 (AP).—Justice Felix Frankfurter of the United States Supreme court today held that it is fallacious to believe "war never settles anything."

Hitting at "paralyzing evasions of thought," he said in an address prepared for Radcliffe college's 58th commencement: "The civil war settled slavery. This war will settle the quality of your lives and your children's lives."

"I respect the convictions of a conscientious objector to war, and I believe I understand the philosophy underlying Ghandi's nonresistance," he continued. "But the relentless choice events may force on every individual cannot be met by such a fair sounding, pernicious abstraction as 'war never settles anything.'"

Frankfurter said "another favorite drug for the mind" is the claim that a country at war already is under dictatorship. "Democracy in this country has expanded despite four wars," he said.

BRITISH BAKERS TOLD: CUT BREAD OUTPUT 25 PCT.

Food Ministry Will Bar Slicing and Wrapping.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 18.—Altho stocks of wheat in Great Britain are greater than a year ago, Lord Woolton, minister of food, today told master bakers at Leicester that he wanted the bread production of the country reduced 25 per cent.

Woolton outlined to the bakers plans to restrict the number of types of bread they should make and his intention to prohibit its slicing and wrapping.

Calcium Called "Poison."

The food minister, ignoring criticism by some doctors of the proposal to fortify flour, said that "from next week all flour supplied to a particular area in south Wales will be fortified with vitamin B-1" which the United States is helping to supply.

Dr. I. Harris, honorary physician to the Liverpool Heart hospital, yesterday described the calcium to be put in bread as a "slow acting poison."

Lord Woolton did not specify whether his vitamin B-1 treatment of flour would include calcium, as announced some time ago.

Egg Control Relaxed.

Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, parliamentary secretary for the food ministry, and son of the world war premier, informed the house of commons his department will make a concession to backyard poultry raisers to prevent wholesale slaughter of hens.

Backyard poultry keepers will be permitted to have a limit of 50 hens, instead of 12 as previously announced, without being required to sell the eggs thru government agencies.

FIRE DAMAGES STORAGE CAR.

An old box car used for storage at the rear of the Brewery Branch Sales, Inc., a beer distributing firm at 2340 South Springfield avenue, was damaged by fire yesterday. A match thrown in rubbish was blamed for the blaze.

243,947 Italian Prisoners Taken by British in Africa

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 18.—A total of 243,947 Italian prisoners is in British hands as a result of the war in Africa, Secretary for War David Margesson revealed in the house of commons today. Italian officers and other ranks now held prisoners number 177,937. In addition, 66,010 native troops fighting for Italy have been captured.

PLENTY OF FUEL OIL

Responsible Distributors in the Chicago Area Will Contract—as Usual—for Price Protection for the Coming Year to Domestic Oil Burner Owners or Purchasers

You can depend on Nature and the Oil Industry—especially in the metropolitan Chicago region. THERE IS, AND WILL BE, PLENTY OF FUEL OIL ON HAND. THERE IS, AND WILL BE, ADEQUATE TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES AVAILABLE FOR THE DELIVERY OF FUEL OIL TO YOUR TANK.

Here are the facts:

The estimated proven crude oil reserves of the United States as of January 1, 1941, were nineteen billion twenty-four million (19,024,000,000) barrels. In other words, during the year 1940 over 541,000,000 barrels increase was accumulated from approved reserves that were discovered and developed. Only 1,351,000,000 barrels were *used.

The situation in the Middle West is extremely favorable. Oil is produced in Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio—and in Illinois alone the estimated proven reserves on January 1, 1941, were 315,000,000 barrels. During the year 1940 the 24 refineries in Illinois, having a capacity of approximately 93,000,000 barrels per year, refined 73,000,000 barrels of finished products. Out of these came approximately 32,000,000 barrels of heating oil, of which Illinois consumers used approximately only 26,000,000 barrels.*

For transportation, Illinois has over 12,000 miles of pipelines, river and lake barges, tank cars, transport trucks and tank wagons.

The Only Conclusion That Can Be Drawn from These Facts Is That Chicago Is Well Fortified with Plenty of Reserve Oil, Plenty of Producing Wells, Plenty of Refining Plants and Plenty of Transportation Facilities.

BRITISH RUSH UP TROOPS TO STOP FRENCH IN SYRIA

Vichy Says Its Men Reach Palestine Border.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, June 19 (Thursday) —(AP).—The British news agency Reuters reported today from Palestine that allied troops now are attacking Damascus. A military spokesman in Jerusalem made the announcement. The attack was launched following the occupation of Mezze, air field four miles west of the city.

LONDON, June 18 (AP).—Allied reinforcements sped into southern Syria today to attack French units threatening to cut the rear line communications of the main allied forces driving on Beirut and Damascus.

The British and "Free French" were reported to have retaken Kuneitra and Ezraa, 40 miles southwest and south of Damascus, but the French held out at Merdjayoun. Damascus dispatches said artillery firing still could be heard near the Syrian capital, and a "Free French" agency dispatch said the De Gaullist forces had now reached the western suburbs.

To the west a fierce French counterattack at Jezzine was reported repulsed by the British. Along the coastal road allied troops were said to be still about 20 miles south of Beirut, Lebanese capital, after advancing 5 miles from Sidon.

The unexpectedly furious French counterattacks behind the main allied lines occurred when Syrian and Senegalese native troops captained by French officers swept down out of the Jebel Druz country and pushed lighter British units out of Kuneitra, Ezraa, and other points.

French Reach Palestine Border.

VICHY, France, June 18 (AP).—The French high command reported "important successes" in Syria tonight and French military commentators declared Britain had launched the Syrian campaign, "as everywhere else," with too small a force.

The counteroffensive in Syria which started Sunday, the French said, had driven thru the British lines so far it had reached the Palestine frontier.

French Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan picked this moment to broadcast an appeal to "Free French" forces fighting "against their brothers" in Syria to cross over to the Vichy side. He offered them a full pardon.

"Full of Faith and Courage."

Admiral Darlan pictured De Gaullist leaders as having betrayed the rank and file and said they would be punished. He had nothing but praise, however, for young De Gaullist officers "full of faith and courage" for whom he felt "more pity than bitterness."

The French communique gave this picture of the Syrian battle fronts:

Kuneitra and Merdjayoun, some 40 miles southwest of Damascus, have been retaken by the French.

French armored columns in mountainous southern Lebanon have pushed to the edge of British Palestine.

To the east, a British column which penetrated within the border city of Abou Kemal from Iraq has been held up by French detachments.

The French counterattacks were declared to have endangered British supply lines on all fronts. The road between Kuneitra and Damascus was said to be held by the French and British columns which had been attacking in the Kissoue sector for a week were described as "definitely stopped."

[A dispatch from Damascus said French naval units had bombarded British columns along the coast.]

JAPANESE INSIST ON 'THIRD POWER' RIGHTS IN EAST INDIES TRADE

TOKIO, June 18 (AP).—Japan announced today that she had demanded the right to share with "third powers"—the United States and Britain were indicated — in the economic fruits of the Netherlands East Indies.

Acknowledging that 20 months of negotiations with the Dutch to that end had been broken off at Batavia in an unsatisfactory stalemate, she said she would "hold fast to her just and fair contentions."

An official statement announced that Kenkichi Yoshizawa, chief negotiator in the Japanese effort to obtain a larger share of the Indies' rubber, tin, oil, and other raw materials thru a trade agreement, had been ordered home.

FLYERS TO FERRY BOMBERS WILL BE RECRUITED IN U.S.

New York, June 18 (AP).—W. G. Golien, western division chief pilot for Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., announced today that he and other TWA pilots would tour the country to seek and train aviators to ferry bombers across the Atlantic to Britain.

Golien said he would interview his first group of applicants tomorrow at Kansas City, Mo., and others later in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, and Minneapolis.

Qualified pilots, with a minimum of 600 hours of flying [400 for co-pilots] will receive $1,500 a month and bonuses—$2,500 after each 10 round trips and an extra $5,000 after 25. Co-pilots will receive $1,200 a month and navigators $900 with 10-trip bonuses of $2,000 and $1,200 respectively, and 25 trip extra rewards of $4,000 and $2,400.

SUBMARINES SINK EIGHT MORE AXIS SHIPS, SAY BRITISH

LONDON, June 18 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that British submarines, credited Saturday with heavy blows against axis shipping, had sunk eight additional vessels under German-Italian control, including a schooner carrying troops and munitions to an Aegean island. The other sunken craft were listed as the Italian tanker Giuseppina Gharardi, 3,319 tons; "a south bound enemy supply ship of about 4,000 tons," a supply ship of about 2,500 tons, a 500 ton auxiliary sailing vessel, and three Greek fishing boats that had been converted to axis military needs.

British Complete Civilian Evacuation from Cyprus

LONDON, June 18 (AP).—Voluntary civilian evacuation of Cyprus, British crown colony in the eastern Mediterranean, has been completed, a Reuters, British news agency, dispatch from Nicosia said today. The last evacuees to be sent to the mainland were the wives and children of British officials.

SPLIT COMMAND HAMPERS BRITISH IN MIDDLE EAST

Army, Navy and Air Force All Independent.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

Lack of unity of command and diversity in troops and war implements probably handicap the British in the middle east as much as the actual shortage of material. This is the conclusion I reached on a recent tour of Africa.

Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell usually is referred to as the supreme commander of middle east forces. In reality, he is the senior army commander and officially has nothing to do with Admiral Sir Andrew Browne-Cunningham, commander of the fleet, and Air Marshal Sir Arthur Murray Longmore of the royal air force.

The three are separate forces, each getting its orders from England. The success of the British against the Italians last winter was the result of the army commander's diplomatic and timing ability rather than any one's military capacity.

The efficiency of any army is obviously lessened as authority is decentralized. In addition to the three fighting forces in the middle east acting independently, the army has another weakness. It is composed of many widely different races, creeds, colors, and political viewpoints, thus making it next to impossible to obtain a united fighting force.

Politics Adds to Strife.

For example, political strife is so acute in South Africa between the British and Afrikanders that fights and riots are common, yet the South African army is made up of both factions. The Australians and New Zealanders have little in common and much antagonism for one another. They have no use for the British.

Indian troops, most of them from the mountains of northwest India, are religious fanatics of different faiths. One clan refused to wear the regulation steel helmet because the turban is a part of its religious creed.

Army leaders have to be particularly careful not to show any semblance of partiality and to expose no group to more danger than others. If one group has more casualties than another the people at home become aroused.

Considerable jealousy also exists among higher officers because of fundamental differences existing in peace time. Many are reluctant to serve under others in time of war.

In Cairo, Egypt, failure of one group to salute another emphasizes the lack of military courtesy.

Friction Among Censors.

From the American correspondent's viewpoint friction between British forces is most noticeable in the censorship departments. The army, navy, and air ministry each has its own censor bureau.

Frequently one censor will tell the correspondent a story is satisfactory for release and another will turn it down. When Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, visited Cairo, two censors said it was satisfactory to say he was in Cairo. Two others said it must not be mentioned.

This correspondent told a young officer of the RAF that army headquarters had approved a flight in an RAF plane. The officer said the army had nothing to do with the RAF and no plane was available.

One American correspondent on the Eritrean front offended an RAF officer by telling him that the RAF was no good and that most of its planes were obsolete junk. He added that if the RAF had good planes it could not fly them. The correspondent was asked to leave the territory and was boycotted by the RAF. This incident did not impair the correspondent's standing with the army.

Neutral observers on the scene believe the German army, if it can get past the British fleet, will have little trouble in driving the British out of the middle east.

FINNS SUMMON ARMY RESERVES IN DEFENSE MOVE

Extraordinary Maneuvers to Be Conducted.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 18.—With German troops massed along the Russian frontier and tension reported increasing between those two powers, Finland today strengthened its own hand by summoning reserve troops to the colors.

The government, in an explanation of the move, said "Finland, to reinforce her security, has in the same way as other neutral states, taken steps to strengthen her defensive preparedness by calling up reserves for extraordinary maneuvers."

Discussion in Newspapers.

The government instructed all soldiers called up to surrender their food cards. Every one in Finland carries coupon cards entitling them to their daily bread and milk ration and their small fat and meat rations.

In their editorials Finnish newspapers discussed reports published in foreign newspapers concerning the crisis in soviet-German relations. The Ussi Suomi wrote that the situation today cannot be compared with Finland's position in her war with Russia when she had to fight alone.

Today, this paper said, the Finns can look into the future with quiet confidence.

Warns Against Rumors.

"We have received a hint as to the seriousness of the present moment and all citizens must be ready for sacrifice and again maintain the highest loyalty to the nation," the paper said.

The Helsingin Sanomat warned the people against spreading rumors which cannot be confirmed. "As neighbors of soviet Russia we must be on our guard and the government is taking all necessary steps to assure our independence," it said.

Nazis Mass in Norway; Face Britain.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 18 (AP).—The Norwegian Telegraf bureau declared in a dispatch today that German military authorities were concentrating great numbers of troops and huge quantities of war equipment on the west coast of Norway.

[The west coast of Norway faces Britain across the North sea. Norwegian circles in London said yesterday they had heard persistent reports of Nazi troop concentrations on Norway's coast, a possible springboard for invasion of Scotland.]

The Telegraf bureau said "some important action" was expected soon.

"The German high command," it said, "has, according to reliable reports, set up its headquarters at Bergen. An unusual number of German pursuit planes are observed daily over Oslo and a steady stream of ships are seen along the southern coast heading for the west coast."

ITALIANS GUILTY IN SABOTAGE CASE CAUSE COURT STIR

Newark, N. J., June 18 (AP).—Ten Italian seamen were convicted tonight of sabotaging their ship in Newark harbor, causing a courtroom stir later as they exchanged Fascist salutes with Italo Verando, general counsel for the Italian owners of the vessel.

The salutes came after the jury, which had deliberated the case almost six hours, announced its verdict and Federal Judge William F. Smith left the bench.

wants an understanding with the Turks.

British See Pact Aimed at Soviet.

LONDON, June 18 (AP).—Informed British circles tonight viewed the new German-Turkish friendship pact as a move by Berlin to increase Russian fears of encirclement and said Germany accepted much less than she had hoped to gain by the treaty with Britain's nonbelligerent ally.

This latest development in the apparent crisis in Russian-German relations coincided with a dispatch direct from Moscow reporting that the entire soviet community was being kept in a state of constant, mobilized preparedness.

A "Stop-Gap" Agreement.

The general view here was that Adolf Hitler had agreed to a mere stopgap agreement with the Turks in order to impress the soviet. Later, when and if Josef Stalin is brought to terms, the idea would be to renew pressure on Ankara for further concessions.

An informed source said Turkey's "complete frankness" and her insistence of preserving her treaty obligations with Great Britain had in a large measure "softened what otherwise might have been regarded as a diplomatic blow."

It was said that while the pact contained "possible future dangers" Britain had reason to be grateful that Turkey "by remaining firm on essentials had concluded an agreement infinitely less dangerous than the Germans desire."

The Germans had previously insisted Turkey should abandon her friendship with Britain and grant Germany extensive economic and military concessions, informed sources added.

As for any German attempt to invade Britain, the Evening Standard, owned by Minister of State Beaverbrook, today said that if it is made it probably will be within the next 80 days, with September as the most likely time.

A RUMOR FLOOD: ONE HAS NAZIS ATTACKING REDS

Another Reports a Hitler Ultimatum!

A fresh flood of rumors concerning the supposedly strained relations between Germany and Russia burst forth upon the world last night. One went so far as to report that German troops already had attacked the soviet union at 15 points along the western Russian frontier.

Another one said that Germany had served an ultimatum on Moscow demanding sweeping territorial and economic privileges. Amid the mounting speculation, however, the diplomatic correspondent of the British Press association, which has official connections, advised extreme caution. The rumors have been afloat for 17 hours without a trace of confirmation, he said. The Moscow radio was silent on any German-Russian developments. It offered only music.

Two Sensational Reports.

The two most sensational reports—that of the German attack and ultimatum—were contained in messages to London from the Reuters [British] news agency correspondent in Ankara, Turkey. This correspondent quoted representatives of two American broadcasting chains as his sources of information.

The radio representative reporting the ultimatum, Reuters said, had broadcast his report as coming from the "most reliable diplomatic sources." The news agency quoted the broadcaster as saying the ultimatum "is stated to be due to expire very shortly."

Germany, according to the Reuter's version of this report, is asking the return of Bessarabia to Rumania, guarantees of delivery of large proportions of the Russian wheat yield from the Ukraine and other raw materials, and free admission of German technicians to take control of Russian transport and industry.

Rumanian Ultimatum Reported.

The other radio correspondent, in his report, also said that German occupied Rumania has demanded the return of Bessarabia in a second ultimatum.

Adding to interest in the situation was a delayed Associated Press dispatch from Ankara dated June 17. This message said a heavy force of German dive bombers and troop transport planes was reported to have been shifted to the Moldavian fields of Rumania near the Russian border. It also declared that Nazi propagandists in southeastern Europe were drumming up talk of an approaching blitzkrieg against Russia. Nazi circles, this message said, claimed that "all signs point to war with Russia."

FIRE TIES UP KIMBALL TRAFFIC.

Traffic was tied up for nearly half an hour yesterday afternoon by a fire in the tailor shop of Benjamin Moses at 4409 Kimball avenue. Occupants of the upper floors of the building were driven out by smoke. Damage to the shop and Moses' living quarters in the rear was estimated by firemen at $1,000.

REGRET DUBLIN BOMBING, NAZIS TELL IRELAND

DUBLIN, Ireland, June 19 [Thursday].—The German government today expressed its regret to the government of Ireland over the dropping of four bombs on Dublin on the morning of May 31. It declared its willingness to compensate Ireland for the 27 killed and 87 wounded.

The Irish protested on June 2. Early today the government announced the German government had replied.

According to the Irish announcement, the Germans said one German plane flew over Ireland by mistake but did not drop any bombs. Because of a high wind, however, the Germans admitted planes may have been blown over Ireland without the pilots being aware of it. In view of Ireland's insistence that the bombs were German, the Nazis stated the possibility that Germans had dropped the bombs could not be excluded, it was said.

ARMY RECRUITING IN NEW YORK LAGS BEHIND MIDWEST

Enthusiasm for Service Is Tepid in East.

Altho New York City and the eastern seaboard are the headquarters for a score of interventionist organizations, their men of fighting ages are not volunteering for military service with enthusiasm. Nor are the college youths of those areas coming forward to offer themselves as cadets for the army or navy air services.

A survey yesterday of recruiting records made in Chicago and in New York disclosed that recruiting in the eastern area is considered a more difficult job than in any other part of the country. The survey also revealed that the east, usually portrayed as strongly pro-war, is far behind the anti-war middle west in all recruiting quotas.

Cites Anti-Military Blocs.

"New York City and the whole 2d corps area always have been slow on recruiting," an experienced army official in the corps area headquarters at Governors Island said there yesterday. "The reason is that New York City has several population blocs that, by and large, have no love for military life of any kind.

"Failure of these population groups to respond makes it necessary to drive harder on the inland sections of New York state to get results."

Army recruiting today is conducted by corps areas. There are nine in the United States. The 2d corps area includes Delaware, New Jersey and all New York state except Fort H. G. Wright on Fisher Island. Chicago is in the 6th corps area which comprises Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

Since the draft went into effect the army has been campaigning for volunteers only in certain select branches. One of these is the air corps where draftees are not wanted either as pilots or as technical experts in ground crews because in one year they would barely have time to qualify for their jobs. This has limited the scope of the army recruiting drive but it enables a direct comparison to be made between the middle west and the east.

New York Far Behind Quota.

In New York last evening the recruiting service reported it had been asked in the last four months to procure 2,782 enlisted men for the air corps. It also has been ordered to find 600 flying cadet recruits each month for the last five months.

"Enlistments as of tonight," the report read, "total 1,625 men, leaving 1,157 yet to be procured. In April only 34 flying cadets were obtained; in May, 76 and thus far in June, 274. The best this corps area has ever done has been about 300 cadets a month."

In Chicago yesterday the recruiting headquarters for the 6th corps area reported that the last unfilled requisition for men came on March 12, when 3,200 were sought for the air corps. As of yesterday 2,130 of these men, or about two-thirds of the total, had been enlisted. No time limit has been set for filling the quota and officials are highly satisfied with results.

Fill Cadet Quotas Monthly.

For the last six months this area has invariably filled its monthly quota of 250 flying cadets and until this month there has been a waiting list of recruits, officials reported. They have been informed that this quota soon will be increased to 500 fledgling pilots a month and they say they will be prepared to meet the demand when it comes.

Naval recruiting headquarters here and in New York said that regulations forbid the release of similar figures. The recruiting officers however, said their enlistments of men and flying cadets closely followed the army's figures.

Greeting Prince

[Acme Photo.]

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of President, greeting Prince Bernhard, husband of Princess Juliana of Holland, at White House.

Washington, D. C., June 18 (AP).—Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and her consort, Prince Bernhard, predicted today the eventual defeat of the Nazis and described the people of their conquered country as "very full of hate" against the German invaders.

The royal couple gave a joint interview after their overnight stay at the White House as the guests of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. They started late today for Canada, where Princess Juliana and her children have lived for 10 months.

Bernhard declared that the "chances" for a successful Nazi invasion of England were nil." When asked whether he was confident of an eventual British victory, Princess Juliana interjected a quick and emphatic "Oh, yes," before the prince could reply.

10 Seconds a Day Lost by Strikes in Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., June 18 [Special].—Only ten seconds a day were lost by strikers in Canada in the last year, and only 2.5 seconds a day were lost in war industries, Labor Minister Norman McLarty said today. He declared the figures showed that labor was determined to deliver the war tools.

U. S. REACHES OUT FOR RECRUITS TO MAN NEW FLEET

Navy Launches Drive for 12,000 Every Month.

Washington, D. C., June 18 (AP).—The navy, which receives no men from the draft, began an intensive drive today for recruits to man the growing fleet and issued "stand-by" orders to all reservists not hitherto called into active service.

The reservists not yet called to active duty include 6,564 officers and 14,313 enlisted men.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox last week issued instructions that merchant marine reserve officers may now be ordered to active duty without their consent. Prior to June 11 they were ordered out on a voluntary basis.

4,000 to 7,000 Under "Par."

The new recruiting campaign is aimed at obtaining 12,000 to 15,000 men a month instead of the present 8,000.

The navy's present strength is 264,798 officers and men. The demand for trained man power has remained urgent as new warships were commissioned, crews increased, and auxiliary vessels added to the naval forces.

Capt. Abel T. Bidwell, assistant chief of the bureau of navigation, told reporters "We think we can get all the men we want" without calling on the selective service for recruits.

Two Island Bases Ready.

The navy department announced that naval air bases in the Bermuda Islands and Newfoundland will be commissioned next month. The announcement indicated that installations at those sites, leased from the British, were near completion.

The bases to be commissioned will be the first naval air bases in British islands brought formally into service.

The naval air base at Bermuda, located on Morgan and Tucker islands, will be commissioned July 1. Lieutenant Commander R. F. Hickey, a native of Red Bluff, Cal., and now an air group commander on the aircraft carrier Ranger, will be commanding officer.

The Newfoundland base at Argentia will be commissioned July 15. The commanding officer will be Commander Gail Morgan, a native of Porters Falls, W. Va., now commander of the navy's patrol wing No. 1.

BRITISH BOMBERS RAID NAZI ARMY CAMP IN FRANCE

LONDON, June 18 (AP).—British bombing and fighter planes raided German held continental territory for the eighth successive night tonight, bombing among other objectives a military camp in northern France, where a number of buildings were destroyed. Objectives at Boulogne also were attacked.

Nine German aircraft were destroyed and four British fighter planes were lost in the operations, which began in the afternoon and continued into the night.

[The German news agency DNB announced that German fighters had shot down three British planes without suffering a loss themselves.]

Big squadrons of British bombers, smashing at western Germany Tuesday night, set many fires and caused widespread destruction in the industrial cities of Cologne and Duesseldorf,

BERLIN, June 18 (AP).—Germany announced today that 21 British fighter planes were shot down Tuesday over the English channel.

U. S.-BRITISH TIE IS JUST HIS IDEA, SAYS SIR VICTOR

He Doesn't Know How the English Feel About It.

San Francisco, Cal., June 18 [Special].—Sir Victor Sassoon, wealthy British industrialist, hasn't "the vaguest idea" whether Great Britain would be willing to become a republic to join the United States, he admitted here today when asked to comment on the ideas he advanced yesterday at a luncheon at the Samuel Goldwyn movie studio in Hollywood.

Pleading that he had no idea "what I told three motion picture executives was for publication," Sir Victor explained that his remarks on a union of the two governments were just a personal reflection.

"I am only interested from the standpoint of a private citizen," he said. "I have no idea of starting a movement for union."

Describes His Conception.

Stressing the unofficial character of his remarks, Sir Victor willingly set forth his conception of a federal government embracing the two nations.

"A union would have distinct advantages to the United States as well as to England," he said. "It would also have disadvantages to both countries that might make the plan practically impossible to carry out.

"England doesn't want union, but it is up against it and it might virtually give itself to the United States in order to create a joint military and naval policy with which to oppose the centralized policies of chief totalitarian powers.

"That would be a big advantage to England.

Problems Are Discussed.

"For the United States it would solve the big problem of how to keep South America away from axis powers when the United States is not in a position to absorb her products.

"In union Great Britain could absorb South American exports. This would bring South America into the economic orbit of the United States and have enormous political repercussions.

"The problems of union are also enormous for England. To absorb South American products it would have to divert present buying power [oil, linseed, cottons] from India and the near east, upsetting the economic systems of the nonwhite portions of the British empire.

246 Leave Camp Grant After Medical Training

In Flogging Case

[Associated Press Photos.]

Max Caldwell (left), who was allegedly flogged by the two women, and Dr. Robert Murrell, fiance of Miss Rhoads, who is awaiting trial on charges of assault.

Camdenton, Mo., June 18 [Special].—Miss Aldythea Keeth, 26 year old Osage Beach, Mo., school teacher, went on trial here today for her part in the flogging of Max Caldwell, 23, an Ozark mountain guide. She is charged with felonious assault, as is Miss Hilda Rhoads, 25, another teacher, with whom she lives. Dr. Robert Murrell, 35, an Eldon, Mo., osteopath, is awaiting trial on a charge of assault with a gun as a result of the flogging.

According to Caldwell's story, Dr. Murrell went to his Lake of the Ozarks cabin and at the point of a gun forced him to go to the cabin occupied by the teachers.

There the osteopath is said to have commanded the teachers to administer the flogging because Miss Rhoads, his fiancée, had told him Caldwell raped her a year earlier.

After Caldwell filed charges against the three, Miss Rhoads filed a rape charge against him, but withdrew it.

HALF OF GERMAN ASSETS FOUND IN SUBSIDIARY FIRMS

Washington, D. C., June 18.—The department of commerce today estimated that of Germany's total dollar assets of 106 million dollars in the United States approximately 55 millions is represented in investments of German companies in United States subsidiaries or other holdings which involve control.

"Latest available statistics furnishing a breakdown of the types of direct investments Germany has made in the United States show that in 1937, the reich had $45,805,000 invested in manufacturing enterprises, $6,279,000 in sales and distributing agencies, $2,467,000 in transportation facilities, and $147,000 in finance—banks, trust companies, investment companies and insurance," the report says. "No German investments in public utilities or mining were reported, and investments in petroleum enterprises were negligible."

The department has estimated also that United States investments in Germany, now frozen in retaliation for the administration's action on axis assets here, amounted to 441 millions at the end of 1940. Similarly, Italian assets here were placed at 74 millions, while the United States had 151 millions invested in Italy, also frozen now.

U.S. SHELVES NAZI PROTEST; ERECTS NEW ALIEN CURBS

Moves to Reduce Menace of Axis Espionage.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 18.—The state department today shelved a strong German note of protest against expulsion of consular and propaganda agents from the United States, and at the same time announced new immigration restrictions designed to prevent persons from axis countries who leave relatives behind from entering the country.

Hans Thomsen.

The department's reason for withholding visas from all applicants leaving children, parents, spouse, brothers, or sisters in occupied or controled territory is that those left behind might become virtual hostages and the entrant could be forced to commit acts of espionage under threats of harm to relatives.

Delivered to Welles.

The note of protest against the expulsion order was accepted by Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, with cool diplomatic politeness. He indicated that it will be rejected flatly, but did not say how soon.

The protest was delivered by Dr. Hans Thomsen, German chargé d'affaires, who acted on instructions from Berlin. The text was not made public.

As the protest was received, an American note of protest against the sinking of the United States freighter Robin Moor in the South Atlantic on May 21 was being drafted in the state department. There was no indication when this protest will be lodged with the German foreign office.

Treaty of 1923 Cited.

It is understood that the German note assailed President Roosevelt's order of expulsion as illegal and unjustified in view of the treaty of friendship, commerce, and consular rights signed by Germany and the United States in 1923. The treaty established the rights and duties of consular officers of each government at their posts.

The note, said to be unusually strong, reportedly denied that the German consular officials were engaged in any improper activities. At his press conference yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt said the order was issued because it had been found that the officials were engaged in subversive activities. He added that the word "subversive" covers a multitude of sins.

Fund Freezing Passed Over.

Welles said the note dealt solely with the order against German agents and did not mention the President's order of Saturday, which froze all axis funds in this country.

Welles said that arrangements are being made to obtain safe conduct from Britain to permit ousted German officials to return to their homes. The officials were given until July 10 to leave the United States.

The consular officials will not come under the ban erected yesterday against the departure of any of the 330,000 German nationals in this country, pending further instruction. The ban was fixed by the treasury and justice departments in a move to prevent such nationals from taking funds out of this country in violation of the freezing order.

Would Bar Latin Activities.

Welles' disclosure that the state department is seeking safe conduct for the German officials was interpreted here as an effort to prevent assignment of the Germans to other American countries. The state department refused to discuss this phase of German-American relations.

Welles indicated that the consular officials will not be permitted to take any unusual sums of money out of the country, despite their diplomatic immunity. He said the President's order covers the consular officials as thoroly as other German nationals.

AMERICANS LEAVE SPAIN AS U. S.-NAZI TENSION INCREASES

MADRID, Spain, June 18.—Increased tension between the United States and the axis is starting an exodus of Americans from Spain. They are en route to Lisbon to take places on the only boat available.

Nazis Shun Hasty Action.

BERLIN, June 18 (AP).—Berlin in recent hours has carefully avoided any hasty act that would cause further deterioration of German-American relations.

As is the custom before final decisions are made in important matters, official quarters were silent, and the silence seemed to cover a disposition to go slowly. It was indicated Germany would insist on preserving dignity in connection with the actions in which the United States closed German consulates, froze German assets, and required Germans to get special permits before leaving the country.

The German attitude seemed to be that the next move was up to the United States.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels; so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GREEN ACHIEVES $237,987 CUT IN FUND FOR U. OF I.

Biennium Sum Pared by House Committee.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—Gov. Dwight Green placed a restraining hand on University of Illinois spending today, forcing a reduction of $237,987 in the biennial appropriation.

His followers, voting in the house appropriations committee, thus brought the bill down to $17,467,189—all that the governor and the budgetary commission have repeatedly contended the state can afford to earmark for the university for the biennium.

Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard, president of the university, whose $16,000 a year exceeds the governor's by $4,000, fought the reduction, as did James M. Cleary, president of the university trustees.

Cut Approved 25 to 17.

However, their protests that "university has been on a starvation diet for 10 years" were of no avail. Voting 25 to 17, the committee accepted the administration amendment introduced by Green's floor leader, F. W. Rennick [R., Buda], and sent the appropriation to the house floor in its reduced form.

Supporters of all possible aid to the university, led by representatives from the Champaign-Urbana district, said they will make a fight on second reading to put back the $237,987, but the governor's wishes are expected to prevail. Even if the cut is restored, little doubt exists that Green will veto it.

Altho the reduction places the appropriation at a figure $1,600,000 lower than that originally requested by the university, it is still about $336,000 higher than the appropriation for the current biennium. The increase of 336,000 raises the appropriation 2 per cent over the current one, instead of the 5 per cent asked by the trustees. The university is a tax supported institution with a 40 million dollar plant and 14,000 students.

Increasing Since 1935.

Biennium.	Appropriation.
1933-'35	$10,648,314
1935-'37	12,194,905
1937-'39	14,796,742
1939-'41	17,131,536
1941-'43	*17,467,189

*As stipulated today.

Representative Rennick and George B. McKibbin, the governor's director of finance, explained to the committee today that the budgetary commission, in estimating for the coming state revenue and state needs, had earmarked $17,467,189 for the university and declared that the only budget items higher than those for the current biennium were for the normal schools, the university, and the state school distributive fund—all for educational purposes.

Dr. Willard Makes Plea.

President Willard, opposing Rennick, declared that the university had grown from 10,000 to 14,000 students in the last five years, and has been forced to hire many immature persons—graduate students—on its teaching staff. It should be made possible to hire more mature instructors, he said, and reward other professors with increases.

"I am fighting for the University of Illinois," Dr. Willard said. "I recognize the duty of the governor and the legislature, but the university needs every dollar now in this bill. It seems to me the state can afford $237,000 more; this amendment should not prevail."

Cleary, head of the trustees, followed.

"I have heard some sarcastic remarks that the university is 'never satisfied,'" he began. "Please God, we will never be satisfied! A Chinese coolie is thankful for his handful of rice a day, but in this country every hod-carrier thinks his son can be President. It doesn't make any difference how many millions we get, if they aren't enough. The university went on relief during the depression; we have been on a starvation diet for 10 years."

On roll call, however, most of the Republicans present supported Rennick, while most of the Democrats opposed him.

SEEK AMERICANS TO HELP BRITAIN SPOT AIR RAIDERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 18.—The British embassy tonight announced the formation of a new Civilian Technical corps which seeks to recruit American technicians to operate a new airplane detector known as a radio locator in England.

Headquarters for the recruiting were opened in New York. The men enlisted will not be subject to combatant duties. They are offered pay ranging from $21.11 to $38.65 a week.

A large share of the recent success of the British in bagging German bombers is credited to the radio locator. The embassy asserted that the campaign to get operators is due to the fact there are not enough civilians available at home.

According to reports the locator is able to pick up a plane miles away and determine its location, speed, and direction of flight. The information is relayed to an airplane director which is a form of computing machine which gives the information to a gun battery.

$87,750,000 Spent on War by New Zealand in Year

WELLINGTON, N. Z., June 18.—Reviewing war expenditures for the last year, the finance minister today revealed that New Zealand spent $87,750,000, about $58.50 a person. Army expenditures amounted to $58,500,000, the air force $22,750,000, and the navy $6,500,000. The expenditures fell short of credits in the war expenses fund by about $26,000,000.

FINDS U.S. HAS 2 TANK DIVISIONS TO GERMANY'S 20

Gen. Chaffee Wants More, but Can't Get Them.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Manchester, Tenn., June 18.—The superiority of Germany's mechanized army over the mechanized force the United States army can muster at present was pointed out tonight by Maj. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, commander of the armored forces who arrived here today to observe the war games.

Gen. Chaffee explained that the Nazis are understood to have 20 well equipped divisions of tanks, scout cars, and other swift striking war machines. The United States has two armored divisions less than a year old and lacking in equipment, and two other divisions in the process of organization, Gen. Chaffee said.

No More Divisions Ordered.

"We are hoping any day to receive orders to form more armored divisions, but as yet they haven't come," Gen. Chaffee said. "Everybody close to the situation who realizes the need for such mechanized forces believes that more divisions will be ordered promptly, however."

Gen Chaffee indicated that the big problem in forming mechanized divisions was obtaining tanks and other such equipment. It was stated that the army could have nine armored divisions by the end of a year, but getting equipment would be another matter.

One Year Men No Help.

Discussing the training of soldiers for the armored divisions, Gen. Chaffee declared that one year enlistments, such as those under the draft act, were of no help to the mechanized force.

"A year doesn't give us time to train a man to perform the intricate duties required in the armored forces," Chaffee said. "We favor training men who come in under the regular three year enlistment. In that time they become a real cog in the mechanized war machine."

The most notable difference between the U. S. army's tanks and those of the Nazi forces is that ours have a greater mobility, while the Germans' possess greater fire power, according to Gen. Chaffee.

"On our light tanks we mount a 37 mm. gun, in addition to machine guns," he explained. "The German lights, while slower, have a 47 mm. gun."

Katherine Keeler, Writing Expert, Granted Divorce

Mrs. Katherine Keeler, 850 Lake Shore drive, who has made many court appearances as a handwriting expert, obtained a divorce yesterday before Judge Rudolph Desort from Leonarde Keeler, 134 North La Salle street, who is now a personnel consultant. She said they were married Aug. 16, 1930, and that Keeler deserted her April 13, 1940. Keeler formerly was a criminologist who contributed to the development of the lie detector.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By GAIL COMPTON

Salt for Wagon Wheels.

June 18, 1941.

THERE are 29 Wagon Wheels at the Du Page county farm that are receiving careful attention these days. They do not require any axle grease, but have needed some salt to keep going. They are one of the varieties of turkeys the flockmaster is growing and fattening for Thanksgiving. The poults are only a little more than a month old, but several weighed a pound and a half the other day.

The Wagon Wheels and 31 White Holland turkey poults have been taken out of the batteries where they got their start. They were getting too large for their quarters and were beginning to peck at each other.

To keep the pecking from turning into active cannibalism, the flockmaster has been feeding the birds a 3 per cent mixture of salt in their ration.

He has found a heavy salt feeding will stop the birds from pecking at each other. When all signs of cannibalism have disappeared, the salt will be withdrawn from the ration. It can be fed either in the mash or in the drinking water.

The new W-G-N Farm hour is broadcast daily except Sundays from 6 to 7 a. m. CDST. Market reports are given each day on W-G-N at 12:30 p. m. Starting Monday, June 23, these reports will be heard at 12:45 p. m.

Moved to Larger House.

The young poults have been moved to another house where there is more room to handle them. They have been placed in large wire coops. Thus the poults still are on wire, and have yet to get their feet on the ground for the first time. The bottoms of the coops are elevated about three feet above the floor. Trays holding feed and water ring the sides of the coops, enabling the birds to eat or drink whenever they wish.

Fifteen of the chickens have been butchered for broilers. The flockmaster dressed them and sent the carcasses to the cold storage locker to keep until they are wanted.

Nine of the slaughtered chickens, dressed and ready for the pan, weighed 12 pounds. This means the birds averaged around a pound and a half each when alive. This is a nice weight, as the chickens came from the hatcheries as tiny balls of fluff in April.

During the last few weeks of their lives they were fed skimmed milk to put on the finishing touches. Milk is excellent for adding required vitamins to the chickens' diet and for producing tender meat.

Cattle Get New Corn.

The heavy feeder cattle have been getting some new corn and it seems to have made a big hit with them. They are cleaning up 600 pounds a day more of it than they did of the corn they had been getting. The corn is not exactly new, however, as it is from the 1939 crop.

It has been under government seal in steel bins. It was taken in by the government under the corn loan program. Private stocks of corn are hard to find, and when the cattle ran short of feed the farm manager found the government bins the only place where he could obtain fresh supplies.

The 1940 corn, which the cattle had been getting, seems to have had too much moisture in it, as it had a slight taste and odor. The 1939 corn is dry and does not seem to be as flinty or hard to digest. This probably accounts for the steers' increased interest in their ration.

SHELBY TROOPS HOPE FOR RAIN TO END BLACKOUTS

Morale Is Good Despite Lightless Nights.

BY JACK THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Shelby, Miss., June 18.—Like the entire southeast and south, this army training camp, second in size only to Fort Bragg, N. C., is hoping for sufficient rainfall to ease the power shortage. At night Hattiesburg, the nearest community of any size, stages a power blackout. No one turns on a porch light. Householders use their reading lamps sparingly, while hotels have posted notices asking guests to turn out all lights when not in use because of the water shortage facing utility systems.

At night the streets of Hattiesburg are crowded with khaki clad men, part of Shelby's 50,000 population, which makes this camp the second largest city in the state. Less than half of the camp is filled today, the 37th division, composed of draftees and National Guardsmen from Ohio, being at maneuvers in Louisiana.

Units Billetted in Camp.

When every one is in barracks the camp, in addition to the 37th, includes the 38th division [Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia], now at Shelby; the 73d field artillery brigade, Pennsylvania and Louisiana; the 135th medical regiment, Wisconsin; 102d antitank battalion, New York; the 101st radio intelligence company, New York; the 101st signal battalion, Pennsylvania; three newly activated regular army outfits—42d engineer regiment, 392d engineer company, and 91st engineer battalion; the regular station compliment which runs the post, and the usual assortment of quartermaster and other service units. There also are induction and reception centers for draftees from Mississippi, Louisiana, and Alabama.

Unchaperoned interviews with draftees and National Guard soldiers of the 37th division from Gary, Whiting, East Chicago, South Bend, Evansville, Oceola, Fort Wayne, and other towns thruout Indiana indicated that the morale problem, admittedly one of the most serious facing the civilian-soldier army, is not as critical here as at Fort Bragg and Camp Davis.

Camp Better Organized.

There are two reasons for this. Camp Shelby, having been longer in operation as a training center, is further along with its recreation program. And the citizens of Hattiesburg have given more coöperation.

Prices have advanced in some restaurants and souvenir stores, but not at clothing stores or places selling beer and soft drinks. Cigarets, because of state taxes, are 20 cents a package, but sell two for a quarter in camp canteens.

In a building near the camp bus terminal, the town has opened a service center where soldiers may check packages or coats free, lounge, read, play ping-pong, or buy soft drinks. Plans have been drawn for a large recreation center.

Spend Week-Ends on Gulf.

Hundreds prefer to spend their extra change in resorts and official army recreation centers set up on the gulf coast, 65 miles south, at Biloxi, Gulfport, Pascagoula, Mobile, Ala., and outside New Orleans, La.

Each week-end the army uses trucks to carry 2,000 soldiers to these spots. They are housed in tents and fed at reasonable prices. There is opportunity there for swimming, boating, fishing, and dancing.

"And there are enough girls to go around," added a former automobile factory worker. "Hattiesburg's o. k., but it's dull and there isn't much to do. There are too many soldiers and too few girls. On the gulf it's different."

Laundry Is a Problem.

But the expense of keeping clean clothes, to make the trip, is an irritant. The camp laundry, so far, handles only sheets, blankets, and such issue items. Many in the 113th combat engineers regiment—entirely Indiana—wash their own clothes, or hire some of the Negro civilian camp help. They object to the prices charged by Jackson, Miss., laundries—in one case $5 a month—the slow service, and poor work.

Virtually the entire camp lives in regulation army tents, set up over a framework of wood with wood flooring and screens.

700 MEET TODAY TO SPUR CHICAGO USO FUND DRIVE

Announce Chairmen of 35 Groups.

Seven hundred business men, social leaders and representatives of women's clubs will meet this noon in the Palmer House to intensify the campaign of the United Service organization for raising $679,500 in the Chicago area. The funds are to be used for establishing recreation centers adjacent to army and navy bases.

Speakers at the meeting will include Hughston M. McBain, general chairman of the USO in the Chicago area; Col. N. B. Wood of the 6th corps area, and Lieut. G. B. Bingham of the 9th naval district. Brig. Gen. John L. Homer, commandant at Fort Sheridan, is also expected to attend.

Herbert J. Lorber, general chairman of the commerce and industry committee in the campaign, yesterday announced the appointment of 35 group chairmen and co-chairmen. They will supervise collections from business organizations and employés.

The appointees and their divisions are:

Edward W. Koehler, accountants; Jack Kirsch, chairman, and John Balaban, co-chairman, amusements; John Root, chairman, and J. Z. Burgee, co-chairman, architects and construction; Charles F. Cutter, bonds; Irving J. Solomon, chairman, and Frank J. Wetzel and Joseph Hein, co-chairmen, brewers; J. L. Bristol, chairman, and Marshall Keig, co-chairman, clubs; John L. Pieroni, coal; Benjamin H. Goodman, confectioners.

Paul Potter, dairy and poultry; Dale F. Ruedig, drugs and chemicals; Hyman N. Kohn, finance companies; Homer Lange, florists; Andrew R. Bopp, furniture and home furnishings; Otto K. Eitel, hotels; Paul Anderson, ice; Robert A. Parker, insurance; Stuart Ullman, leather; C. A. Bethge, chairman, and D. D. Richards, co-chairman, mail order houses; David Mayer, mercantile.

Joseph C. Beckman, millinery; Eugene E. Ford, chairman, and Earl D. Larsen, co-chairman, personal finance; John F. Gilchrist, public utilities; Ward Farnsworth, real estate; J. B. Wittrup, rubber; W. J. Gibbs Jr., shoes; Arthur C. Engh, steel and iron; Reuben Thorson, stocks and grains, and M. F. Stokes, transportation.

"We have made a substantial start in contributions from Chicago firms," Lorber said, "and within the next week we expect to have this phase of the campaign solicitation in full swing."

NO PRESSURE PUT ON LEGISLATORS, MAYOR ASSERTS

Mayor Kelly yesterday described the defeated Schnackenberg Chicago tax investigation bill as "purely a political proposition" and denied that any political pressure had been used on the Democratic and four Republican state representatives who on Tuesday succeeded in killing the measure in Springfield.

"We are not against investigating expenditures or pegged levies but we have to maintain our militant organization to the extent that we are not going to be kicked around just because we are orphans at Springfield," he said.

Then the mayor asked, "Why all the hubbub? We welcome investigations here. Last year we openly invited the Civic federation to investigate city government and that work is still being carried on.

"Besides that, the state tax commission has the power to do everything that was provided for in the so-called investigation bill."

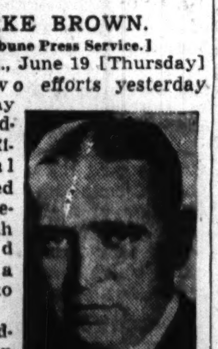
PARLEY FAILS TO END DEADLOCK IN LEGISLATURE

Expect Governor to Call Party Leaders.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Lieut. Gov. Cross.

Springfield, Ill., June 19 [Thursday]—[Special].—Two efforts yesterday and early today to end the deadlock in the Illinois general assembly failed because of the refusal of both Democrats and Republicans in a conference to yield ground.

Until after midnight Republican and Democratic leaders of both houses were closeted in the office of Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg in what appeared to those outside as a promising conference. When it dissolved, however, the only announcement was that no decision had been reached.

The legislature had been embroiled for three days in a partisan clash over the efforts of Gov. Dwight H. Green to investigate Chicago and Cook county spending.

Peg Levy Big Issue.

A bill offered by Schnackenberg to set up a permanent legislative committee to keep watch on the expenditures was defeated Tuesday in the house. The Democrats in reprisal for the tax quiz legislation launched a filibuster which threatened the whole legislative program. That filibuster threatens to continue today.

A vital issue in the battle is the 10 million 500 thousand dollar proposed peg levy for the Chicago parks, one of the taxing groups which would be subject to investigation in any quiz Gov. Green might succeed in launching.

Persistent digging by newspaper men disclosed that the Democrats at the Schnackenberg conference had insisted as a prerequisite to an agreement that the amendments to the senate rules put thru by the Republican majority Tuesday night be repealed to "restore constitutional procedure." On this point the Republicans refused to yield. And the Democrats balked flatly at any compromise on the authorization of an increase of $250,000 in the parks peg levy which was passed by both houses and then rescinded in the senate.

Expect Parley Today.

All of the conferees were tight lipped about what occurred. It is reported all of them—Republicans and Democrats—will meet again today and that a committee of both parties may present the case to Gov. Green.

The Democrats, however, say that the filibuster will be resumed in both chambers when they meet at 11 a. m. Chicago time. Some of the Republican conferees were reported to have gone to the executive mansion tonight, and their talk there with Gov. Green may settle the question of further peace proceedings.

Hopes of the peacefully inclined were raised by the fact that Senator Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago], spokesman for Mayor Kelly, had consented to take part in the Schnackenberg conference, altho earlier he had refused to take part in a similar meeting called by Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross.

No Further Caucus Seen.

After adjournment Ward said he had no plans for a caucus of Democratic senators tomorrow since one was held today. Minority Leader William Vicars of the house of representatives summoned his followers to gather at 9:15 a. m. to determine on their course of action.

Senators in the council room included President Pro Tempore Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, Arthur J. Bidwill of River Forest, and Charles H. Thompson of Harrisburg, Republicans, and Ward, Richard J. Daley of Chicago, and John J. Parish of Centralia, Democrats.

The house delegation consisted of Majority Leader Fred W. Rennick of Buda, R. J. Branson of Centralia and David I. Swanson of Chicago, Republicans, and Minority Leader William Vicars of Pontiac, Tom M. Garman of Champaign, and Joseph L. Rategan of Chicago, Democrats.

Speaker Schnackenberg and Lieut. Gov. Cross were present ex officio and took part in the discussion.

The first attempt at peace making came from Lieut. Gov. Cross, who has been the target of Democratic attacks for three days. He issued what he said was a personal invitation to Republican and Democratic leaders of both houses to meet in his office. This move was made during the four hour recess taken by both chambers when it was found that the filibuster had spread to both and there was no possibility of real legislative progress in either.

That effort was blocked by the refusal of Ward and two other Democratic senators to go into the conference.

Offended by Method.

Ward took offense because Cross sent his invitation, in the form of a memorandum, by a page. Ward also insisted that the lieutenant governor had no right to select the four Democrats who were to sit in on the talk.

Senator Nicholas L. Hubbard of Mount Pulaski was the only upper house Democrat to enter Cross' office during the meeting. He said the reason he went was because he considered the message from the lieutenant governor a personal invitation.

But with Ward and two of his chief aids, Thomas E. Keane and Daley, absent, the other conferees found it impossible to take even the first step in negotiations. The conference dissolved in time for the two houses to reconvene at 5 o'clock and resume their battles.

Next came a statement from Cross expressing his entire willingness to take part in a second effort toward a settlement of the disagreement.

"Assurances were given," said the lieutenant governor in describing his peace efforts, "that fair treatment would be extended to Democratic members on an equal basis with Republican members on all measures pending in the legislature.

"The spectacle presented in the last several days in the senate must have given a bad impression to the public concerning the qualities of the Illinois general assembly.

"I join with other Republican leaders in offering to sit in on a conference at any time with minority members in an effort to settle this deplorable impasse."

Distribution of copies of this statement apparently led to Speaker Schnackenberg's action in the evening. It was understood that Gov. Green talked with Cross and Schnackenberg and encouraged the second effort even more than he did the first in the belief that Schnackenberg's overtures would be received in a more friendly way than Cross' advances.

An increase in Gov. Green's desire to see the deadlock broken was believed noticeable in his morning talk with newspaper men. He said without qualification that while he believed the Chicago parks should not ask this year for $250,000 granted by the Democratic state administration in 1939, he had no objection to the elevation of the district's peg levy for 1942 and 1943 to 10 million 500 thousand dollars.

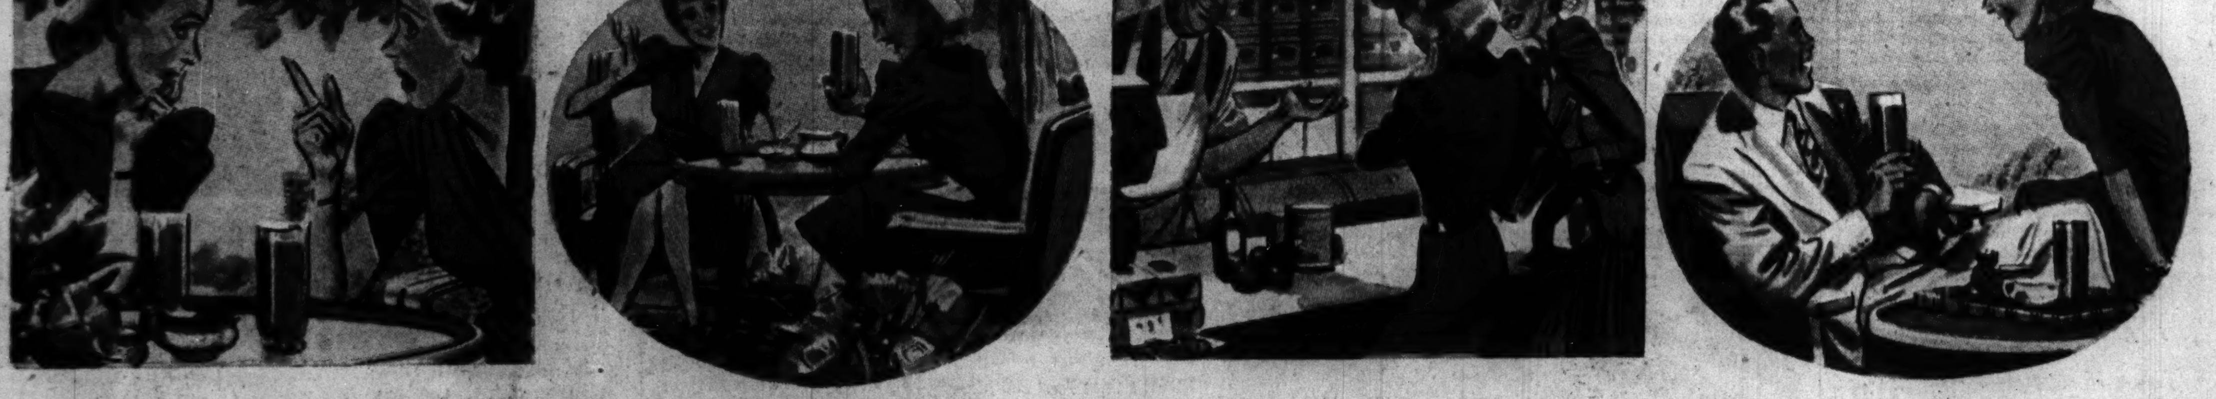
Why the New Maxwell House Gives You a Better Glass of Iced Coffee . . .

JANE LEARNS THOSE EXTRA-FLAVOR COFFEES IN MAXWELL HOUSE SURE MAKE A DIFFERENCE



JANE: Your iced coffee is delicious, Alice! How do you do it? I can't seem to make mine right. Tom—my husband—always says it's too weak.

ALICE: Jane, that's probably because you're using a coffee that isn't rich enough. You ought to try the new Maxwell House. It has a far richer flavor, you know—and that's what men like. We enjoy that extra flavor in our hot coffee all the year 'round, and here's something you ought to know . . .

ALICE: That Maxwell House flavor makes iced coffee taste extra good!

JANE: Maybe Maxwell House would make a difference in my iced coffee!

ALICE: Well—the grocer told me Maxwell House is now far richer in choice extra-flavor coffees from those high countries in Central and South America. They give a delicious flavor, he says, unlike any other in the world . . .

GROCER: Yes, Ma'am, those extra-flavor coffees in Maxwell House have always been limited in availability. But today, the Maxwell House buyers are able to get the great quantities they need—and folks certainly appreciate that flavor!

JANE: Hmmm—I think I'll take a two-pound tin. I see I save money that way.

ALICE: You're wise, Jane! You'll be using more coffee now, serving it hot and iced.

TOM: Iced coffee . . . and what iced coffee! Gosh, Jane, this is great! Really tastes like something . . . rich, I mean, not like that thin stuff you used to make.

JANE: That's praise indeed, sir! But really, Tom, the credit isn't all mine . . . just as it wasn't all my fault the coffee was flat before. I've changed to the new Maxwell House now . . . and you said it, Tom—it's far richer!

PUT WAR ENTRY UP TO U. S., URGES AMERICA FIRST

Drop Disguises, Leaders Ask Administration.

Three leaders of the America First committee called on the Roosevelt administration last night to strip away what they described as the window dressing which has disguised the road to battle as a path to peace and to put the plain question "Do You Want War?" to the American people.

These leaders, Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman, and Gen. Thomas S. Hammond and Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Illinois chapter, reiterated their demands that the United States build an impregnable defense but at the same time avoid the age old quarrels of Europe.

They held that the American people, altho confused by "administration shadow boxing with frozen foreign assets, ejected consuls, and other camouflage side issues," would vote an overwhelming "No" against sending American boys to die on foreign battle fields in defense of England.

Stand Unchanged, Says Wood.

"I wish it were possible to settle this matter thru a simple referendum on the question of peace or war," said Gen. Wood. "Leaders of our committee feel that the people are confused concerning the main issue by the current side issues. But they see no evidence of the people weakening in their desire to stay out of the European war."

Gen. Hammond concurred in Gen. Wood's statement and said that since the last war, when the nation saw boys unprepared for war pitted against those who had been prepared, he had worked to awaken the country to its military needs.

"A country that wants peace must watch its neutrality and be prepared to fight on land, sea, and in the air," he said. "The people should realize that talk of winning a war in the air is just talk. They should know that if a military victory is to be won eventually some one must go and dig the enemy out with a bayonet."

Efficient Defense Urged.

Mrs. Fairbank said she believed a general referendum on the question of war would show more than 90 per cent of the American people against involvement in the European conflict.

She said America First speakers would continue to demand that the country build efficient defenses and "stay home and concern ourselves, behind this protection, in building the greatest country in the world for our citizens."

"At this time, when dictators are ruling so much of the world," she said, "the necessary curtailment of democratic processes which war brings might well mean destruction of our republican form of government. We ask that all citizens support the principles on which the government rests and keep alive the judicial, legislative, and executive branches."

LOMBARD HOLDS AMERICA FIRST RALLY TONIGHT

An America First rally will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the Lombard village hall. Several hundred residents are expected. The speaker will be John W. Maselter, a student of propaganda analysis, whose topic will be "This Is Not Our War."

Harry Fleege, Lombard village president, will preside, and Jerome Alderman, former president, will introduce the speakers. Also joining in the program will be the Rev. Russell Lambert of the Methodist church and the Rev. William Frazier of the Congregational church. Lombard has no America First chapter and the meeting is sponsored by the Chicago chapter and the Lombard Peace council.

Dr. John A. O'Brien, a professor in the graduate school of Notre Dame university, will speak on "Peace or War" tomorrow at a luncheon meeting in the Hotel Sherman of the Executives' Club of Chicago. Dr. O'Brien is director of the Newman Foundation at the University of Illinois and the author of several books, the latest being "The Faith of Millions."

Former Sheriff Wins Suit Involving 1934 Summons

A jury returned a directed verdict yesterday in favor of former Sheriff William D. Meyering, now head of the county probation office, in the damage suit of Peter S. Sarelas, a lawyer. The United States Casualty company, which bonded Meyering and was a codefendant, was also acquitted at Judge Donald S. McKinlay's instruction. Sarelas charged that Meyering in 1934 failed to serve a brokerage firm with a summons in a $1,600 judgment suit and that he failed to collect the judgment when the firm went out of business shortly afterward.

F. D. R. STRIVING TO AROUSE WAR SPIRIT, SAYS NYE

Kokomo, Ind., June 18 [Special].—The Roosevelt administration is resorting to provocation in a desperate effort to work the American people into a war spirit, Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], told an America First rally here tonight.

Speaking in the Kokomo High school gymnasium, Nye declared the closing of German consulates in the United States was "another step in the clearly-marked road into this conflict."

The Roosevelt administration tried to build an "incident" around the sinking of the American freighter Robin Moor, Nye asserted, but its efforts to stir the American people into belligerency "didn't catch fire."

FLYNN ASKS: DO WE DARE GO TO WAR UNARMED?

Describes Nation's Great Shortage of Weapons.

New York, June 18 [Special].—John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter of the America First committee, tonight bluntly asked the American people if they are willing to let the war mongers drag them blindly into a two-ocean war for which the nation is woefully unprepared.

In a radio address here, Flynn traced the stupendous nature of such an undertaking and the dangers to American institutions that would be involved.

"I ask you, as good Americans," he challenged, "are you willing to repeat the tragic blunder of Britain and France, to plunge this nation into war now—for that is what they are clamoring for—to send your boys to North African deserts, to Europe, to Asia to fight, so shockingly and pitifully lacking in equipment?"

Foresees Need for 4 Million.

Asserting that war would not mean merely protecting England but undoubtedly would mean undertaking an invasion of Europe, Flynn estimated that this would require an expeditionary force of at least 4 million men, plus at least 75,000 planes.

"We have an army of 1,400,000 men," he continued, "so I will tell you what such an army needs in equipment. Of course, you must remember that 1,400,000 men are not enough to fight this war. We must have at least three times as many.

"An army of 1,400,000 men should have at least 36,000 machine guns. We have only 5,000. They should have 3,000 anti-tank guns. They have only 125. They should have 12,000 mortars. They have only 600.

"In big guns they have almost nothing, save coast defense guns. They should have 4,500 105 mm. howitzers. They have 12. They should have 3,000 155 mm. howitzers. They have none. They should have 300 340 mm. howitzers. They have none. They should have 1,500 155 mm. guns. They have one.

Gives Figures on Tanks.

"They should have 3,000 light tanks. They have 250. They should have 2,150 medium tanks. They have two. They should have 100 of the giant tanks. They have none. They have only a handful of anti-aircraft guns, most of them not much good.

"As for planes we ought to have 75,000. We have probably 8,000. They are not bombers, but mostly planes to train men to fly, not fight. We have only a very small number of combat planes.

"We need a two-ocean navy for this war—692 ships [according to navy plans]. We have 344. We have started to build the remaining 348, but only 28 are actually building."

How to Become an Interesting Talker

by DALE CARNEGIE

Once at a dinner party, I sat next to a distinguished botanist. In the course of that dinner, he told me many fascinating things about plant life, from tulips to potatoes. Since I knew nothing about botany, my comments had to be brief and infrequent—yet later my botanist friend reported to our host that he had found me "a most interesting conversationalist."

Yet I had said practically nothing! But I had expressed genuine interest in what he said; and that naturally pleased him. So, he considered me a good talker when all I had really been was an attentive listener.

In social or in business life, sincere, interested listeners are rare. Said Charles W. Eliot, the famous president of Harvard University: "There is no mystery about successful business intercourse . . . Exclusive attention to the person who is speaking to you is very important."

Practice being a good listener. Lean towards your companion physically, and lean mentally on his every word. Impress upon him, by smiling or nodding at appropriate intervals, that you are following him with interest.

And remember, there is no other topic under heaven that interests a man so much as himself. In talking to somebody, lead him on to speak about his business, his golf score or his hobbies. Or with a woman, encourage her to talk about her children and her home.

People will find you interesting, if you are interested in them.* Encourage the other fellow to talk about himself, express genuine interest in what he has to say, and you may find to your great surprise that you are considered a good conversationalist.

BLAST PROPERTY SEIZURE BILL AT SENATE HEARING

Members of Both Parties Join in Attack.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 18.—The Roosevelt administration's dictatorial property seizure bill was denounced by both Democrats and Republicans today when the senate military affairs committee began hearings on the measure.

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson appeared in support of the bill, which authorizes the President to size property of any kind or character, real or personal, tangible or intangible, and make any disposition of it. Administration leaders in congress agree that the dictatorship measure must be drastically modified before it can be passed.

Downey Charges Incompetence.

Senator Sheridan Downey [D., Cal.] said the bill would set up a "military dictatorship." The army and navy want it, he said, because the administrators of the preparedness program are too lazy or too incompetent to utilize in any other way the vast unused capacity of the nation's industrial system.

Instead of forcing prime contractors to spread their armament business out in the form of subcontracts, which would make use of the idle machine tools in small establishments, Downey contended, the army and navy want to take the machine tools away from the little manufacturers and turn them over to the big contractors. Such a program, he said, would force skilled workmen to follow the machine tools and would produce disastrous industrial and social dislocations.

Tells Admission of Aims.

Downey told the other committee members that officials of the war and navy departments frankly admit, at least privately, that such a program is contemplated.

Others who objected to the sweeping terms of the property seizure bill included Senators Edwin C. Johnson [D., Col.], Harley M. Kilgore [D., W. Va.], and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.].

Undersecretary Patterson admitted in response to questions by Senator Downey that President Roosevelt had no direct authority to seize the North American Aviation corporation plant at Inglewood, Cal., for the purpose of breaking a strike. The senate has passed legislation authorizing the government to seize and operate plants for the purpose of breaking strikes, but the house has not approved it.

Defends Delegation of Power.

Patterson said the dictatorship bill was drafted by "officers of the planning branch" of his office and that such a measure had been a part of the war department's industrial mobilization plan for years. He defended the unfettered delegation of authority to seize property of any character for any purpose on the ground that specific necessities cannot be foreseen.

Patterson defended the proposed grant of power to take over property "permanently."

Marries Whitney

ELEANOR SEARLE.

Plymouth, O., June 18 (AP).—In the village church where she started her musical career Eleanor Searle, 32 years old, a New York concert singer, today married Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, 42, New York sportsman and aviation executive.

The simple ceremony in this village of 1,200 took place in the First Lutheran church, founded by the bride's great-grandfather, Felix Fenner, in 1840. The Rev. Richard C. Wolf officiated at the ceremony attended only by the immediate families.

Miss Searle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James George Searle Sr. of Plymouth, met Whitney two years ago at a Washington reception. It was her first marriage, his third. Whitney is chairman of Pan American Airways.

SUSTAINED HEAT WAVE EXPECTED TO START TODAY

The first sustained heat wave of the season is scheduled for Chicago, starting today, according to R. E. Gumpf, government weather forecaster.

The temperatures probably will be in the lower 90s today and probably a little higher tomorrow. In any event, Gumpf said, the outlook between today and Sunday is for readings between 90 and 100 degrees.

Gumpf said the heat is coming from a curious weather condition in which hot winds are to blow on Chicago not only from the west, but also from the southeast. No rain is foreseen. The hottest day thus far this year was May 28, when the mercury rose to 91.

Beloit Flyer and Girl Killed in Plane Crash

Beloit, Wis., June 18 [Special].—Glen C. Edwards, 26 years old, of Beloit, and Miss Edythe Nolte, 20, of Hazel Green, Wis., were killed today when a training plane piloted by Edwards struck high tension wires and plunged into Rock river north of here. Edwards held a private pilot's license. Miss Nolte was a beautician employed in Milwaukee.

WOMEN NEEDED TO HELP REARM U.S., SAYS HEALD

Women have been found satisfactory in practically all jobs ordinarily filled by men and can be relied upon in any national emergency, Henry Townley Heald, president of the Illinois Institute of Technology, said at a meeting yesterday of the women's executive committee in the Merchandise Mart. Heald, who is regional adviser for the engineering defense training program, said national rearmament is a race of men and machines against time and requires the coöperation of every community, institution, and citizen.

Discussing the place of women in the program, he told the 85 executives at the luncheon that the years of unemployment had resulted in shortages of skilled workers, now that demand had suddenly increased.

There are 11 million employed women in the United States, he said, and perhaps 1½ million seeking work. There are also more than 28 million homemakers, many of whom might return to work, he said. Heald said that with proper training there were few jobs, even in engineering, women couldn't do. So far the demand for women in this work has not been great, he said, but women must be trained when the demand arises.

Racine Ave. Building Has Fourth Fire in 20 Days

The fourth fire in 20 days last night attacked a three story brick building at 1413 South Racine avenue, occupied by William J. McIlvain, dealer in boxes, paper bags, and twine. A crowd of 5,000 watched firemen fight the blaze. Damage was negligible. Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy chief fire marshal, said the fire would be investigated.

Two Former Teachers in Chicago School Killed

Fort Pierce, Fla., June 18 (AP).—Two Catholic sisters were killed and a third sister and a driver were injured today when an automobile skidded into a ditch south of here. Sisters Mary Jordan Carroll and Kenneth Loesler of the institution Divi Tomae, Palm Beach and Cincinnati scientific organization, died, and Sister Basila suffered spinal injuries. The bodies will be sent to the Catholic convent at Sinsinawa, Wis., for burial. They were former teachers at the Rosarian academy, Chicago.

SON'S ADOPTION DENIED DESPITE MOTHER'S PLEA

Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court yesterday refused to grant Attorney Moses H. Kamerman and Mrs. Kamerman of Wilmette permission to adopt Donald Pressburger, 2½ years old. He ruled that the child, who was born out of wedlock, must remain a ward of the Jewish Charities of Chicago.

The ruling was made despite pleas of the boy's mother, Edith Pressburger, 27, that the Kamermans be permitted to adopt him. The charities, which formerly paid the Kamermans to care for the boy, opposed the adoption on the ground the Kamerman home is culturally and educationally too good for the child.

The hearing, which lasted two hours, was a hectic one. Judge Bicek ordered Mrs. Kamerman from the courtroom after she shouted that attorneys for the charities were lying.

Healthza Poppin IN A *QUARTER-MILLION SCALPS (THANKS TO THOMAS)

*Excluding BILLY HOUSE and including EDDIE GARR Now Starring in "Hellzapoppin" at the Erlanger Theatre

BEFORE Billy House lost so much of his hair, friends advised him to see Thomas. But he didn't get around to seeing Thomas until a few days ago, and then the Thomas expert frankly told him that Thomas treatment could not benefit his present scalp condition. Thomas accepts for treatment only persons for whom satisfactory results seem possible.

AFTER Eddie Garr first noticed abnormal hairfall in his comb and brush, he consulted a Thomas expert. Today his scalp condition is considered "perfect" — no more abnormal hairfall, no dandruff, and no scalp itch. He will undoubtedly keep his good head of hair permanently. Prompt attention helps any man to retain his good head of hair.

You, too, should take immediate steps to save your hair if you are to avoid baldness. Don't wait until local scalp conditions have robbed you of a good head of hair. Consult a Thomas expert today. Let him show you how Thomas treatment relieves scalp itch, dandruff, and checks abnormal hairfalls for others, and how Thomas can help you, too, to promote normal hair growth and save your hair. Come in today for free advice.

You know when you just ask for a bottle or a glass of beer you may be doing yourself an injustice, assuming, of course, that you want the most enjoyable drink. So many people do this.

Chicago's Own Monarch Beer has a wide preference in Metropolitan Chicago, although you may have never tasted it. And you may go on and on drinking whatever beer is served without realizing the greater satisfaction you will enjoy in a glass of Monarch.

Will you accept our suggestion . . . the next time you have guests, order Monarch Beer . . . it comes in 12 ounce, quart and ½ gallon bottles . . . whichever way you prefer. You'll find Monarch of truly fine flavor—After that we think you will insist upon Monarch.

Save Our Republic

MORE STEPS TOWARD WAR.

Mr. Roosevelt's progress toward war is again at quick step. His proxy voices are on the air. The executive orders come daily from the White House. It is no secret that Mr. Roosevelt wants a war and that he seeks to provoke one. Sympathetic commentators reveal that he is seeking the sufficient incident which will give him what he wants.

So extraordinary is the war psychology that it is understandable that the war party can furtively regret that there was no loss of life in the sinking of the Robin Moor. Some dead might have hastened the coming of the greater blood letting and the larger sacrifices. It may be remarked that the persons who entertain these regrets are not only shameless but prudent. They do not offer themselves to open the gateway to the battlefield.

Mr. Roosevelt now endeavors to drive Hitler into one of his rages, apparently hoping to break thru the Nazi determination not to go to war with the United States. This country is opposed to war. Mr. Roosevelt must avoid a showdown with congress. He is apparently seeking the final provocation which will present the people and their representatives with an accomplished fact.

REPUBLIC AND EMPIRE CANNOT UNITE.

When France was about to capitulate Winston Churchill, flying to Tours, made the French government an astonishing proposal. If France would remain in the war and not seek an armistice, the British government would make a complete political union. The British would become French citizens and the French would be admitted into the British family. The two nations would merge. The details of that union were not worked out. There wasn't time. The Germans were nearing Paris and France sought terms.

Now a proposal along these same lines is appearing both here and in England. Englishmen who discuss it say that whatever changes it would impose upon them would have to be accepted. They say there is nothing else to do. Would they give up their traditions, their political institutions, their caste society, and abolish their royal family? The people who answer the questions say they would do anything to conform to the requirements.

The Americans on this side who support the preposterous proposal wouldn't ask the sacrifices. They would be content with a dominion status. Some of them would accept a colonial status. The alarms of war produce some strange sentiments, but seldom does such an absurdity as a political union of the United States and the British empire emerge from excited minds. About the only thing the British and the Americans have in common is the language.

The two systems of government do not gain a common bond merely because the house of commons is composed of members elected by the people and we have representative government. Great Britain is consciously monarchical and it is the conscious heart of a great empire. An amalgamation of the empire and the republic is outside the contemplation of any one who would observe the differences in structure and methods.

The only way such a union could work would be by the submission of the republic to the forms and practices of the empire. No one can imagine Great Britain divided into states—say England, Wales, and Scotland—each sending its representatives to Washington and each maintaining its state legislature. We couldn't imagine the British voting for an American President. It is much easier to imagine our British union Americans trying to get into the house of lords and sending a small delegation to sit in the house of parliament. We can more nearly imagine a royal lieutenant governor, even more in the tradition than the present occupant, holding his receptions in the White House. That might please many of our Atlantic seaboard colonials.

It ought not to be necessary to present the absurdities of the proposal here. It may not be so absurd as viewed across the water. The governing class of Great Britain could make better terms with Hitler than with a republic which insisted on unconditional surrender. The republic could make better terms with any one than with an empire seeking to take it in.

TOO MANY BUS STOPS?

Mr. George Richardson, trustee of the Marshall Field estate, referred to Chicago's subway the other day as "a hole in the ground with nothing to pass thru it except an occasional committee of the Association of Commerce." He was emphasizing the fact that the transportation facilities of Chicago have become the pawns of a political game and tho his language was sharp it was no sharper than the facts warrant.

Under the most favorable circumstances some years must elapse before any considerable improvement can be expected, if by improvement is meant the acquisition of additional transportation facilities. Meanwhile there are some things that can be done which might help a good deal. For years it has been said that the schedules of street cars and buses could be speeded up considerably if they didn't stop at every corner or at nearly every corner. Perhaps 5 or 10 minutes of the time now spent in getting downtown might be saved if the cars stopped only at every third or fourth block in some sections. So far as the buses are concerned, the saving should be marked because they pick up speed slowly.

Maybe the customers wouldn't approve. Maybe they would. Maybe the saving of time would be negligible. We don't know and neither does any one else. The only way to find out is to make the experiment, and it doesn't have to be made on more than one or two of the routes. If the customers like the idea after a few months' trial, the system can be extended to other routes. If not, little harm will have been done.

If the running time can be reduced by 10 per cent, an increase of about 10 per cent in the quantity of service available should result without any corresponding increase in capital outlay. That prize is surely worth shooting for.

MOVE THE ICC TO CHICAGO.

Chicago is the transportation center of the nation. Over 12¾ million freight cars are loaded or unloaded in or moved thru the Chicago switching district each year. In other words, at least one car of every three loaded in the United States finds its way into the Chicago switching district.

An average of more than 3,000 passenger and freight trains enter or leave the Chicago switching district every 24 hours. Chicago is the terminal for railroads representing over 40 per cent of the entire railroad mileage in the United States. It is served by 34 railroads, of which 22 are trunk lines. Within the six counties that comprise the Chicago industrial area there are 7,850 miles of railroad track. This is more mileage than exists in any one of 39 of the 48 states, and is within 67 miles of the total railroad trackage in the entire state of New York.

Eight of the nation's major air lines use the Chicago Municipal airport as a terminal. In 1940 the records show 25,496 planes arrived at and 25,704 planes departed from that field, carrying 309,075 passengers to the city and 312,449 passengers outbound. One in every five airplane passengers in the United States in 1940 used the Chicago airport.

The motor carriers, including both bus and truck lines, form a network radiating in all directions from Chicago. Four hundred and fifty-seven motor common carriers have their headquarters here. Twenty-one thousand destinations are served by truck from Chicago.

The Chicago district is one of the largest of the lake ports, and millions of tons of freight are handled each year to and from Chicago over the Illinois waterway connecting with the great system of inland waterways thruout the Mississippi valley.

In addition to its natural geographical location in the heart of the country, one of the principal reasons for Chicago's greatness in the field of transportation is the enormous volume of manufactured goods produced here. According to the 1939 census, Cook county produced $3,386,000,000 worth of manufactured products, and ranked first among all the counties of the country in that respect. Wayne county in Michigan, where Detroit is located, and New York county in New York state each produced several hundred million dollars less of manufactured products.

The matter of obtaining office space and housing accommodations for the influx of government employés has become most acute in the nation's capital. The Bureau of the Budget has written Joseph B. Eastman, chairman of the Interstate Commerce commission, suggesting that the commission carry on its activities outside of Washington for the period of the "unlimited emergency."

Aside from the question of congestion in Washington, the location of the offices of the Interstate Commerce commission in Chicago is most sensible and logical from every standpoint. Here are the headquarters of the transportation agencies, and in this territory are located most of the shippers of the country. Chicago can be reached by an overnight ride from practically all of the eastern half of the United States and most of the western and southern. Much valuable time and millions of dollars in passenger fares alone would be saved annually by interested shippers and transportation executives if the headquarters of the federal regulatory agency were transferred to the city which is the headquarters of most of the business it is called upon to regulate.

FARMERS AND THE CLOCK.

Indiana had a state law, enacted in 1929, which forbade Indianapolis to operate on daylight saving time. That law has now been repealed. The people of the city have indicated that by a 2 to 1 majority they favor the change. Accordingly, Indianapolis is to move its clocks forward.

A great many communities downstate in Illinois have done likewise. A long list of them was published a few weeks ago.

The acceptance of daylight saving time has long been general in industrial communities but has come more slowly in towns which were more directly allied with farming. A great many people have spent a great deal of time trying to persuade farmers that daylight saving would seriously inconvenience them. Evidently the farming communities are now discovering that the alleged inconveniences were largely—if not wholly—imaginary.

NEW TIME ZONES?

[Birmingham Age-Herald.]

The Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce is promoting a plan to establish three time zones in this country in the place of the now prevailing four.

The eastern zone would include virtually all the territory east of the Mississippi river. Part of Louisiana, including New Orleans, east of the Mississippi, would be in the central zone, which would run generally from the river west to a line splitting Montana but following the western borders of Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico. The Pacific zone would include all the territory west of that line.

This is an interesting proposal. It presents some obvious advantages. The Chattanooga chamber maintains that it would unite closely integrated sections of the country and would bring the west coast one hour nearer to the east coast.

But there are, of course, many factors to be considered in making any such change. How well would this plan allot the available daylight? On the east coast, of course, darkness would be much nearer at a given hour than it would be on the east bank of the Mississippi at Memphis. We don't know just how our eastern friends would like that.

We doubt if New Orleans would be enthusiastic about being out of time with all the country east of the Mississippi. And New Orleans would not want to be on different time from that of the far larger part of the state west of the Mississippi.

Lots of problems like this come up in the changing of time zones. But there are many drawbacks, no doubt, to the present zoning.

We think that the Chattanooga proposal is at least worth discussion.

Maybe it is time to ration Secretary Ickes.—Indianapolis News.

Stable Story.

The story is going the rounds of Whirlaway's stablemate, who said to him, "Now look, why don't you give me a chance? Let me win a race for a change. They'll send me back to the milk wagon pretty soon if I don't."

A little dog in the stable spoke up. "Yes, why don't you give him a chance?" he said.

Whirlaway nudged his stablemate. "Look," he said. "A talking dog."

Symbolism of the Insignia.

(From the United States Naval institute proceedings.)

The second lieutenant (ensign in the navy) stands on the level ground looking up to his superiors at varying altitudes above and starts to climb. His first step up corresponds to the first bar of the fence, giving him his first bar, the lieutenant's bar (or master's in the navy). The second step up to the top of the fence gives him his two bars as captain (lieutenant in the navy). From the fence he climbs to the oak, the tree of might and strength. It is a long climb and symbolizes the differences that exist between the company officer and the field officer. The gold leaf on the major's (lieutenant commander in the navy) shoulder symbolizes this position. The next step is to climb the tallest tree of the forest, the straight, towering silver poplar which has no branches for many feet. At the top of this the lieutenant colonel (commander in the navy) finds his silver leaves and, looking up, sees above him the soaring eagles, the insignia of the colonel of the army (captain in the navy), and above the eagle the stars in the sky, the insignia of the highest rank in both army and navy.

Auditorium Addenda.

Max of the Second Gallery told in the Line recently of Will Rogers appearing in The Girl Rangers at the Auditorium theater in the autumn of 1907. One of the Auditorium's old scrapbooks revealed that Rogers did his rope tricks to the tune of Carnation Waltz. Incidentally, The Girl Rangers succumbed to public indifference and closed without paying off. So there was something to Rogers' statement from the stage every time he played a benefit at the Auditorium: "I wish I could get paid just once for appearing in this theater."

Looking After the Lowly.

Miss Frieda Foltz found a sparrow with a broken wing in her garden. She called the Anti-Cruelty society on Grand avenue and reported it. "Can you bring it down?" the attendant inquired. Miss Foltz said she couldn't for some hours, so the Anti-Cruelty society sent for the sparrow. The society ambulance arrived with its trailer attached. An attendant picked up the sparrow and put it in the ambulance, then drove off to the society headquarters on West Grand avenue. He left a receipt for Miss Foltz for one sparrow.

AN AUSTRALIAN LOOKS AT US

BY W. A. O'CARROLL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia [By Mail].—Under the headline, "U. S. Swings to War Because of Australia—Swayed by Toughness and Recklessness of Our Fighting Men," the Sydney Sunday Telegraph published a dispatch from Richard Hughes. Hughes, who was sent specially to survey the American scene, wrote:

"Australia is tops in the United States. I forecast that historians of World War II. will record this as one of the decisive, unrealistic, imponderable factors which dramatically transformed the United States' attitude to involvement in the war. And I repeat the realistic warning I gave last week:

"'America, under the inspired leadership of President Roosevelt, is reconciled to ultimate belligerent participation sullenly, almost resentfully.'

"There is no particularly warm, altruistic sympathy for England.

"There has been a sudden, selfish shock that the downfall of Britain would bring war perilously, even fatally, to America's coast.

"For the information of historians, that shock dates from President Roosevelt's statement on Dec. 17 that the sanctity of the Monroe Doctrine rested upon the 15 inch guns of the Britsh navy.

"But Americans are so utterly, unashamedly emotional people that they are not happy about any decision unless it has a sentimental acceleration.

"And Australia, 'brave white nation, swell guys, mysterious Southwest Pacific, where the Matson people send their ships, where there are kangaroos and sharks and a place usually spelled "Sidney,"' is suddenly impinging on their consciousness, symbol of determined, heroic defiance of Germany on behalf of Britain.

"The Anzacs make the headlines every time they fight.

"The Australians' dashing successes in Libya, their breezy scorn of conventional discipline, their tossing of pennies to dignified welcoming brass hats at Singapore, their singing of 'The Wizard of Oz' as they go into battle—all this appeals profoundly to the average American.

"The American, who tries to act tough but is essentially warm hearted, believes this is how Americans would behave.

"Australia's welcome to the American fleet had an amazing effect here.

"Americans have, in fact, discovered kinship with Australians, whom they accept as free and independent, no nonsense, individualistic, frontier people like their Texans.

"[If I can keep my Orstrylian accent mute, and if I am not mistaken for a cop, I usually am mistaken for a Texan.]

"Impressed Washington reporters tell me that I set an all-time newspaper record on Thursday when I interviewed hard pressed William Knudsen and Sidney Hillman—those ill-assorted but harmonious co-directors of the U. S. A.'s defense program—at half an hour's notice.

"Their cordiality was no tribute to my bright green eyes, but simply and immediately an acknowledgement that I am an Australian."

DISPOSSESS PINWORMS.

WORMS in the intestinal tract are an abomination. Nevertheless, they are relatively common, especially the pinworm. The eggs are so tiny that they can be carried to the mouth by soiled fingers. Thus a victim may keep himself well supplied for a long period of time.

This infestation is not confined to those who are living under conditions of bad hygiene. Surveys among families practicing scrupulous sanitation disclose these parasites in generous numbers. A recent check in a certain community showed that 55 per cent of the children from better class homes harbored these "critters."

The most frequent manifestation is itching about the rectum. The adult females leave the intestinal tract and lay their eggs on the skin around the bowel outlet. Thus it is that food handlers, who are carriers, can contaminate almost any dish served at the table. It further emphasizes the importance of the daily bath and the thoro scrubbing with soap and water of the region where eggs are likely to be found. Good toilet habits are essential.

Perhaps not the least of the many reasons why these "crawlers" should be banished from our digestive canals is because occasionally they will find their way into the appendix. Pain is a regular symptom, and the patient may give a history of recurring attacks—usually without a temperature, but with a slightly increased white cell count. Once in a while a sufficient amount of inflammation will arise to cause the formation of pus.

Apparently, when the worms enter the appendix, the structure attempts to expel them by contracting. It is then that the child complains, the doctor is called, and appendicitis may be recognized. Because of the possibility that gangrene may ensue, many physicians feel that the wisest plan is to remove the offending organ even before attempting to rid the body of the invaders.

What can be done to expel these animals? A helpful—but not curative measure is to employ a warm water or soapsuds enema just before retiring. If hexylresorcinal is added to the solution, greater success will follow. It should be pointed out, however, that the drug is expensive and that continuous treatments may prove annoying. Another useful compound is tetrachlorethylene, but some patients will react rather badly to its influence. Since the chemical is poisonous, it should not be taken except under the watchful eye of a skilled medical man.

Recently it was suggested that gentian violet [an aniline dye] may be given in capsule form. Small doses may be employed over a long period of time with the result that the "varmits" will become so disgusted that they will depart. The after-effects are not severe. Should untoward symptoms arise, however, stopping the drug for a day or two will bring complete recovery.

Now, this discussion has a specific reference to itching about the rectum. Altho there are many causes for this discomfort, the least we can do is to be sure that these worms are not responsible. Relief is imperative because children particularly may develop nervous habits while adults may be so disturbed that efficiency will be destroyed.

The old fashioned saying that "when children grit their teeth during sleep they have worms" is probably without foundation. The same diagnosis is made when the youngster cries at night or refuses to gain weight. It stands to reason, however, that those who harbor tens of thousands of these vermin within the alimentary tube are quite likely to become irritable. Furthermore, disturbances of appetite and general nutrition are observed. The plan of treatment is relatively simple, and with appropriate doses recommended by the physician there should be no difficulties.

HOUSEWIFE.

M. N. writes: Does a busy housewife get sufficient exercise during the day, or should she take a walk in addition?

REPLY.

As a rule her duties do not permit her to exercise all the muscles—not even if she does her own scrubbing and dusting. Walking is recommended, not only for the fresh air and relaxation, but for the stretching effect. There is no value, however, in adding to fatigue.

A JOE AND ADOLF PROBLEM.

Park Ridge, Ill., June 16.—Suppose Joe and Adolf do start shooting at each other. Will those great liberals, the professional "Americans," again embrace Joe? Awkward business, of course, but the great experiment must go on.

Some of these gentry have tried halfheartedly to hiss communist with the same feeling as Fascist, but none was deceived. Welcome back to the fold, Joe!

The senator, who suggested at a hearing on the lease-lend bill that we might soon be leasing or lending to the U. S. S. R., may become a prophet. War and New Deal diplomacy make strange bedfellows.

On the other hand, a few of our remaining 80 per cent will call Joe a so-and-so, inaudibly, of course. Thus two minorities, one vocal and the other much less so, will fight out the issue of Joe's return to grace during the next few weeks.

However, the great bulk of the 80 per cent want no part of either Joe or Adolf. For them there could be no more desirable outcome to this war than to see Joe beat hell out of Adolf and Adolf beat hell out of Joe. H. N. SCOTT.

THE CONDUCTORS' WAGES.

Chicago, June 16.—Several articles have been printed in your paper in reference to railroad men's pay boost. The Western Association of Railroad Executives says pay demands made by railroad men are unjustified. I am a railroad passenger conductor [in service 37 years] and wish to express my views on railroad wages. There is an adage which says "All men are created equal." We are entitled to some of the luxuries of life the same as the officials are.

Our salaries are not equal to most salaries outside of railroading. We have to pay out part of our salary for expenses away from home. Most of us have to maintain a home for our families. The layover at other end of runs away from home is around 10 to 12 hours. By the time you pay expenses away from home and keep a home for your family on this end you don't have much left of the so-called large wages we are supposed to receive. Unless you have worked over 20 years you can't work steady. You are considered as extra men and work only a few days a week.

Now will say if any class of men need a pay boost it is the men who are operating the trains. We receive no vacations and no expenses while away from home terminal. L. J. ANDRO.

THE DRAFT FOR 18 YEAR OLDS.

Lombard, Ill., June 16.—Your editorial of recent date advocating the conscription of 18 year olds will cost you our patronage and no doubt along with it thousands of parents who resent your advocacy.

There is so much to be said against conscription of 18 year olds that I will not attempt to express any views here except one.

If you are interested in something of a more constructive nature with regard to youth and defense, why not advocate military training for youths up to 21 years in the high schools and colleges. No parent will object to such action. R. E. TYERS.

POLICEMAN IN A HURRY.

Chicago, June 14.—Around June 3 I paid my dog license, inclosing with it a notice which had been delivered to my home. Shortly I received the license slip and metal dog tag. Yesterday a policeman by name of "Coughlin" appeared at our home with a police notice for failure to pay the dog license. My mother-in-law, the only one at home, could not find the license and the policeman, in response to her request to telephone me at the office to learn the whereabouts of the license, asserted "he could not wait," and accordingly left a police notice to appear at the 75th precinct station on June 20. As I am employed, my mother, who is 72 years old, will now have to appear at the station when the case is called—all because the policeman was too busy to wait a few moments until the desired information could be obtained. It seems to me that this is pretty poor handling, both on the part of the city for not sending in the slip to the police department showing that I had paid the license, and second, for the actions of the officer in not waiting until the information could be verified by a simple telephone call.

I sincerely hope that Commissioner Allman reads the TRIBUNE. MRS. C. W.

SAYS HE GOT NO FAVORS.

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—Parke Brown's dispatch in today's TRIBUNE said: "Four Chicago Republicans, for years recipients of the Chicago city hall favors, deserted the G. O. P. and voted with the Democrats, killing the tax inquiry bill."

The article mentioned my name as one of the four. This is an untruth. I have never received any patronage or favors from the present city hall machine or Mayor Kelly. My record has always been that of opposition to the Democratic party of my district. For confirmation, look up records of last election in my home precinct, the 7th precinct of the 1st ward. ARTHUR T. BROCHE.

PLEADS FOR "THE FOURTH."

Chicago, June 16.—I don't know if I'm out of order in saying so, not knowing what Mr. Roosevelt has promised his majesty, but I do think we ought to have a Fourth of July again this year. We could observe it in a quiet sort of way without too much cheerio.

I've been getting mail recently containing cards with crossed flags imprinted on them. I've noticed a lot of people wearing similar emblems on their coats, and they weren't all foreigners.

As loyal subjects, or rather citizens, why wouldn't it be a good idea to display our flags on Independence day in the same way.

If you can't get hold of a British flag just put up Old Glory alone—at half staff. PATRICK HENRY III.

AT WACKER DRIVE CROSSING.

Chicago, June 14.—Being employed in the 333 building, it is necessary for me to cross the street at Wacker drive. They have the policeman posing on the sidewalks in the middle of the block. Aren't we paying taxes to have the police protect us in crossing the street?

CHAS. T. SANBORN.

DRAFTEES' LICENSE FEES.

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—A letter in the Voice of the People asks that provision be made for refunding automobile license fees to young men who have been inducted into the selective service.

Inasmuch as there is no statutory clause enabling this office to make the refunds, we are at present powerless to act. Senator T. MacDowning of the 32d district introduced a bill of such nature on April 2, but the bill has not yet moved out of committee. The measure, therefore, is dependent on legislative action before the close of the present session.

CONSULATES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 16.—Sumner Welles has ordered all German consulates here to be closed and all nationals connected with them to return home, because of "activities wholly outside the scope of their legitimate duties . . . of an improper and unwarranted character." Now if Mr. Welles would just do the same thing with the Russian and the British consulates in this country, we might be able to run our own national affairs for our own best interests and safety, as good Americans should.

SALE OF PROPERTY.

Chicago, June 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would you please be kind enough to advise me on the following matter:

In September of 1930 my father owned a lot in Norwood Park which he sold for a $50 judgment note and [1] he gave the buyer the full title to the lot. In 1936 my father died and in his will he transferred the judgment note to my mother.

2. During all this time from 1930 until the present day the buyer has not made any payments on the note. I have contacted this man for my mother and asked him to make a payment on the note.

3. He promised last July to make a payment but never did. The buyer built a home on this lot and is now employed on WPA.

4. Is there anything I can do to get this man to make a payment on this note? F. K.

1. We need hardly say that this procedure was unusual and that its wisdom was questionable. Ordinarily the seller should retain the title until the price is paid or should take a mortgage or trust deed as security.

2. The Illinois limitation period on promissory notes is 10 years from the maturity date. Hence, if the note was due on demand it has presumably been barred.

3. In general, a new promise would take the case out of the statute of limitations.

4. The ordinary course is to place such a case in the hands of an attorney for collection. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MOVE TO WIPE OUT CIO SPONSORED SHIP LABOR BOARD

Senators Hear It Aids the Communist Cause.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 18.—Liquidation of President Roosevelt's Maritime Labor Board is recommended in a report filed today by the senate commerce committee, which acted after hearing testimony that the board has condoned communist influences in the merchant marine.

One member of the three-man board, Dr. Louis Bloch, was labeled a communist in testimony before the Dies congressional committee on un-American activities soon after his appointment by President Roosevelt in 1938. It was charged in testimony before the senate commerce committee that Dr. Bloch owed his appointment to Harry Bridges, communist west coast czar of the CIO maritime unions.

Board Created in 1938.

The merchant marine act of 1938 created a maritime labor board to serve for three years, during which time a permanent policy for the stabilization of maritime labor relations was to be evolved. The house passed an administration bill extending the life of the board by two years, but the senate committee voted to give it only one more year of life for the correlation of such data as it has assembled.

The committee voted also to divest the board of its mediation powers, excepting in cases in which its mediation efforts have been requested and have been started.

The committee report, filed by Chairman Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.], suggested that the mediation powers of the board can be performed by the new national labor mediation board.

Board Backed by CIO.

Extension of the board for two years was favored by CIO unions and opposed by AFL unions.

The committee apparently was more impresssed by the testimony of F. P. Foisie, spokesman for nine maritime employers' asociations on the Pacific coast, who said the board had done nothing to improve conditions in the trouble torn shipping industry there.

REDS' INFLUENCE CHARGED IN CITY GARBAGE STRIKE

McKeesport, Pa., June 18 (AP).—Mayor George H. Lysle charged today that the city's 179 striking service employés were "being used as a smoke screen to cover communistic activities," while the city's health officer warned of danger from accumulating garbage and trash.

Lysle said the striking garbage collectors, street cleaners, and maintenance men in this city of 57,000 were "playing into the hands of the Reds."

He expressed conviction that none of the employés of the city are identified with the communist party, but he believes they are being used as its tools.

The mayor has refused to meet members of a strikers' committee as union representatives but only as city employés.

RADIO FACES CHAOS UNDER FCC'S RULES, SAYS NBC CHIEFTAIN

Washington, D. C., June 18 (AP).—Niles Trammell, president of the National Broadcasting company, predicted today that the federal communication commission's regulations for networks would place the radio industry under the "domination" of the commission, a small group of stations, "and a few large national advertisers."

Trammell said the regulations would bring "chaos" to the radio industry and result eventually in noncompetitive, government controled broadcasting. He testified at a senate interstate commerce committee hearing on a resolution by Senator Wallace H. White [R., Me.] to prevent the FCC from enforcing its sweeping regulations for radio chains. The FCC has said the rules are aimed at "monopoly."

Trammell said the FCC order directing the NBC to dispose of one of its two networks was "brutal" and "a forced sale" that would compel the company to abandon many noncommercial programs now carried "as a public service."

U. S. BALKS PLAN TO REOPEN GANG CLEANING PLANT

Warren Canady, special master in chancery for Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, yesterday ruled against the appeal of Gaines Dry Cleaners, Inc., to reopen the Klever-Shampay cleaning plant, 4631 Cottage Grove avenue, which Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney closed on April 28 as a Murray Humphreys gang enterprise. The Federal court was asked to enjoin the city from keeping the plant closed.

Canady's decision was given to Judge Igoe in the form of a recommendation after he had heard arguments for several days. The master said he did not think the petitioners, who were Humphreys' partners in the Klever-Shampay company, had cited any reasons to justify interference by the Federal court.

The Gaines company was formed after the Klever-Shampay company was closed. Mayor Kelly and Courtney acted against the cleaning plant after the murder of Anton Gorczak, driver for a rival concern, who had taken customers from the Klever-Shampay company.

U. S. GETS PHOTOS OF U-BOAT ATTACK ON ROBIN MOOR

Washington, D. C., June 18 (AP).—Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, said today that survivors of the Robin Moor, landed at Cape Town, South Africa, had photographs corroborating statements that the American steamer was sunk by a German submarine. The photographs, Welles asserted, were delivered to the United States consul at Cape Town.

Survivor Tells of Attack.

New York, June 18 [Special].—Passengers aboard the Robin Moor at first believed warnings from the German submarine were a joke, Ben Cohen, one of the rescued passengers, said today in a broadcast from Cape Town. It was only when the submarine began shelling the vessel that they began to realize that they were in for a long pull, he added.

Mrs. Cohen kept a diary during the 12 days and six hours they were adrift before being picked up by British ships.

AIR CORPS PILOT LEAPS SAFELY IN GLIDER CRACKUP

Parachutes 4,000 Feet at Joliet Training Field.

Lieut. Fred Highley.

The officer, Lieut. Fred A. Highley of Duncan field, Tex., is one of six air corps pilots who are taking a course of soaring and gliding from the Frankfort-Lewis school at the airport. Highley and his superior officer, Maj. John K. Gerhart, refused to discuss the accident.

Towed to 6,500 Feet.

A number of civilian flyers, however, saw the mishap and their stories reconstructed the incident as follows:

Lieut. Highley in a Cinema I sailplane was towed off the Lewis field behind a Waco biplane trainer flown by Instructor William Wagner. The towing is part of the training course.

Wagner towed the glider westward and to a height of 6,500 feet when Lieut. Highley released the tow line. The plane circled away and Highley performed two loops. The glider then was dived slightly and pulled up into a steep climbing turn. At the top it apparently stalled and fell into a normal spin to the right, losing approximately 1,000 feet in these maneuvers.

Wing Breaks Away.

While in the spin the machine apparently struck rough air that flipped it on its back. It was seen to right itself into normal position, then suddenly it flipped over on its back again and one wing broke away. The remainder of the ship began falling in an inverted position in a slow turn when Lieut. Highley snapped off the cockpit cover and fought clear.

The plane crashed on the farm of Roy King, the broken wing coming to rest approximately 200 yards from the main wreckage.

AFL AND UNION PLEDGE DEMOCRATIC REGIME TO REVOLTING CLERKS

Pledges that rank and file members of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks International Protective association will be assisted in setting up a completely democratic régime were made yesterday by officials of the international and the American Federation of Labor. They took charge of the local Tuesday after a revolt by members against alleged Czaristic rule by Max Caldwell, business agent.

Harry O'Reilly [Top]. Daniel D. Carmell.

C. C. Coulter, secretary-treasurer of the international, has decreed that Caldwell, identified as a former bootlegger convicted under the name of Max Pollack, is no longer to be recognized as having any authority in the union.

"Under our constitution I have appointed a committee to run the union," Coulter said. "They will examine the books when found and give the membership a full report. Then a democratic election of officers can be held."

Harry O'Reilly, regional organizer for the AFL, heads the committee. The co-members are organizers for the international. O'Reilly announced that he had engaged Daniel D. Carmell, attorney for the Chicago Federation of Labor, to represent the committee.

WILLIS W. CRABB, EX-BANKER, WILL MANAGE A HOTEL

Pekin, Ill., June 18 (AP).—Willis W. Crabb, former Delavan, Ill., banker who went to prison in the series of tragedies that followed the fatal shooting in 1938 of his daughter-in-law, is going into the hotel business.

On July 1 he will take over the management of the Tazewell hotel here, under a lease signed by his wife, Mrs. Catherine Crabb.

In 1938 Mrs. Betty Crabb was killed in the banker's home at Delavan. Her husband, James Crabb, the banker's son, died while under indictment in connection with the shooting. The elder Crabb lost his bank and served a federal sentence for forgery and misappropriation of funds.

TEST TUBE BABY BIRTHS EXCEED 9,500 IN NATION

More than 9,500 babies have been born in the United States thru artificial insemination, it was disclosed yesterday in a report on a survey made by the National Research Foundation for Eugenic Alleviation of Sterility. The foundation sent questions to 30,000 physicians and received replies from 7,642.

It was learned 9,489 women have achieved at least one pregnancy by artificial insemination, with 1,357 having more than one. Husbands were used in about two-thirds of the inseminations, from which 3,569 boys and 2,271 girls were born. Donors were used successfully in 3,649 pregnancies, in which 2,107 boys and 1,542 girls were born.

Results of the survey were announced in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical association by Dr. Frances I. Seymour and Dr. Alfred Koerner. The survey showed that more than 97 per cent of the pregnancies resulted in the birth of normal babies and there were only about one-fifth of the usual number of miscarriages.

HIGHWAY DEATH TOLL SHOWS 12% JUMP OVER 1940

Washington, D. C., June 18 (AP).—Death is taking a 12 per cent greater toll than last year on the nation's streets and highways as a result of motor vehicle accidents. The census bureau made this estimate today after a survey of auto deaths in 159 leading cities for the first 23 weeks of the year.

There were 3,980 victims reported, including 367 in New York, 325 in Chicago, and 294 in Los Angeles. Of the 159 cities, only three reported no fatalities—Cleveland Heights, O.; Oak Park, Ill.; and Schenectady, N. Y.

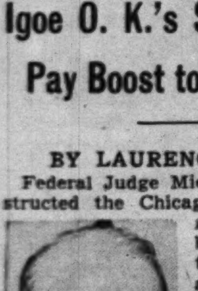
SEEK 8c FARE, COURT ORDERS SURFACE LINES

Igoe O. K.'s $2,400,000 Pay Boost to Workers.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe instructed the Chicago Surface Lines' management board yesterday to apply immediately to the Illinois Commerce commission for permission to increase the present 7 cent street car fare to 8 cents.



Judge M. L. Igoe.

The court's order followed approval by Judge Igoe of a new labor contract granting pay increases totaling $2,400,000 a year to the 13,000 employés of the surface lines.

Call 7 Cent Fare "Confiscation."

Following the submission of the labor contract to the court, Henry Tenney, attorney for the surface lines' largest bondholders' committee, told Judge Igoe that property of investors is being "confiscated" at the present rate of fare.

The bondholders' committee is headed by Albert W. Harris, banker, and represents $41,700,000 in first mortgage bonds. William Friedman, attorney for another first mortgage bondholders' group representing $31,000,000 of bonds, and Carl R. Latham, attorney for junior bondholders, concurred in Tenney's statement.

"There should be no hesitancy in asking for a higher fare," Judge Igoe agreed. "The investors are entitled to a fair return, the men to a fair wage, and the public to improved service."

Agree on Pension Clause.

Meanwhile, officials of the surface lines' union and city representatives agreed on the wording of a pension clause in the city's traction unification ordinance. The ordinance will be called for passage in the city council today.

Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the council transportation committee, said the clause leaves pension terms to negotiation between the union and the company, and requires that the $40 a month pension just granted be kept in force.

DRAFT BOARDS URGED TO DEFER MEN IN AVIATION

Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of selective service, asked local draft boards yesterday to give serious consideration to deferment of registrants engaged in production, operation and maintenance of aircraft, and to men needed for training employés in the aircraft industry. He said national headquarters had asked this to guard against any interruption in the air phase of the defense program.

Maj. Gen. C. H. Bonesteel, commanding the 6th corps area, announced that there are vacancies for immediate appointment of 500 second lieutenants in the signal corps reserves. Applicants may be civilians or commissioned or enlisted men in the army, he said, but they must have a college degree or the equivalent in electrical engineering and specialized training in radio communications. Electronic physicists also are eligible.

Applicants must be unmarried, without dependents, and between 21 and 36 years old. Applicants should be submitted to the chief signal officer, war department, Washington, D. C., and those commissioned will be ordered to active duty at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

FCC SUSPENDS 13 RADIO AMATEURS, 2 SUBURBANITES

Two youths living in Chicago suburbs were among 13 radio amateurs whose licenses to operate were suspended, beginning yesterday, for 60 days by the Federal Communications commission. The FCC said there was no evidence of subversive activities on the part of the amateurs, but that they had violated an order against communications with foreign stations.

Robert J. Hessler, 20 years old, of Western Springs, was one of those suspended. He said that poor reception of signals made him think he was talking to a station in the United States when he was actually talking to South America. He added that he knew the rule and had not intended any violation.

Theodore Tyner, 15 years old, is the other. He is the son of Justice of the Peace Walter Tyner of Glenview. His father said that Theodore, who has just taken up amateur radio, accidentally tuned in a station in Honduras and was unaware of doing anything wrong.

2 Drunken Drivers Get 5 Day Jail Sentences

Edward Langbauer, 28 years old, 6635 South Rockwell street, and Clifford Stubblefield, 5949 Princeton avenue, were sentenced yesterday by Judge John T. Zuris in Safety court to five days each in the county jail. They were convicted of drunk driving. Their driving privileges were rescinded for 90 days.

FARMER IS KILLED IN BARRINGTON AREA AUTO CRASH

Frank Stuetz, 55 years old, a farmer living near Barrington, was killed yesterday when his truck collided with an automobile at Brinker and Otis roads near his home. Doyel Gay, 18, of 417 Grove avenue, Barrington, driver of the automobile, was treated for cuts and bruises.

James N. Kane, 41, of 1942 West 95th street, died in a Bloomington hospital Tuesday night of injuries suffered in an automobile crash near Belleflower, McLean county, Sunday. Archie Kodros, 23, former University of Michigan football captain, was riding in the other car with his sister, Mary, 21, who suffered a fractured pelvis.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 415 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of this number, 305 were killed in Chicago where 10,946 were injured in the same period.

AUTO CLUB OPENS FIGHT ON DISPLAY OF REGISTRATION

The Chicago Motor club announced yesterday that it had opened a statewide campaign to defeat House Bill 687 which provides that every motorist must carry his automobile registration card in a special type of holder locked on the steering wheel post where it could be read from outside the car.

"This bill serves no useful purpose," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the club. "In fact, it is definitely harmful. To exhibit a car owner's name and address to the general public would be an invitation to thieves, confidence men and other types of criminals."

The motor club president said the only benefit of the bill would be to the manufacturer of the card holding device. He said copies of protest letters for motorists to sign may be obtained at club offices.

PHILIP M. PLANT, FORMER BIG GAME HUNTER, IS DEAD

New York, June 18 (AP).—Philip M. Plant, multimillionaire big game hunter who was often described as a Broadway playboy, died tonight in Polyclinic hospital from a heart condition.

Plant, 38, who inherited a $15,000,000 fortune from his stepfather, the late Commodore Morton F. Plant, yachtsman, was the former husband of Constance Bennett, movie actress. She divorced him in Paris.

His second wife was Edna Dunham. That marriage ended in divorce. His third wife was Marjorie King. He took her on a leopard hunting honeymoon to Africa.

Plant, who was a familiar figure in Broadway haunts for years, deserted New York about six years ago for chicken farming near New London, Conn. His birds won many prizes in poultry shows.

He was the son of Selden Manwaring and Mrs. William Hayward, but was adopted by the latter's second husband.

Howard S. Drew, Illinois administrator of the Works Projects administration since March, died of heart disease yesterday in Passavant hospital. He was 49 years old. Mr. Drew, who lived at 1019 Superior street, Oak Park, was taken ill in his office Monday. He had served as a WPA regional director and a field engineer in the work division in Washington before his assignment here. As Illinois director he succeeded Charles E. Miner, now assigned to the capital. Before entering government service Mr. Drew headed the Brazil Manufacturing company, which he sold in 1929. Surviving are his widow, Margaret, and a son, H. Roberts Drew. The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the First Methodist church in Evanston.

Frederick A. Vietor, 50, Steinway Official, Dies

New York, June 18 (AP).—Frederick A. Vietor, 50 years old, vice president and general manager of Steinway & Sons and grandson of the founder of the piano manufacturing concern, died today. He was a captain and adjutant of the 6th cavalry with the A. E. F.

DEVICE ON ROAD FLASHES LIGHT IF AUTO SPEEDS

An ingenious device to determine if automobiles are speeding was in operation for several hours yesterday on Ogden avenue at Main street in Downers Grove. It bagged about 50 motorists who were warned not to exceed again the limit of 40 miles an hour.

The device consists of two thin rubber hoses connected electrically to a meter machine and amber lighting apparatus. The hoses are placed across a traffic lane, parallel to each other and 36 feet 8 inches apart. This distance has been so calculated that if the car is speeding the impact of the wheels on the second hose, after they have struck the first, will cause an amber light to flash. The light is visible to policemen two blocks away and they stop the motorist and warn him.

The device was manufactured by Downers Grove Mechanical Specialty company. C. B. Stair, president of the company, is also mayor of Downers Grove. He said the village board will decide early next month whether to operate it permanently and whether to issue summonses for violations.

PAROLE SYSTEM FOR DELINQUENT BOYS IS CHANGED

Welfare Department Will Handle Cases.

Future parolees from the St. Charles School for Boys, the state institution on the Fox river, which has been the scene of many uprisings and from which there have been hundreds of escapes, are to be given a new status, it was announced yesterday. After July 1 they are to be regarded as delinquents and not as criminals, and jurisdiction over them is given to the state department having control of the women's prison at Dwight and the state training school for girls at Geneva.

Under the new plan the St. Charles school and its parole supervision department are to remain in the state department of public welfare, under Director Rodney Brandon. Penal institutions for men, the parole department, parole supervision department, and the state police force are to become part of the new department of public service.

Social Service Plan.

As contemplated, the department having jurisdiction over delinquent boys and girls and female convicts is to be operated on a social service plan; the other on a basis more strict and less sentimental. It is expected that T. P. Sullivan, chief of highway police and former head of the parole supervision department, will be the new public safety director.

Sullivan always had opposed coddling of criminals. He advocated strict measures and strong discipline in recent outbreaks at the St. Charles school. He quelled several riots there.

Yesterday Dr. Clifford Shaw, representing the Institute for Juvenile Research; Samuel Ryerson, superintendent of the state division for delinquency prevention, and Harvey L. Long, representing the new division for the supervision of delinquents—meaning St. Charles parolees—met to arrange for taking on the new responsibility for the care of the boys.

Long Tells His Plans.

Long, in charge of supervision of St. Charles boys under Chief Sullivan, put parole supervision on a safety basis during the last four years. He said four men from the present parole department would be transferred to the St. Charles field. Trained social workers and experts in that field have been helping in all arrangements, Long said.

"In the welfare department there will be more opportunity for coördinating the efforts of the placement and the institutional divisions," Long explained. "Inasmuch as the parole supervisors will be under the same management as the St. Charles institution, it will be possible to train boys for release. We hope thereby to develop a better postinstitutional supervision system for all delinquents."

Twins, Married Same Day, Are Mothers Same Day

Mason City, Ia., June 18 (AP).—Three and a half years ago the Misses Alvena and Anna Reding, twins of Stacyville, Ia., were married in a double wedding. Within a few hours today Alvena, now Mrs. Adrian Brown, and Anna, Mrs. Ruben Kramer, gave birth to a son and a daughter by caesarian operations.

SPECIALISTS PREVENT BALDNESS

CHICAGO, June 19—"If you are losing your hair or have an annoying scalp disorder, you can be helped," says John E. Warner, noted scalp specialist. "By correcting and eliminating the cause of your trouble we can prevent baldness and give you a normal, healthy scalp. Our services are NOT offered to those completely bald (except cases of alopecia areata) because hair once lost cannot be regrown. Don't wait until disfiguring baldness has permanently ruined your appearance. If your head itches, or your hair is excessively dry or oily and falling, take heed of these signs of approaching baldness and come in for a free hair and scalp examination today. No case is ever accepted unless we are sure you can be helped. Our scientific treatment is superior and more effective because of constant research and study; yet the fees are within the reach of all. Come in today and learn how we can help you just as thousands of others, troubled as you are, have been helped." The new John E. Warner Associates offices in Chicago are conveniently located, Suite 1320-24 in the North American Building, 36 S. State St., northwest corner of State and Monroe, Central 1451. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily—Saturdays to 6 P. M. Fees for treatment are very moderate and paid as the treatments are taken. There is a separate department for women. Other offices in Boston, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Detroit.

Charleen Reiner, age 18 months, who is back in the custody of her parents.

A fight over the custody of their 18 month old daughter, Charlene, ended in a reconciliation for Mrs. Margaret Reiner, 20 years old, and her husband, John, 20, of 7121 Clyde avenue, in Judge Harry M. Fisher's court yesterday. Mrs. Reiner had sought a writ of habeas corpus for the child, who was brought here and placed in St. Vincent's orphanage by her husband. Reiner, who is on summer vacation from Purdue university in Lafayette, Ind., where he is a student of engineering, charged that his wife had neglected the child by going out nights. Mrs. Reiner said she had merely visited girl friends. Judge Fisher prevailed on them to forget their differences.

42 Seized in Bookie Raid; 4 Are Held for Showup

Detectives under Capt. John Howe of the commissioner's office raided an alleged handbook on the first floor at 1215 Wilson avenue yesterday and arrested 42 patrons and employés. All were sent thru the bureau of identification. Four, who were found to have records, were held for the regular police showup.

CHARGE POLICE SHAKEDOWN IN RAID; SUSPEND 3

5 Arrested in Club Tell of $100 Payment.

Three policemen of Kensington station were suspended yesterday by Commissioner Allman pending trial board action on charges of shaking down three young men and two women for $100 after a raid May 18 on the Ceasers club, a chartered private organization, at 11538 Front avenue.

The three are Sergt. Raymond J. Nelligan, a member of the department for 17 years who has received three creditable mentions, and Patrolmen James E. Ryan, eight years of service, and James J. McDonald, who has been on the force five years.

The complaint was made by E. J. Daley, a police department inspector, who interviewed the five persons who had been arrested in the raid. The complaint charged the policemen confiscated a 5 cent and a 1 cent slot machine when they took the five into custody, but restored both machines when the prisoners were released on payment of the bribe. It also said the $100 was returned May 25 when the policemen became frightened because of rumors of the alleged shakedown.

Raid on Club Described.

Those arrested were Millard Hanusek, 12115 Eggleston avenue; Miss Alice Berry, 24 West 109th place; Mr. and Mrs. James F. Haley, 11730 Eggleston avenue, and Fred Weigel, 259 East 156th street, Riverdale.

Hanusek said the three policemen told the group they were boisterous and took them to the station with the slot machines. There Ryan is said to have told Weigel: "A 'C-note' would fix this up."

Hanusek said he paid $100 to Ryan and that the slot machines were given back and the five prisoners released.

A week later, Hanusek said, McDonald called him to the station, where the three policemen said: "There's too much talk going around. We figure the way to stop it is to give the money back." They gave Hanusek the $100.

Lack of Reports Cited.

Daley, the department inspector, said Nelligan was desk sergeant the night of the raid and that Ryan and McDonald were in a squad car. He said there had been no complaint that would have occasioned a visit to the club, no record of any persons taken into custody or released, and no inventory of property taken or returned.

The three policemen admitted going into the club, but said they had seen a young man stagger out and thought the place was dispensing liquor without a license. They denied taking the bribe or removing the slot machines, and said the prisoners were released at the station after it was ascertained the club was chartered, with permission to dispense liquor.

BAND LEADER W. B. SMITH DIES.

Coldwater, Mich., June 18 [Special].—Wallace B. Smith, 50 years old, director of the Bronson municipal band, died today. He was a graduate of the Morgan Park Military academy.

BOARD REJECTS PLEA FOR PAROLE FOR FRITZ KUHN

Dannemora, N. Y., June 18 (AP).—Fritz Kuhn, former German-American Bund leader now serving a 2½ to 5 year prison term for stealing money from the bund, was "unanimously" refused a parole today by the parole board sitting at Clinton prison.

The decision, announced by Dr. Joseph W. Moore, parole board chairman, termed Kuhn "a hazard to the public peace and security" and said "we do not believe his release would be compatible with the welfare of society."

"Most of his associations and acquaintances are with persons who are or have been associated in anti-democratic activity," Moore continued. "An investigation of his history has convinced the parole board that the crimes for which he was convicted were not by any means the first of his career. He is not a suitable parole risk."

Kuhn was sentenced Dec. 3, 1939. His parole was asked by his wife on the ground she is unable to support their 14 year old son.

Loan Seeker Gets $500 with the Aid of a Gun

Kankakee, Ill., June 18 [Special].—A young man entered the Provident Finance company office today and asked for a loan. When Vern Burkhart, an employé, called him into a private office to arrange details the man produced a gun forced Burkhart to hand over $500 cash and $200 in checks. He then fled.

MOTHER DENIED STAY; MUST DIE IN GAS CHAMBER

Sacramento, Cal., June 18 (AP).—Mrs. Juanita [the Duchess] Spinelli, mother of three children, was denied executive clemency by Gov. C. L. Olson today and will be put to death in San Quentin prison's gas chamber Friday—the first woman ever to be legally executed in California.

The governor granted one week reprieves to the woman's two companions, Gordon Hawkins and Mike Simeone, "in view of the fact that the lethal gas chamber can hold but two occupants at one time and it takes 24 hours for the fumes to clear out."

Mrs. Spinelli, 53 years old, formerly of Detroit; her common law husband, Simeone, 32, and Hawkins, 21, were condemned to death for drowning Robert Sherrard, 19, a member of their gang who assertedly "knew too much" about a previous San Francisco killing.

Home-Stretch Spurt Any Time You Say

PAYS YOUR GAS TAX FOR YOU

At present Federal tax rates, the savings on gasoline effected by Compound Carburetion are usually more than enough to pay Federal taxes on the gas you buy.

PLENTY of men can run a mile around a cinder track.

But those who win races—and championships—are the ones who can turn on the plus when it's needed.

Probably that's why you hear so much these days about Buick's exclusive Compound Carburetion.†

It gives you an engine that will cruise right along with the distance runners and pile up plenty of miles for your gasoline money.

No fooling—owners write in to tell us of mileage as much as 10% to 15% greater than previous Buicks gave.

But any time you want plus-performance—a home-stretch spurt—just step down on the gas treadle.

Instantly, you send an extra carburetor into action. You step up the supply of both gasoline and air—and virtually give yourself a bigger engine to get you places in a hurry.

That means thrills—and plenty of them.

It means sure-fire lift in the pinches, zooming power whenever you say.

It means, also, efficiency—proper use of every drop of fuel without useless waste.

It bears out the Big Point about this 1941 Buick—that on size, style, comfort, room and ability, it's far and away the top value of the year.

To see how true that is, just go size one up against the low delivered prices your nearest Buick dealer is asking.

†Available on Buick SPECIAL models at slight extra cost, standard on all other Series.

New Summer Blouses Sweep Into Top Favor

BY REA SEEGER.

A brand new crop of summer blouses has been unpacked and the rush is on. Sheer flattery in chiffon, smartly tucked with high round necklines, or some charmers with convertible collars to form the plunging deep, vee neckline come in candy pink, corn yellow, white, and soot black. The sleeves are short and simple so it's an easy matter to slide into suit jackets. The black blouses are tremendously popular as the sharp contrast for white and pastel colored summer suits, not only in handsome silks but in cotton shantung, as well as linen.

Cool crisp organdy, the stuff that stays crisp after repeated laundering, is used for extremely transparent blouses. These, too, come with simple tucked trim, the tucks being the pinch variety so effective with such thin crisp material. Turn over collars provide soft necklines, because these collars are not notched like the tailored models, the collar itself being part of the sidelines of the blouse. White and pastel tinted organdies are the best buys with the whites leading the popularity lists.

With your white, natural, or oyster white tailored suits, wear black or copper tone organdy blouses, the kind with chest frills to foam over the vee line of the jacket. This sharp contrast seems even cooler than the more obvious pastels or matching colored blouses.

Both the black and copper colored organdy blouses are just as cool and thin as the white affairs, and despite the additional frou frou of ruffles they are simple accents with compelling freshness, ideal for the tailored swank of street suits, in silks and similar summer fabrics.

Dotted Swiss blouses complete the summer finds, for the tiny colored dots provide a little color excitement. Dotted Swiss remains crisp and smart with the same cool comfort as organdy, and is a trifle more decorative, the better to contrast otherwise the sternly tailored suit.

Brush Away GRAY HAIR ...and Look 10 Years Younger

● Now, at home, you can quickly and easily tint telltale streaks of gray to natural-appearing shades—from lightest blonde to darkest black. Brownatone and a small brush does it—or your money back. Used for 28 years by thousands of women (men, too)—Brownatone is guaranteed harmless. No skin test needed, active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Cannot affect waving of hair. Lasting—does not wash out. Just brush or comb it in. One application imparts desired color. Simply retouch as new gray appears. Easy to prove by tinting a test lock of your hair. 60c at drug or toilet counters on a money-back guarantee. Retain your youthful charm. Ask for BROWNATONE. Get it today.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

We all have heard players who fancy their own games say plaintively to their partners: "But how could I tell that so-and-so was making such a horrible play?"

This always has struck me as a pretty silly alibi. The very essence of bridge is to be on the alert for slips by the opponents. West, in the hand shown below, was not the "alibi" type of player. He made full capital of declarer's error.

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade [!]	Pass	3 spades	Pass
3 no trump	Double	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

Obviously, South was the type of player who indulges in psychic tactics to stave off an undesirable lead, or to prevent the opponents from bidding a certain suit. His ridiculous spade bid got out of control when North, with a hand apparently worthless except at a spade contract, persisted to the four level. West had been "trapping" from the opening bid and, altho he uneasily felt that most of the spade strength was over, instead of under him, he nevertheless risked a double.

For want of a better lead, he opened the singleton diamond, not that he was especially eager for ruffs. East's jack covered the nine, and lost to declarer's ace. Declarer led his lone spade to dummy's ace, and then let the club 10 ride. West won and, fearing that declarer had the remaining spade, and that dummy's hearts might be discarded on declarer's good clubs, was forced to lay down the heart ace to prevent such a catastrophe. Then, not having a better lead, he continued with the heart jack. East won and returned a diamond, West ruffing.

Now, altho there was only a chance that East had the other trump and no hearts, West saw that he had nothing to lose by a third heart lead. Obviously, no further tricks were to be expected in clubs or diamonds. On the third heart lead declarer was helpless. To ruff with the king would establish another trump trick in West's hand; to ruff small was to concede an overruff to East's jack.

By his failure to cash both the ace and king of spades at the earliest opportunity, declarer had lost the limit number of tricks, and consequently received a poor match-point score.

Onions are rarer and more precious than rubies in Britain today. We don't realize how much we depend upon these sturdy little food seasoners and how lucky we are to find them so plentifully in our markets.

Green topped young onions are indispensable at picnics and for pepping up summer salad bowls. And many a homemaker is discovering that they are perfectly delicious cooked, and wondering why she didn't try them that way before.

Leave the tops on when you cook green onions, or at the most, just trim raggedy tips. And boil the vegetable uncovered until tender, using just enough water to keep them from scorching. Plenty of salt, pepper, and melted butter will make them awfully good eating.

Combine a few sliced green onions and tops with sliced carrots, new peas, or lima beans when you cook them. Or cook the two vegetables separately and combine them to serve. The whole cooked green onions are good combined with cooked asparagus stalks, and look very attractive with them, too.

Thin slices of raw green onion [always including tops] do a great deal for these vitamin filled salad bowls.

HEALTHY SALAD.

[Serves six.]
1 bunch cleaned, crisp watercress
6 leaves lettuce, coarsely shredded
6 green onions and tops, sliced
1 cup shredded, fresh pineapple
½ cup sliced celery
1 dozen radishes, thinly sliced
1 avocado, diced
Tart, thin French dressing
4 slices crisp bacon, crumbled

Toss ingredients together in a salad bowl lightly rubbed with garlic. Some saladmakers prefer to dress this kind of salad step by step rather than to use a prepared dressing. The first step is to shake or sprinkle oil, a good salad or olive oil, over the vegetables, using just enough to coat them. Next the salt and pepper shakers are used rather liberally. Finally, lemon juice or vinegar is sprinkled over the salad, and the mixture is tossed together lightly until the seasonings have penetrated to every leaf.

SUMMER SALAD BOWL.

[Serves six.]
½ head lettuce, shredded
1 cup shredded cabbage
1 cup shredded red cabbage
4 or 5 green onions, sliced
1 green pepper, cut in fine strips
1 cucumber, diced
Chili French dressing

Toss ingredients together lightly, and serve chilly and crisp. Sliced radishes and carrot curls may be added.

June 19, 1941.

Universal day—Be systematic and orderly today. Don't spend too much.

Vacations—Those who are in a seven year should plan to go to a quiet place in the country, or by the seashore where they will be more or less alone and can rest. This is not the year to go tearing around on tiresome auto trips or visiting relatives. Keep to yourself and seek an opportunity to commune with nature. You will feel very ragged if you allow people to crowd in on your thoughts. It may not be a happy and gay vacation, but it will do you a great deal of good if you will take a fairly lonely one and get close to yourself and find out what it is you want in life and what you are doing about it. It would be better not to plan your vacation with other people. You could travel, but for education and study rather than just pleasure.

Prof. T. F. Konop, Law Dean at Notre Dame, Relinquishes Post

South Bend, Ind., June 18 [Special].—Retirement of Prof. Thomas F. Konop as dean of the Notre Dame college of law and the appointment of Dr. Clarence E. [Pat] Manion, professor of constitutional law, to succeed him, was announced today by the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president.

Prof. Konop, who retires at his own request, will continue as professor of law and will be dean emeritus.

Dr. Manion, nationally known as an orator and author, headed the Indiana National Emergency council from 1935 to 1940. He received his bachelor of arts degree from St. Mary's college, Kentucky, in 1915, followed by degree of master of arts and master of philosophy in the next two years from Catholic university, Washington, D. C., and doctor of jurisprudence from Notre Dame in 1922.

Prof. Knopp, dean since 1923, received his bachelor of laws degree from Nebraska in 1904. I CAN DO THE DISHES EASIER, BECAUSE CLIMALENE DISSOLVES GREASE

The bane of dishwashing is grease, clinging to dishes and pans. Try this proved work-saving recipe:

1. Sprinkle 1 teaspoonful of Climalene in the dishpan. It cuts grease.
2. Add only ½ usual amount of soap—bar, flake, or powder—then wash.

China, glassware, and silver shine crystal-clear. Greasy pots and pans are done in a jiffy, without hard work. And that soap package lasts lots longer.

Priceless Jewels Go on Display at Field Museum Tomorrow

Scores of diamonds, rubies, emeralds, and sapphires. Hundreds of semiprecious gems—beryl, aquamarine, opal, amethyst, topaz, onyx. Jewelry of lapis lazuli and gold from Kish, the ancient Baylonian city. Massive silver ornaments from the Kabyles hill tribes of Algeria. Carved ornamental figures of alabaster, selenite, and agate.

All these priceless treasures and thousands more may be seen at the Field Museum of Natural History tomorrow as the institution opens to the public its renovated H. N. Higinbotham Hall of Gems and Jewels.

The dazzling display, one of the world's most complete and valuable collections of gems and jewelry, has been artistically arranged in "jewel box" cases of English harewood and polished bronze. Concealed fluorescent light tubes throw concentrated light on the exhibits.

Many new gems have been added to the collection since the hall was closed last September. The entire room has been rebuilt in a manner which brings out the gems' full beauty of color, luster, and brilliance.

The display includes one of the two engraved diamonds in the world—a 10 carat pear shaped stone on which is engraved in intaglio a bust of King William II. of Holland.

So delicate that it is necessary to look at the figure thru a magnifying glass, it is the work of the famous diamond cutter, De Vries of Holland, and took five years to complete. The diamond treasure of the soviet union contains the only other known engraved diamond in the world, Henry W. Nichols, chief curator of geology, said.

Another remarkable stone is the sun god opal found in an ancient Persian temple by an expedition in 1890. Since the opal is of Mexican origin, experts believe the stone may have been carried back to Asia by one of the Spanish conquerors of the Aztecs. The opal is carved to represent a human face and is mounted in a cup of gold inscribed with black figures of oriental design.

Thru the ages gems and jewelry have always assumed great importance as signs of wealth and social position, Dr. Paul S. Martin, curator of anthropology, explained. Many races used jewels as symbols, charms, and fetishes in various forms of religion and superstition.

"Jewels form a major element in the study of history and mankind," Dr. Martin said. "Practically every culture, primitive or civilized, ancient or modern, involves their use in one form or another."

The ancient races of India believed that precious stones possess special magic properties. Dr. Martin listed a few: Diamonds calm anger. The opal preserves one from malaria, but is fatal to love and sows discord between the giver and recipient. Agate strengthens the heart, cures snake bites, and is a charm against the plague. Carnelian insures victory and coral keeps away evil spirits.

Chicago Musical College Holds 74th Annual Graduation

At its 74th annual commencement concert and exercises in Orchestra hall last night the Chicago Musical college awarded an honorary degree of doctor of music to a celebrated native Chicagoan, Albert Spalding. In conferring the degree Rudolph Ganz referred to th violinist's art as having "quickened the pulse of musical life here and abroad" and went on to cite his various accomplishments as a performer and a composer. Following the presentation of the degrees two movements from Mr. Spalding's String Quartet in E minor, Op. 10, were played.

The commencement address was delivered by Mr. Ganz, president of the college. He also presented the certificates and degrees to this year's 27 graduates.

The musical portion of the evening was supplied by the college's symphony orchestra, conducted by Leon Sametini, with student soloists. The latter included Eileen Berg, Maria Miyamoto, Sarah Elizabeth Marks, and Freda Trepel, pianists; Dorothy Stahl and Suzanna Lar, sopranos; Peter James and Benjamin Blackman, violinists.

"NO BLACKOUT OF PEACE"

In an address broadcast to the nation and the world on Sept. 3, 1939—the day that Great Britain and France declared war on Germany—President Roosevelt declared:

"I have said not once but many times that I have seen war, and that I hate war. I say that again and again.

"I hope the United States will keep out of this war. I believe that it will. And I give you assurances that every effort of your government will be directed toward that end.

"As long as it remains within my power to prevent, there will be no blackout of peace in the United States."

Sally Welsh Is Latest Added to Debs' List

BY JUDITH CASS.

As the days go by and debut parties start, the debutante list grows steadily longer. The latest addition is Miss Sally Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon M. Welsh of Winnetka. Mr. and Mrs. Welsh will give a tea at home on Saturday, Sept. 6, to introduce their daughter to their friends.

Miss Welsh just has finished her first year at Vassar. She was graduated from the North Shore Country Day school last year, and will be at home during most of the summer except for a few weeks in August. The debutante's younger sister, Posie, will be at the Timberline ranch this summer.

Another young woman who finished at the North Shore Country Day last year is on the "tentative" debutante list, Miss Louise Scott Konsberg. Her parents, the Edgar T. Konsbergs, also of Winnetka, are waiting until fall to decide about a party for her. Miss Konsberg is a student at Sweetbriar college. She is leaving June 27 to teach canoeing at Holliday camp in northern Minnesota.

Mrs. Lawrence W. Scudder and her daughters are departing by motor June 30 for their summer home in New Hampshire. Miss Clarina Scudder will be with a summer theater stock company in Maine. Miss Mary Scudder, a Sarah Lawrence student, has no definite plans for the season. Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling have taken Mrs. Scudder's Lake Forest house for the summer.

Tea to Open Preview of Higinbotham Hall of Gems.

Tea will be served today from 3:30 until 5:30 o'clock at the preview of the H. N. Higinbotham Hall of Gems and Jewels in the Field Museum of Natural History. The museum's membership of several thousand and other well known Chicagoans have been invited to attend the preview which will be from 9 until 4 o'clock. Among those who will welcome guests during the hours of the tea are Mrs. Richard T. Crane and Mrs. Alice Higinbotham Patterson, daughters of the late Harlow N. Higinbotham, in whose honor the hall is named. Mrs. Crane postponed her departure for her summer home in Massachusetts until tomorrow so that she could be here today.

Mr. Higinbotham had one son, Harlow D. Higinbotham, but he is indisposed and will not come in from his home in Joliet for the preview. His son, Harlow N. Higinbotham, and his wife will be there, however. Others who will receive and assist are Stanley Field, president of the museum, and Mrs. Field; Mrs. Clifford C. Gregg, wife of the museum director; Miss Elizabeth Hambleton of the museum lecture staff; Mrs. Emily M. Wilcoxson, museum librarian, and Mrs. Elsie H. Thomas, museum recorder, among others.

Mr. Higinbotham Donor of Major Part of Collection.

The original and major part of the gem collection came to the museum as a gift from Mr. Higinbotham, who was president from 1898 to 1908, and a trustee from 1894 to 1919. Mrs. Crane just has given 24 additional gems, including a ruby and several sapphires. Curators of the departments of anthropology and geology will be on hand to answer questions regarding historic and scientific aspects of the rare collection, which is one of the largest and finest in the world.

Miss Patty, Miss Imogene, and Miss Barbara Chancellor will entertain at tea today for their sister, Helen, who will become the bride of Francis Dewes Burgweger on Saturday. Mrs. Theodore Butz is to give the bridal dinner tomorrow evening at the Hearthstone.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

A Hollywood makeup expert told us one time that in his estimation about 90 per cent of the females who make up their faces never get their lipstick on properly. We don't study our mouth lines, or take the time to make necessary corrections in outline.

If you're a lipstick smearer try using a lipstick brush. This is one of the important implements of the professional model and the movie star, and for a good reason. It's invaluable in making your mouth up to perfection.

You'll like one that came to the beauty mart rather recently. It's small and slim, in a dainty cylindrical case that keeps the brush free of dust, and it's quite inexpensive.

When the brush is released from the case stroke it over your lipstick until the bristles are thoroly coated. Then outline the edge of your mouth with a firm hand. If the outline is erratic balance it with some artistic free-hand work of your own. Then fill in this outline with the lipstick or with the coated brush. We prefer the latter, working the rouge in well into every crevice of the skin. Your lipstick coat will last longer.

It's a mistake to tamper too much with your mouth outline. A blatantly false line is unattractive. But a skilful bit of correction is worth all the time it takes.

Little Gay Lady at 95 Recalls Days of Lincoln

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

Mrs. Eleanor Gridley.

Her thick iron gray hair combed into a high pompadour, bits of old lace at her neck and wrists, and her wedding brooch for jewelry, Mrs. Eleanor Gridley greeted more than 150 friends and relatives who came to the Carleton hotel in Oak Park last night to wish her "Happy Birthday."

And they had little opportunity to say more. For Mrs. Gridley, pert and gay despite her 95 years, did most of the talking. In fact, the little lady who is said to be the only living person who attended the ceremony that was the birth of the Republican party in 1854, not only talked—she made a speech.

That speech, she said, was in the modern manner, a digest of 95 years of living. "I'm giving the highlights, as you say these days. And the most important time of all, I think, was the period from 1860 to 1865 when Lincoln was President. Did you know I campaigned to elect him?"

By way of answering that question, Mrs. Gridley, who is the author of "The Story of Abraham Lincoln from Log Cabin to White House" and other Lincoln stories, recounted episodes in the life of the great man. She described some of the items in the Lincoln collection she has at her home, 7156 Euclid avenue. And she retold the story of how, as a child of 8 in Jackson, Mich., she left off swinging on the garden gate to run downtown to see what the street commotion was. It was July 4, 1854, and the commotion was the Republican party coming into existence.

Her brown eyes twinkling, she recalled coming to Chicago in 1888, a widow with three children, and persuading the editor of the Elite News, a publication devoted to Chicago society, to give her a job.

"I'd been teaching in Jackson," she said, "but I decided the town wasn't big enough any more. So I came to the city. The Elite News editor asked me what experience I'd had, and I said, 'None,' so he sent me out here to Oak Park with a letter to the Scoville family. I took back three columns of news, and he kept me on the staff."

Mrs. Gridley's granddaughter, Mrs. F. M. Wright, and Mr. Wright of 1700 North New England avenue, were her hosts last night. Mrs. Gridley makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Queen G. Thomas.

SYNOPSIS.

On her own for the last four years, 22 year old Celia Ames has no one to whom she can turn when she loses her job. She has fallen in love with Val Quentin, a fellow boarder, but is beginning to doubt his sincerity, since he is continuously borrowing money from her and imposes on her in other ways. She runs into Felicity Stanmore, a schoolmate four years younger than her, whom she mothered in convent days. Felicity's mother is dead and her father, only 39, is rich and handsome. Felicity invites Celia to her home for the week-end, and Celia goes back to the boarding house to pawn her jewelry but finds it has been stolen. At the Stanmores, Celia finds Val to be one of the dinner guests and Felicity tells her she is in love with him. Returning to the boarding house, Celia's landlady tells her she found pawn tickets for Celia's jewelry in Val's room. Val explains that he looked upon Celia as his wife and thought it all right to borrow her jewelry to pawn when he was in need. He says the reason he hasn't been able to marry her is because his divorced wife is supporting him. Sir Martin, Felicity's father, offers Celia a job as his daughter's companion and his part time stenographer.

SHADOW SEEN.

INSTALMENT X.

Martin's eyes sought Celia's and held them. A thrill went over her like a mild electric shock. She was confused, startled and exalted, in a breath.

"She says she's consulted a specialist, and that her chest isn't very strong. He wants her to go to the south of France for a month or so. I hoped Felicity was going with her, but apparently not. I'm at home a fair amount, but I can't be mother and father both. And I can use you, myself, when I am at home, Celia. You can take shorthand dictation, can't you?"

"O yes," Celia replied. "But I don't know if Felicity would stand for my being a mother to her, now."

Martin Stanmore laughed and Celia clapped a hand to her mouth and her face grew fiery again. Really, of all the nit-wits, she took the cake! It must have sounded as tho she thought he was making her a proposal of marriage.

"You could be a sister to her, couldn't you?" he asked. "Look here Celia, give it a try. It would be worth five pounds a week to me, at a modest estimate. We'd work you pretty hard, I'm afraid. You'd have to look after the house a bit, too, and I've been given to understand that's a job in itself.

"Say you'll take it on at least while my sister-in-law is away. This lady in Tunbridge Wells will probably keep, if you find you really want her in the end. If not, there will be others. The world is full of opportunities."

"I haven't found it like that," Celia replied a little wistfully.

"I'm afraid you've been looking in the wrong places. It's a funny thing—I discovered this when I was a raw lad—that the plums always fall into your lap when you're not expecting them. But you've got to grab them, Celia, when they do fall. That, to my way of thinking, is the whole art of living. May I suggest—quite modestly—that from your point of view I am quite a desirable plum? Just as you are, to me."

The trouble was, Celia knew exactly what he wanted of her really—to be a watchdog for him in the matter of Felicity's affair with Valentine Quentin. He hadn't said so, but that was what he meant. She was quite sure, now, that he had been pumping Mrs. Maxton about Val.

The temptation was very nearly irresistible, but she couldn't see herself playing the spy.

"Would you expect me to tell tales on Felicity?" she asked bluntly. She might as well know where she stood on that point.

"God forbid."

"Then—what?"

"Be her loving friend, as you were at the convent. Felicity needs some one of her own sex and approximately her own age, who loves her with no idea of self interest behind it. O, she's got friends. Too many of them, I'd say, but they don't satisfy."

Celia smiled tremulously, thinking of the past weeks.

She saw herself coming home night after night after days of fruitless searching. If there was a self addressed envelope in the rack, its contents regretted that the post she had applied for was already filled, or else it offered something at a wage no self respecting girl could possibly live on.

She saw herself climbing those 94 steps that led to her attic, squandering a little money on the gas because one has to be warm in order to exist thru an English winter. She could feel, still, the lump like lead that lay on her heart, and the stiff smile she forced when Val bounced in with some favor to ask of her.

"Hullo, precious, I thought you must be back by now. Could you possibly put a couple of stitches in this sock? I've got some darning silk. I pulled it out of an old pair that were really gone. Don't you think I'm a smart boy? Kiss me, angel."

"Are you going out tonight, Val?"

"Only to the club. I'm a pretty good bridger, as you know, and I can't waste my talents on Alanbrook at a penny a hundred."

Celia gave herself a mental shake.

That glamorous boy, Valentine Quentin—what had he to do with her now?

She didn't know as yet how the past, however seemingly dead and done for, can stick its claws into the present.

Martin Stanmore was waiting for her answer.

"I'll be glad—I'm really most grateful, Sir Martin. I hope I don't disappoint you."

"I hope you don't, either. That is, I hope we don't disappoint each other. Thanks a lot, Celia. I'm kind of grateful, myself . . . Look here, you're not thinking of me as an old man, are you?"

"Why, no—at least I don't think I am. But you're Felicity's father."

"Yes, I can't get away from that, and I don't want to, either. I'll be 39 in June. That's old, isn't it? I mean, it's old to you."

He appeared slightly anxious.

Celia stared at him, wide eyed.

"But you must have been very, very young to do all you have done in such a short time."

"Nothing takes much time—once you know what you're after . . . Waiter, give me my bill."

Martin Stanmore was brisk and businesslike.

"We'll expect you on Wednesday, Celia, and this is to seal the bargain, so you can't do any backing out."

He pressed a folded banknote into her hand which he held and patted affectionately.

"You start something and I will, too," he added, and he saw a look of protest in her eyes. "I'll make a holy show of you if you start to cut up rough."

. . . .

Celia didn't know what Miss Best was thinking, so it was just as well to explain the matter at once.

It was a five pound note he had given her, and at the moment she owed three pounds-three to Alanbrook.

Miss Best had never heard of Sir Martin Stanmore, but she had had a good look at him. Celia didn't overdo the explanations. She merely said she had landed a job at last, partly as secretary to this Sir Martin Stanmore and partly as a companion for his daughter. His daughter was the old school friend she had just been staying with. O, yes—and she would be leaving Alanbrook on Wednesday, but probably Mr. Parker would expect a week's notice.

The trouble with Miss Best was she embarrassed any one who might feel at a disadvantage in her presence, by saying so little and looking unnecessarily blank.

Of course, the whole thing must sound like a fairy tale to her. But what a fool anybody would be who tried to lie to Miss Best.

When Celia offered her the banknote, she turned it over in a manner which suggested she suspected its validity.

"I hope the situation turns out to your liking," she said drily.

"I'm sure it will," Celia replied, feeling that her good news was not getting a very cordial reception.

Miss Best got out her key for the cash box.

"I wonder if your friend would be the Miss Stanmore who's always ringing up Mr. Quentin," she said, departing from her usual caution.

Celia flushed and tried to look indifferent. "Probably. Mr. Quentin visits there. He knows lots of people."

"Quite. Here's your change, Miss Ames. I'll make out the receipt and put it in the rack, and mention to Mr. Parker that you are leaving us. I don't think it matters about the notice, as I have a waiting list for top rooms."

Celia went upstairs less elated than she should have been.

Perspective of Time Help to Guidance Aims

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

When each of my days, from morning until bedtime, at home and in the park, in the country or at the seashore, was spent with 3 year olds, my own and other people's, I used to think: "This is the best way to get to know all about them."

It is and it isn't.

Then when the 5s and 6s were my constant companions I used to think: "This is how you get to understand thoroly little boys and girls of this age."

It is and it isn't.

When we got along into the middle teens, and then the late teens, I thought the same thing about that age. But, also, my convictions concerning how much I knew about child nature and management at 3 and 5 and 11 began to waver a little. Why? Because I was looking backward over the years to a number of things, the causes of which I hadn't quite understood at the time, and finding the explanation of them as a result of time and experience.

Perspective is a very illuminating thing. If you're keenly and constantly interested in the subject with which this column is concerned, you find that perspective sheds a light. It clarifies. It fills in and enriches your knowledge. It gives you the key to many phases of childhood that used to puzzle you, and to many individual problems for which you never had found the cause, but which cleared up of themselves, in the course of time.

Choose Flowers as the Accent to Your Costume Now and Then

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

We like the stressing of flower accessories to be worn with your day and evening costumes. The right colored flowers [either real or artificial] do a great deal to give romantic accent to your attire. They make your hair, eyes, and complexion a prettier picture. There's nothing lovelier than a woman who knows how to wear flowers becomingly.

The "knowing how" is very simple. Yet, for fear some of you may be taken in by certain flower colors, without considering whether or not they are the most becoming ones for you, here are a few rules to follow to make your flower choice easy.

Wear flowers whose color harmonizes with or compliments your makeup. If, for instance, you are wearing true-red, or blue-red rouge, lipstick and nail polish, flowers in the following colors would be becoming: Red, violet, pink, lavender or white. To be assumed, of course, is that you would be wearing a becoming costume color. Should you be wearing a golden-red rouge, lipstick and nail polish, your most becoming flower colors are: Yellow, gold, orange, tea-rose pink, white. Again it is taken for granted that your costume color or colors harmonize with your own color type.

Neutral costume colors, such as black, gray and beige, look well on many women, and the artful use of flowers will give you a distinctive air if you harmonize them with your makeup. At least they'll make you look more feminine than you've looked in many a season, which isn't a bad idea, is it?

The Esquire

A GIRL, A GUY, AND A GOB

An adroit blending of comedy situations and well-paced romance has turned this into lively entertainment. Gagged to the hilt, it also has a naturally human quality about it. Artful characterizations are contributed by its stars—George Murphy, Lucille Ball and a newcomer, Edmond O'Brien.

vited the other members of the junior committee of the College Assembly for cocktails this afternoon to make final plans for the Assembly's next party. It will be a luncheon dance at 1 o'clock on Saturday at the Racquet club.

Miss Zoe de La Chapelle, Miss Helen Congdon, Miss Margaret Howell, Miss Celeste Lang, and Miss Joan Pace are the other young women on the committee. The young men serving are John Bagley, Ensign Edward Corboy, Edward Detmer, Eugene Garvy, George Marcheze, Richard and Edward McVoy, and Frank O'Dowd. A limited number of freshmen have been admitted to the Assembly, among them Miss Joan Congdon, Miss Genevieve Lawlor, Miss Mary Alice Dolan, Miss Patricia Alger, and Miss Julia McGuire.

Miss Isabel Fiske to Be Married Saturday, June 28.

The Chapel of Remembrance of the First Congregational church in Evanston will be the scene of the wedding of Miss Isabel Fiske and Harry Homer Hightower, which is taking place there on June 28. The Rev. Hugh Elmer Brown will perform the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock, and members of the families will gather later at the Glen View club for a small reception.

Miss Fiske, who is the daughter of Mrs. David Fiske of the Whitehall, and the late Dr. Fiske, will have Mr. Hightower's only sister, Mrs. David McCullough of Atlanta, Ga., as matron of honor. The bride's godchild, 7 year old Gloria Gregory, daughter of Mrs. Gerard Fogarty of Evanston, will be flower girl. George Hightower is coming from Atlanta to be his brother's best man, and William Felton of Chicago and David Badger of Evanston complete the list of attendants.

Kitchen Shower Given for Miss Fiske by Mrs. Badger.

Mrs. Badger gave a kitchen shower yesterday for Miss Fiske, and Mrs. William L. Taylor Jr. will be hostess at a closet shower on Monday. The bridal dinner, which the Henry M. Huxleys are to give in their home the night before the wedding, will be in the nature of a farewell, for Mr. Hightower is taking his bride to Jackson, Mich., to reside after a three week wedding trip.

The Rev. Thomas J. Burke will perform the marriage ceremony of Miss Barbara Alden Baggaley and Oliver Walter Masterson on June 26 in the Church of SS. Faith, Hope, and Charity, Winnetka. A reception will be held later in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel D. Craft of Winnetka. Miss Baggaley is the daughter of Mrs. Leora J. Baggaley of Winnetka and William Blair Baggaley of Chicago, and Mr. Masterson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Masterson of Geneva.

Caroline Sutherland's Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Caroline, to William Hartmann, son of Mrs. John A. Hartmann of Sommerville, N. J. The announcement was made yesterday at a luncheon Miss Sutherland gave for two other brides-to-be, Miss Mary Wood and Miss Barbara Wilder. Miss Sutherland and Mr. Hartmann will be married in the fall.

Miss Sutherland attended the North Shore Country Day school, Dana Hall, and the Lowthorpe School of Landscape Architecture in Groton, Mass. Mr. Hartmann is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and has just returned from 15 months of traveling around the world, having won the Roach Traveling Scholarship in Architecture.

Some gay parties for the army and navy are in the offing. The Chicago Yacht club has invited a hundred of the midshipmen entering Abbott hall for their training period to come for dinner and dancing on Saturday night. The new Beach club at the Moraine in Highland Park is entertaining army officers at Fort Sheridan and their wives at cocktails today. Next Wednesday there will be a similar party for naval officers.

Lake Geneva Club Holds Garden Quiz Program.

A garden quiz program was the high light of the first meeting of the season of the Lake Geneva Garden club yesterday, and a musical quiz program will be held at the Key club on Sunday. Garden clubbers met at the home of Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, Alta Vista, in Lake Geneva, and Mrs. Edwin B. Frost acted as "quizzer." The club is making plans for its annual Lake Geneva Flower show, to be held Aug. 8, 9, and 10.

WEDDINGS

The Thorndike Hilton chapel at the University of Chicago was the scene of the marriage on April 19 of Miss Peggy Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Harrison of Chicago and Dyer, Ind., to James H. Boyle Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyle of South Drexel boulevard. Mr. Boyle and his bride are residing in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Engelmann of South Throop avenue announce the marriage on June 7 of their daughter, Margaret, to Paul C. Krueger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Krueger of West 73d place.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ornstein of Appleton, Wis., announce the marriage on June 2 of their daughter, Phyllis, to Walter D. Allman, son of Mrs. Louis Allman of the Piccadilly hotel.

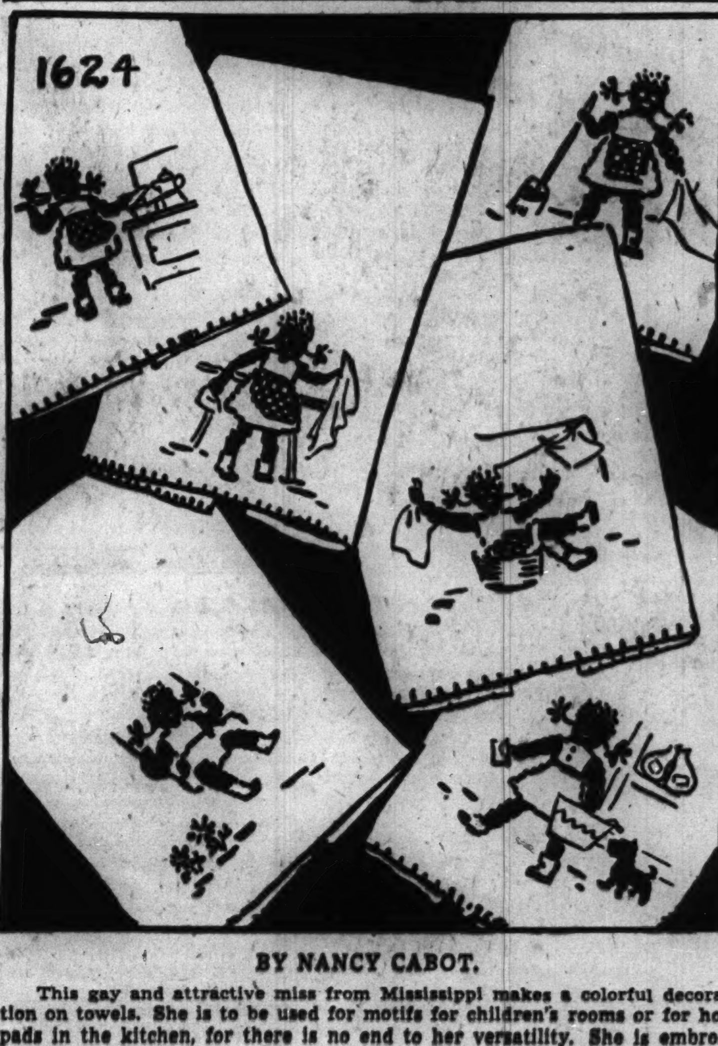
Miss from Mississippi



BY NANCY CABOT.

This gay and attractive miss from Mississippi makes a colorful decoration on towels. She is to be used for motifs for children's rooms or for hot pads in the kitchen, for there is no end to her versatility. She is embroidered almost entirely in cross-stitch and any choice of colors may be used for the needlework.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the "Miss from Mississippi," No. 1624, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

It's the meat that makes the sandwich, of course. But who makes the meat that makes the sandwich? And why does this make such a difference in the relative deliciousness of your sandwich? You would know the answer like a flash if you could walk with me through the shining Wilson & Co. kitchens and see the immaculate cleanliness, the choice cuts of meat, the constant checks and laboratory tests to insure simply marvelous flavor for you in Wilson's Certified meats.

George Rector
Food Consultant for Wilson & Co.

Tips to Sandwich Makers

Slice all the bread, stack and cover with a damp cloth. Spread each slice with Wilson's Sandwich Spread (a creamy mayonnaise) or Wilson's Relish Spread. Both of these are so perfectly seasoned with chopped relishes and spices that you need add no other seasoning to your sandwiches. Suggestion: mix with hard-cooked Clear Brook egg yolks for tangy deviled eggs.

IF YOU PUT UP LUNCHES OR PLAN PICNICS

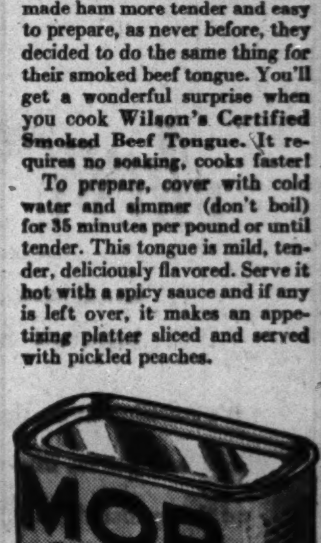
To help you plan sandwiches or cold cut platters, buy an assortment the next time. Here are just a few of Wilson's Certified Ready-To-Serve Meats:

Lasting Flavour Pure Pork Luncheon Meat
Bologna
Frankfurters
Braunschweiger Liver Sausage
Cervelat, Salami
Meat Loaves

A NEW EASY-TO-COOK SMOKED BEEF TONGUE

When Wilson & Co. saw how their Tender Made Ham took the work out of cooking and made ham more tender and easy to prepare, as never before, they decided to do the same thing for their smoked beef tongue. You'll get a wonderful surprise when you cook Wilson's Certified Smoked Beef Tongue. It requires no soaking, cooks faster!

To prepare, cover with cold water and simmer (don't boil) for 35 minutes per pound or until tender. This tongue is mild, tender, deliciously flavored. Serve it hot with a spicy sauce and if any is left over, it makes an appetizing platter sliced and served with pickled peaches.



For a no-waste, no-work, good-for-all-meals-and-for-all-emergencies meat, nothing quite compares with Mor, the spiced, cured, all pork shoulder meat made by Wilson & Co.

Try "Mor 'n' eggs" for breakfast at home or in camp. Bake Mor for dinner. Barbecue slices in the frying pan for lunch. Use Mor generously and often in picnic sandwiches and in hot creamed sandwiches for home use.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Vern Olsen and Hank Leiber donned twin laurel wreaths yesterday and, with stellar aid from their associates, stood the Brooklyn Dodgers on their heads, 5 to 1.

Olsen's part was an eight inning bid for his third straight shutout. He had run up a string of 30 scoreless inning when Joe Medwick knocked a homer with one out in the ninth. That was the fifth hit of the game off Vern and the eighth in his last two games.

Red Hot Hank Sizzles.

Leiber's part was a perfect day at bat in which he drove in all the Cubs' earned runs, four, on homers off Luke Hamlin in the second and third innings. In Tuesday's opener Hank figured in a forceout in the first inning, helped production with a sacrifice in the fourth inning, doubled and scored in the sixth inning, and knocked a homer with one on in the tenth inning. So his homers yesterday made it three circuit swats in a row and a single he made in the eighth made it six hits in a row for Holdout Hank, who had been a sub-.190 hitter continuously prior to his current streak.

All the Cubs' run making was off Hamlin in the first three innings. Newel Kimball, one of the array of Cub castoffs on the Dodgers, yielded only one hit in a four inning term. Only three Cubs faced him in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings, and the only hit he gave up was a double by Stan Hack with two out in the seventh. Vito Tamulis pitched the eighth and Leiber's single was the only bruise he received.

Only Four Reach Third.

Prior to Medwick's homer in the ninth only three Dodgers got as far as third. In the fifth inning Medwick doubled and advanced on Joe Vosmik's tap to Olsen. Then Dolph Camilli executed the first of his two strikeouts. Mickey Owen walked more or less intentionally and was forced by Kimball, Hack to Lou Stringer. With two out in the seventh Vosmik walked and went to third on Camilli's single to left. This threat also ended, Hack to Stringer, on Owen's grounder. With one down in the eighth Peewee Reese doubled

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 18.—Thornton [Lefty] Lee, rebuffed three times this season by the Yankees, made a proper adjustment this afternoon. Altho inclined to be shaky, the giant southpaw weathered all except one home run incident. His gallantry was rewarded in the eighth inning when his White Sox mates fabricated two runs to beat the local pennant seekers for the second straight time. The score was 3 to 2.

The Chicagoans nicked Spud Chandler for a modest total of five hits, but most of them counted. George Dickey, getting his first starting assignment behind the plate, and Luke Appling combined hits to give the Sox a fleeting one run lead in the second inning. Joe Kuhel and Taft Wright did the same in the eighth to change what had looked like a 2 to 1 Yankee success and Chandler's first triumph of the season.

Lee Survives Difficulties.

Lee's eighth victory of the campaign was so alive with action that he enjoyed only one quiet inning. There were three Yanks on base in the first inning. In the second Charley Keller hit his 12th homer for two runs which put the Sox on the short end until their eighth inning splurge. In the third there were two Yankee hits. There were two more in the fourth and one in the fifth, the latter being Joe DiMaggio's single which ran his consecutive hitting streak thru 31 games. Thereafter Lee's control improved but nevertheless five more Yanks survived against him in the last three innings.

Appling inaugurated the second inning attack by doubling beyond the reach of DiMaggio in left center. The next happening was a pass to Myril Hoag. Wright, after fouling off one attempt to bunt, finally took a third strike. Dickey then singled to right, Appling scoring and Hoag taking third. Bill Knickerbocker grounded to Red Rolfe.

Dario Lodigiani stabbed a line drive for a double play in the first inning to erase a full house caused by a single, a pass, and another pass, the latter an intentional gift to DiMaggio. There was another pass at the start of the second. It went to Joe Gordon, who arrived at second safely when Knickerbocker dropped a throw from Dickey in a steal play. Then Keller hit Lee's first pitch for a homer.

Sox Regain Lead.

Kuhel singled thru Gordon to open the eighth and it wasn't long before the Sox happily discovered they were back in the lead for the second time. The best Appling could do wasn't

A Champion Almost Meets His Master

FOOTBALL FANS SNAP UP 30,000 ALL-STAR SEATS

BY ARCH WARD.

All $4.40 seats for the 1941 All-Star football game, which will be played in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28 between the Chicago Bears, champions of the National Football league, and the College All-Americans, chosen in a coast to coast ballot, have been sold.

Maybe fans have more money than ever before. Maybe it's a keener appreciation of the importance of contact sports. Possibly it's a natural consequence of the thrilling game played between the Green Bay Packers and the All-Stars a year ago. At any rate, this is by far the heaviest sale in the eight years the enterprise has been presented.

All Seats Are Reserved.

Announcement was made in THE TRIBUNE Wednesday, June 11, that mail orders for the game would be accepted. Last night, one week after the sale opened, the entire allotment of $4.40 tickets, numbering almost 30,000, was exhausted. More than twice as many applications were received the first week of this year's sale as in 1940 and last year's early sale broke all previous records.

There still are more than 50,000 seats available. All are reserved. They are priced at $3.30, $2.20, and $1.10. Several thousand at all three prices are located in the horseshoe at the south end of the stadium where many fans prefer to sit, even when given a choice of sideline seats. Spectators get a look at plays head-on from that location.

The player poll, which will open July 12, also promises to set a new high. Nearly 300 newspapers and radio stations already have agreed to conduct the voting in their localities. The 11 players from last year's collegiate ranks who receive the greatest number of votes at their positions will comprise the All-Stars' lineup at the opening kickoff. The coaches are obliged to respect the fans' wishes.

Stars Get Organized Backing.

Half backs whose speed and elusive running thrilled the nation in 1940, tackles and guards who cleared the path for their long runs, and quarter backs who engineered the plays are keeping themselves in physical trim for the call to practice at Northwestern university. Alumni and civic groups thruout the land are organizing campaigns calculated to place their favorites well up among the leaders when the polls close about Aug. 1.

Meanwhile, George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, is ordering his athletes, some of whom are recognized as the greatest players professional football has developed, to get ready for the training period at St. John's Military academy. The Bears and the All-Stars, according to the rules of the All-Star promotion, begin practice on the same day.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Joe Louis, heavyweight champion, knocked out Billy Conn [13], title; Herbie Katz beat Henry Cooper [6]; Holman Williams beat Antonio Fernandez [6]; Jose Basora beat Jerry Fiorello [4]; Larry Fontana beat Johnny Cregan [6].

HOLMSTROM GETS 147 TO TAKE LEAD IN BIG TEN GOLF

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Lean, bespectacled John Holmstrom, 22 year old junior from the University of Illinois, yesterday gave notice that he aims to continue his reputation for golfing precocity by taking the 36 hole lead in the 22d Western conference tournament, which ends with today's final 36 holes at the handsomely groomed Mill Road Farm course in West Lake Forest.

At 16, Holmstrom gave a hint of his swinging ability by winning the Western junior title. The following year he took the Illinois state amateur, and the home folks in Rockford began to realize that they had a golfer in their midst.

Thirty-six More to Go.

Yesterday he put together a 74 and a 73 for the 147, three over par, that gave him a one stroke edge on the field of 50 starters from the 10 conference schools.

Of course, John isn't the 1941 individual champion yet—not by 36 more holes. Right back of him, after a day of unusual scoring quirks, were his fellow townsman and captain, Alex Welsh, and slender Ben Smith, the bright Michigan sophomore. To make the Illinois and Rockford picture complete, Dick Wolfley contributed a 150 to keep himself in the running.

Illini—by 28 Strokes.

The Holmstrom-Welsh-Wolfley trio, with the assistance of John Buzick's 161, took the lead for the team championship, which is decided on the basis of the low gross foursome for 72 holes. The Illini thus go into today's final two rounds with a total of 606, 28 strokes better than the 36 hole aggregate submitted by Ohio State.

A SHORT RIGHT RETAINS TITLE SEEMINGLY LOST

Challenger Counted Out Before 54,487.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 18.—Billy Conn tonight came within a stride of winning the heavyweight championship of the world. But finally in the 13th round of the 15 round battle in the Polo Grounds, Irish courage and determination no longer could match the power of Joe Louis' fists.

At End of 12th—It's Conn!

For 12 rounds, by every account, Conn led in this thrilling struggle for pugilism's highest honor. The 54,487 who jammed all the ringside and stadium seats were prepared to cheer a new champion, a man who only two weeks ago resigned his own 175 pound title for this opportunity and gave away 25½ pounds to Louis tonight.

But in that 13th round the course of the battle changed as inexorably as the tide ends its invasion of the sand and sweeps out to sea. One moment Conn was master of the battle. The next he stood befuddled by one terrific punch. He was nearly helpless, a stationary target for the champion's crushing fists.

As Conn circled across Louis' line of fire, Joe struck with a short right, a bolt that moved with lightning speed and devastating force. That one blow seemingly paralyzed the challenger. It caught him flush on the jaw. And as Billy weaved on rubber limbs in midring, Louis moved to the decisive attack.

Black Dynamite Explodes.

A left hook and then another right straightened up Conn. He grabbed weakly and held Louis' bronze shoulders. Louis swung again. This time his thunderous right upper-cut smashed under Billy's chin and Conn's head snapped back with fearful force. Louis followed irresistibly with a barrage of lefts and rights that thudded audibly to the ringsiders above the tumult of the kill.

Came the last brutal right and Conn fell sideways near the champion's corner. Referee Eddie Josephs intoned the count. At eight Conn tried to rise, but his automatic attempt, born of courage transcending strength, failed. At 10 Conn still touched the floor with his hands and a second later, as he stood, Josephs waved him out and turned to support him.

The time of the knockout was 2 minutes and 58 seconds. Had Conn fallen three seconds later, the bell would have saved him.

Disheartening, But Merciful.

Mercifully Conn was not reprieved, for it was inconceivable that he could have rallied to finish the last two rounds.

Conn revived quickly under a deluge of water and the ministrations of his handlers. Louis shuffled across the ring, puffs above his high cheek bones bearing mute testimony of the battering he received about the head. He posed with the man who had failed in the 18th attempt to take the title Joe now has held four years.

With a fatherly gesture, Louis rested his arm on Conn's slighter shoulders. They shook hands with respect. Conn grinned and waved to the crowd. Then as the throng roared an accolade to victor and vanquished, the men returned to their quarters.

Conn had every reason to be proud altho his failure, with victory so near, must have been heartbreaking. Had the fight continued according to the pattern of 12 rounds, Conn unquestionably would have won the world's title. In our score we gave him six rounds—the third, fourth, eighth, ninth, eleventh, and twelfth—with the seventh even. Louis' advantage in the first and tenth was so slight that some may have judged them even.

Champion Drops Behind.

The champion's best round was the fifth and he followed that with a creditable sixth. But from that point on his labored, unsuccessful pursuit of Billy in contrast to Conn's brilliant counterattacks, made him the runner-up.

It is not unfair to say that tonight Louis had to knock out Conn to retain the championship.

The amazing part of this fight, the best from the customers' standpoint in Louis' four year reign, wasn't the ease with which Conn circled and boxed. He had been expected to outpoint Louis, and it had been written that if he could stay away for 15 rounds he should win the decision. But few thought he could escape disaster.

It was his ability to stand and punch with Louis and in this daring actually daze the man who had knocked out 45 opponents in seven years. As early as the third round Conn chose to turn on his pursuer. Conn leaped in with a sharp left hook to the body and then in half clinches

Baseball's Men in Blue

LOU JORDA has the distinction of being the only comeback umpire on the National league staff. He returned to the circuit last year after an eight year absence.

Lou Jorda.

Lou was born in New Orleans May 22, 1893, and began his professional baseball career as a catcher with the Gadsden, Ala., team in 1911. He went to the New Orleans team in 1913, where he began a class A experience which terminated in 1920, when he became an umpire in the Cotton States league. He was an umpire in the Southern league from 1921 to 1926 inclusive. Lou was in the National league in 1927, '28, '29, '30, and '31 and would be runner-up to Reardon as dean of the staff if he had continued in the league. He was in the International league from the start of 1932 until he was recalled by the National league.

Jorda is quiet and unobtrusive. He gets in few jams and reflects his long experience in every move.

Lou Jorda Jr., reported in Hawaii last week. The son, who is 21, is in the United States air service.

to center and went to third while Bob Sturgeon was making a swell play to throw out Herman. The inning ended when Hack threw out Reiser.

It was an especially tough day for the Dodgers' trio of .300 hitters, Herman, Reiser, and Lavagettto. None got a hit and Lavagetto's fadeout put him under the .300 mark for the first time this season. Herman, by the way, has made only one single in the two games of the series. There were lots of white shirts in the center field bleachers yesterday and Tuesday.

Dom Drives in First Run.

The Cubs were gentle with Hamlin in the first inning, but made a run nevertheless. Hack opened the Chicago offensive with a trot to second when his grounder got thru Camilli. Stan went to third on Sturgeon's sacrifice and home on Dallessandro's fly to Reiser.

The first of Leiber's homers gave the Cubs a run in the second and they would have had more but for some inexcusably balmy work on the bases by Stringer. After Hank had socked his homer, Babe Dahlgren was called out on strikes and Clyde McCullough flied to Medwick. Stringer walked. Stringer obviously had forgotten the number of outs and wasn't running on Olsen's fly to left. The fly proved to be a single on which Lou anchored at second. Hack singled to Herman back of second, but Stringer, who should have been perched on third at the start of the play, was thrown out at the plate trying to score from second.

Big Hank Again.

The one or more runs lost by Stringer's daze were forgotten in the third inning. Sturgeon pushed off with a double to left and held second while Dallessandro was beating out a carom off Reese's glove. Bill Nicholson fanned, but Leiber smashed an even grander homer than the one in the preceding inning, scoring Sturgeon and Dallesandro.

Hamlin didn't answer the bell for the Chicago fourth, to coin a phrase we just thought up. Kimball went in and put a quietus on the Cubs' frolicsome offensive.

Claude Passeau will go after his seventh victory of the season this afternoon in the final of the Cubs-Dodgers series in Wrigley field. Kirby Higbe is slated to pitch for the Dodgers.

Whit Wyatt, Dodger pitching star, complains that the mound in Wrigley field is too high, all of which accounts, he says, for his poor performances there this season. Moreover, Whit asserts, the hill slopes too sharply and doesn't permit a proper pitching follow thru.

SOFTBALL TONIGHT

The Rheingold softball team of Waukegan will meet Match Corporation of America tonight in Waukegan.

Cards Defeat Phillies, 7 to 3, Behind Lanier

St. Louis, Mo., June 18 (AP).—Johnny Hopp set the tempo with a first inning home run and the St. Louis Cardinals went on to beat the Philadelphia Phillies today, 7 to 3. Max Landier had a shutout until the eighth inning when the Phils broke his streak of 21 consecutive scoreless innings. In 53 innings this year only 16 runs have been scored off Lanier who now has five victories and two defeats.

LEE BREAKS JINX AND WHITE SOX BEAT YANKS, 3-2

much—a pop foul to Buddy Rosar, after which Kuhel stole second. Hoag grounded to Phil Rizzuto, who threw to third, but Kuhel slid in safely. Wright lined his single into right center, Kuhel scoring the tying run and Hoag sprinting to third. Hoag skipped home after Dickey's fly to Keller.

Lee's last two innings weren't exactly peaceful. Rosar led off with a single in the eighth and Gordon hit a hot liner which Appling speared and doubled Rosar off first. Keller then walked and Rizzuto tapped to Knickerbocker. Red Ruffing, Lee's nemesis, batted for Chandler to start the ninth and singled. George Selkirk, who ran for Ruffing, was bunted to second by John Sturm. Wright took Rolfe's liner and an instant later Kuhel picked up Tom Henrich's grounder to conclude the game.

SMITH FACES YANKS TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 18.—Eddie [Lefty] Smith, who rescued the decision for the White Sox in the ninth inning yesterday, will return as a starter tomorrow in the final with the Yankees. The Yanks will start Marvin Breuer.

When Mike Tresh was scratched from today's lineup it was the first start missed by the young catcher this season. Reason for the withdrawal was that Manager Jim Dykes figured the lad needed a bit of rest.

Now that John Rigney has gone to the army, leaving a starting vacancy on the Sox staff Dykes must find a replacement. His choice probably will be Lee [Buck] Ross, the former Athletic.

RIGNEY RETURNS; READY TO ENTER ARMY TOMORROW

John Rigney got right in the martial spirit of things yesterday afternoon by returning to Chicago from New York by airplane to complete preparations in changing his White Sox baseball uniform for one provided by Uncle Sam.

At 7 o'clock tomorrow morning, the big right handed pitcher will report to the induction center in Forest Park ready to serve his year in the army.

The Sox pitcher was in high humor yesterday and elated over the team's second straight victory over the Yankees.

"I think we're better on the road than at home," he said, and continued, "I hope I get a chance to pitch while I'm in the army. My arm is in good condition now and I'd like to keep it that way if I'm not too tired after the sergeants get thru with me."

Rigney said his call to the army has forced postponement of his plans for a wedding next fall with Dorothy Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox.

Rigney's brother, Edward, an accountant, also is among the 56 to be inducted tomorrow.

Steinmetz, 8-2 Victor, Gains City Prep Title

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

The prep baseball career of Robert Possehl, 18 year old Steinmetz pitcher, came to a successful end in Comiskey park yesterday. The tall right hander, who has worked all season under the critical eyes of major league scouts, yielded only five hits as Steinmetz defeated Farragut, 8 to 2, for the city high school championship before 5,000.

Except for a few innings when his control disappeared and his fielding support became erratic, Possehl had little difficulty picking up his ninth victory in 10 engagements. Bob struck out 12 and during his brief periods of wildness issued six walks. The five Farragut hits were all singles, the first bouncing into right field by Second Baseman Joe Nezgoda in the fourth inning.

Canadeo Leads Attack.

There was only one extra base hit in the contest, a ground rule two bagger by Third Baseman Danny Canadeo in the seventh inning. Canadeo, who probably will follow his brother, Tony, to Gonzaga university next year, was the leading batsman of the day, collecting three of Steinmetz's eleven hits off Farragut's Ray Muzika.

Both Farragut runs off Possehl were unearned. First Baseman Richard Divis scored the first in the fourth inning after reaching base on Shortstop Fred Mafsh's error. The second run was scored by Muzika in the fifth on Second Baseman Tom Hamilton's misplay. There were two other Steinmetz errors in the game, one each by Lefty Oszakiewski and Russ Adams. Farragut had three, Nezgoda, Ray Kasel, and John Reavy each committing one.

Two Runs in 7th; Three in 8th.

Four of the eight Steinmetz runs were earned. The northwest side school clinched the second baseball championship of its history in the seventh and eighth innings by scoring five runs. The two in the seventh were earned, Canadeo and Oszakiewski being driven in on a single by Adams. Four singles and one error produced the three runs in the eighth. Score:

TAVERN PALE WINS GOOD HEAD TEST BY 67%! AND A GOOD HEAD MEANS GOOD BEER

Yes! Tests with 10 Other Beers Prove Tavern Pale Retains 67% Better "Head" Five Minutes After Pouring

HERE'S THE PROOF! Under identical conditions Tavern Pale was tested against 10 well-advertised beers. A number of glasses of each were allowed to stand the same elapsed time after pouring. Then each was checked. Tavern Pale showed 67% greater "head" than the average of all other beers tested. Test conducted under the strict supervision of Altschuler, Melvoin and Glasser, Certified Public Accountants, Chicago, Illinois.

SO REMEMBER to ask for Tavern Pale . . . it's the beer for a GOOD HEAD, every time. And the secret of that GOOD HEAD is that Tavern Pale is made of the finest ingredients.

NEW SUPER LUBRICANT

with "X" safety factors gives extra protection at sustained high speeds

RECENT TEST RUNS, totaling 5,000,000 miles, prove that Shell X-100 Motor Oil helps safeguard fine motors under today's new driving condition—sustained high speed. "X" safety factors make this new super lubricant safety insurance for your motor.

Shell X-100 has added "X" factors; retards sludge formation.

IMPORTANT NOTICE
A new car is going to be harder to get. It is important to take the best possible care of the car you have now or the one you buy. The regular use of SHELL X-100 means maximum protection.

TALBERT UPSETS HUNT; MOVES TO QUARTER-FINAL

Larned, Leading Mulloy, Defaults After Injury.

William Talbert of Cincinnati, O., reached the quarter-finals in the national clay court tennis tournament yesterday by upsetting Joe Hunt, the Annapolis [Md.] midshipman seeded No. 3, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4, on the River Forest Tennis Club courts.

Gardner Larned, 18 year old Chicago star, was close to another upset in his match with Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., seeded No. 6. But Larned fell heavily in the fourth set, spraining his right wrist, and was forced to default, altho he was leading, 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 0-4, when the mishap occurred.

Talbert was joined in the quarter-finals by Fred Schroeder of Glendale, Cal., seeded No. 7, and Bryan Grant of Atlanta, Ga., No. 8. Schroeder defeated Cal Sawyier of the University of Chicago, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3, and Grant eliminated Arthur Marx of Hollywood, Cal., 6-0, 6-1, 6-4.

The top ranking men favorites also moved ahead easily. Don McNeill, defending champion, swept aside David Freeman of Pasadena, Cal., the national badminton champion, 6-4, 7-5, 6-1. Bobby Riggs, seeded No. 2, whipped Ted Olewine of Pasadena, Cal., and Frank Parker, No. 4, ended Wayne Sabin's comeback effort, 9-7, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

Helen Bernhard of Ithaca, N. Y., No. 2 seeded women's favorite, also was upset, losing a quarter-final match to Barbara Bradley of Los Angeles, Cal., 6-3, 7-9, 6-4.

GOEBEL BEER
In the Original Bantam Bottle!

TAKE your best girl for a moonlight boat ride. What could be sweeter? And here's another suggestion. Try Goebel Bantam Beer when you're out with the girl friend. You'll see why thousands are switching to Goebel. 33 million more bottles of Goebel sold in 1940 than 1939 . . . greater gain than all other Michigan breweries combined!* Those figures say plenty for the good taste of Goebel.

Good news gets around. Folks call for Goebel in Boston and Philadelphia, in Miami and New Orleans, in St. Louis, Milwaukee and Chicago. Goebel Brewing Company, Detroit, Michigan.

IDLE SUN WINS LINCOLN FIELDS FEATURE EVENT

Mrs. Denemark's Stable Gets 11th Victory.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Idle Sun, Mrs. Emil Denemark's consistent performer, made it four victories in five starts by winning the Beverly Hills purse yesterday at Lincoln Fields. Jockey Willie Garner sent him to the front at the head of the stretch and drove on home five lengths ahead of William Palmer in this mile and a sixteenth run. Dog House, co-favorite with the winner at 5 to 2, took third place.

This was the 10th victory of the meeting for Mrs. Denemark's horses, which are leading all other stables in the struggle for top honors at Lincoln Fields. Royal Teddy subsequently made it eleven for the Denemarks by scoring in the last race of the day.

Two Horses in Duel.

The seven went to the post in the Beverly Purse, it was strictly a duel between Idle Sun and William Palmer, with the exception of a few strides near the head of the stretch when Dog House, Sky Ball, and Gourmet all reached contending positions close behind the leaders.

But Dog House went wide and then hung before rallying again near the finish. Sky Ball was in close quarters and then weakened when clear and Gourmet lost considerable ground on the swing into the stretch. Meanwhile Garner was sending Idle Sun into a commanding lead and he kept him running right to the finish.

The winner ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 1-5. His mutuel pay off was $7.20, $4.20 and $3.

MacAndrew Shows Good Form.

Jockey Doug MacAndrew had dead aim on the finish line in the early stages of the afternoon's program. He started the day by bringing Gary L home on top in the first race and came back to score with Bitter Ender and Bolus in the third and fourth. The latter two are owned by John Marsch.

All three of these were popular in the betting.

54,487 WATCH LOUIS KNOCK OUT CONN IN 13TH

Louis Lands One.

This left hook followed by a right cross to the jaw won the fourth round for the challenger. In the fifth round, however, Louis pierced the target with a solid left hook to the head. Conn seemed dazed and the champion followed with six consecutive punches without a return. This appeared to be the beginning of the end and the sixth, in which Conn's right eye was cut, apparently verified that surmise.

Two factors changed the picture. Conn's amazing vitality, considering his handicap in weight, and Louis' negligence. Suddenly Louis declined to follow up his advantage. The seventh round was slow and uninteresting, and on one occasion no blow was struck for 30 seconds. The rest period worked to Conn's advantage, for he came back in the eighth to begin a drive that earned him four of the next five rounds.

Conn kept Louis off balance with a stiff left jab. He held command of the action so completely that at times the champion seemed foolish as he vainly followed his circling foe and, after cornering him along the ropes, permitted opportunity to escape.

Champ's Chances Ebb.

Billy's attack reached its peak in the final minute of the 11th and again in the 12th. Thruout the 11th the men worked across the ring head to head in a half clinch, now jerking one hand loose for a smashing wallop at the body or face.

Conn's left hook kept the champion on the brink of defeat in the twelfth. Yet at the end of this furious foray, which had the thousands standing on their chairs around the ring, it was Conn who headed for the wrong corner!

Conn had fought himself out. Rugged as he is for men in his own weight division, his 174 pounds were no match over the route for Louis' punching power.

Mary Louise Smith, Conn's fiancée, was reported to have attended the fight.

CONN'S MOTHER IS VERY PROUD OF FIGHTING SON

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 18 (AP).—"I am very proud of him," whispered the mother of Billy Conn tonight, when news of her boy's defeat by Joe Louis was taken to her by a sister, Mrs. Rose Shook.

The mother, near death from a lingering disease, smiled weakly and turned to the wall after being told only that "Billy lost," Mrs. Shook said.

AWARD ORDERS FOR 81 MILLIONS IN ARMY PLANES

Clement Announces Big Rail Program.

More than $81,000,000 in aviation orders set the pace for the nation's rearmament industrial activity, yesterday, with railroad orders for cars and other equipment to handle the expected vast arms shipments following.

In Washington, the war department announced that it had awarded a contract for $73,764,450 to the Glenn L. Martin company, Baltimore, for planes and spare parts. The company builds bombers for the United States and England. The department awarded a $7,977,503 contract to the Wright Aeronautical corporation, Paterson, N. J., for engines and spare parts. Boeing Aircraft company, Seattle, Wash., was given a $1,628,999 order for parts.

In Philadelphia, M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, announced that the road would spend more than $23,000,000 for 6,020 freight cars, 15 electric locomotives, 12 steam locomotive tenders and other equipment.

Augments Earlier Orders.

This is in addition to 7,245 freight cars ordered by the Pennsylvania early this year and last summer, many of which are already in service.

"In placing the new orders we are anticipating the peak fall traffic of 1942," Clement said. "The railroad is well prepared for the business of 1941, and with the delivery of most of these additional cars during the early months of next year we shall be in excellent condition to take care of any traffic situation which may eventuate in 1942.

"Including today's orders, the Pennsylvania has added 16,000 new freight cars to its equipment since the fall of 1939, when industry began its upward movement. Forty-five new locomotives have been built."

All the new equipment, except electrical propulsion apparatus for the locomotives, will be built in the Pennsylvania's own shops.

Heavy Duty Cars Included.

Included in the freight cars will be heavy duty cars for handling armor plate, machine tools, and other arms items. Financing of the equipment, Clement said, probably will be thru the issuance of equipment trust certificates.

The Interstate Commerce commission authorized the Southern Pacific railroad to issue $14,625,000 of equipment trust certificates in connection with the purchase of new equipment.

The Grand Trunk asked authority to issue $5,692,000 of certificates to be used in connection with the purchase of 45 locomotives and 600 freight cars. The Northern Pacific proposes to issue $5,700,000 in connection with the purchase of 2,050 freight cars.

The Association of American Railroads announced that on June 1 the railroads had on order 65,047 freight cars—the largest number since 1924.

Plan Shipyard Expansion.

John D. Reilly, president of Todd Shipyards corporation, said in New York that the company is considering expansion of its facilities. He told stockholders at the annual meeting that the maritime commission had asked the company to submit data on the construction of additional ways at South Portland, Me., and Richmond, Cal., and had also asked the company to consider the building of additional destroyers.

The Republic Steel corporation announced that it is installing two new electric furnaces at its Canton, O., plant which will add 122,000 tons annually to the company's production of special steels vital in the national preparedness program.

The Permanent Construction company, Chicago, was awarded a $1,657,300 contract to build a steel and concrete warehouse covering more than 17 acres at the Rock Island arsenal.

ARMY PLANS BIG RESERVE POOL OF TANKS AND GUNS

Washington, D. C., June 18 [Special].—The war department is planning a large pool of reserve equipment—aircraft and anti-aircraft, tank and anti-tank—in addition to the present organizational requirements of the army, it was learned today.

Several thousand more light and medium tanks, and thousands of anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns on mobile and self-propelled mounts are to be contracted for, it was learned, to bring American factories to peak capacity and keep the industrial wheels turning without a letdown.

The new orders, many still to be placed, were determined upon after officials of the Office of Production Management stated that the nation's present preparedness schedule was too small to match the axis effort, and that without substantial increases some factories might be forced to reduce employment and curtail operations when current orders were filled.

Dam Projects in Cumberland River Sought

Washington, D. C., June 18 (AP).—Development by the Tennessee Valley authority of a series of hydro-electric dams in the Cumberland river basin of Tennessee and Kentucky to help meet armament power needs was urged before a senate agriculture subcommittee today.

Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee said army engineers had estimated that there was "more potential water power per mile" in the 687 mile long Cumberland than in any other river yet surveyed.

"Approximately 1,000,000 kilowatts of potential power await development there," he said, "and this power reserve may be tapped and at the same time more than 600 miles added to the inland waterways of the United States."

Could "Extend Into Illinois."

Cooper said that if this development of the Cumberland were integrated with that of the Tennessee valley, it would mean not only additional low cost electricity for Tennessee and Kentucky, but also that TVA's distribution system could be "extended into Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois."

Earlier, Leland Olds, chairman of the Federal Power commission indorsed a bill by Senator George W. Norris [Ind., Neb.] to vest jurisdiction over the Cumberland in the TVA, and said that building of 12 dams in the basin could generate an average annual output of 2,700,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy.

Controler Asks Jurisdiction.

On the other side of the capitol the house military affairs committee heard Controler General Lindsay C. Warren urge passage of legislation to bring TVA's expenditures under the auditing and control jurisdiction of the general accounting office.

By challenging the accounting office's jurisdiction over passing upon the legality of TVA expenditures, Warren said, TVA officials were "evading" that accountability for spending which other federal agencies face.

Hearings by both committees will be resumed tomorrow.

9,000 FACTORIES IN CHICAGO AREA '39 STUDY SHOWS

Washington, D. C., June 18 (AP).—The census bureau reported tonight that more than 9,000 manufacturing establishments employing approximately 500,000 workers were operating in the Chicago industrial area at the end of 1939.

The preliminary report showed that in 1939 the region embraced 9,921 manufacturing, printing and publishing firms whose annual business exceeded $5,000 each. Wage earners—exclusive of salaried employés—totaled 483,593, and they received $640,533,131 during the year.

Curb Membership Sells for $1,000, Unchanged

New York, June 18 [Special].—Arrangements were made today for the sale of a New York Curb exchange membership for $1,000, unchanged from the last previous sale, on May 21.

LIVING COSTS FOLLOW ADVANCING PATTERN TRACED IN WORLD WAR

New York, June 18 (AP).—The National Industrial Conference board, a private research organization, said today in a survey that the cost of living in many countries was following "much the same course in this war as it did in the early years of the world war.

"While living costs rose in the first year or two of the world war, the really phenomenal advances occurred generally near the end of the war and usually reached their peaks in the early postwar years," the board said.

Early in both war periods, said the survey, increases were relatively large in the United Kingdom and small in the United States. By September, 1940, England's living costs had advanced 21 per cent; by July, 1915, they had gone up 25 per cent.

In the United States living costs were practically stationary in the first year of the world war; in the first year of this war they advanced 2 per cent. They are now about 4 per cent higher than in August, 1939, according to the board.

Troops Bring Plane Plant to Normal Basis

Los Angeles, Cal., June 18 [Special].—Production is "fully back to normal" at the North American Aviation company, according to United States army officials, who have been in control of the plant since June 9, when troops broke an "outlaw" United Automobile Workers [CIO] strike.

An army spokesman declined to expand on his description of normal production, but the plant capacity had risen to 10 planes daily before local CIO officers ordered the walkout, and it is believed that production has returned to at least that level.

Fully Manned Since Thursday.

The plant, which makes planes for both the United States government and England, has been fully manned since last Thursday, the army source asserted. Only a few most active in the strike have failed to return to their jobs, he said. Approximately 12,000 employés are on the pay roll.

Indicating that the army considers tension at the plant lessening, more than half of the troops protecting the factory have departed within the last two days.

1,400 Soldiers on Duty.

From a peak of 3,900 soldiers the number has been reduced to 1,400, mostly units of the 15th infantry. Army sources said no information was available on how long the remaining troops would be stationed at the factory.

Troop activities are confined to patrol duties at plant gates. Patrols in the workers' residential neighborhoods have been withdrawn but most of the scout and reconnaissance cars equipped with two way radio communication facilities are still on duty.

Clash Enlivens Senate Hearing on Truck Law

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—Attempts to increase the legal maximum length and weight of trucks at this waning session of the general assembly were enlivened this afternoon by reports of a disruption in Gov. Green's official family over the legislation.

A public hearing before the senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, didn't throw much light on these behind the scenes shadows, but it did disclose heated opinions on whether the maximum length for trucks and semi-trailers shall be increased from 35 to 40 feet and whether the maximum axle loads shall be raised from 16,000 to 18,000 pounds.

Rosenfield Causes Clash.

The apparent disagreement within the administration itself centers on Director of Public Works Walter A. Rosenfield. A few days ago he announced that he indorsed the weight and length increases. In so doing he overruled the judgment of his highway department engineers, who in the last decade have offered opinions opposed to such increases. Gov. Green said he will study the question.

Senator James B. Leonardo [R., Chicago], a west side trucker, presided at today's session. He is chairman of the motor vehicle and traffic regulation committee. No one was present to represent the state department.

Senator Frank Ryan [D., Chicago], was the best judge of whether longer argued that the highway department vehicles would boost the accident toll and whether heavy axle loads would destroy the slabs. He said:

"The highway department has no objections to these bills."

Contradicted by Mathias.

Then Paul Mathias, counsel for the Illinois Agricultural association, contradicted the Ryan statements by reading from affidavits by state engineers upholding the present weight limitations in a federal court case in 1936. The gist of these sworn statements was that two-thirds of the Illinois mileage could not bear heavier loads.

"Why do you suppose they have changed their mind?" Ryan asked.

"I don't know," Mathias replied, "unless they've received orders from higher up."

Senators John M. Lee [D., Chicago] and A. L. Marovitz [D., Chicago] asked the chairman to summon state highway engineers. Leonard directed a page to summon Matt Fleming, assistant chief highway engineer. When he arrived he had a whispered conversation with Leonard. It was then announced that the engineer would not testify until another hearing tomorrow morning.

Visited by Keeshin.

Rosenfield's stand on the legislation was announced after he had been visited in the state house last week by Jack Keeshin, one of the nation's largest truck line operators.

Senator Arthur J. Bidwill [R., River Forest], who introduced the truck bills, sat next to Senator Daniel A. Serritella [R., Chicago] during the afternoon hearing. He said he introduced the bills as a favor to Chester Moore, chairman of the board of the Central Motor Freight association.

Testimony today strongly opposed the bills, not only for their influence on the safety of traffic and the life of the pavements but for their relation to the transportation industry.

AMERICA TURNS MEAT IMPORTER; EXPORTS SLUMP

All-Time Low Marks Are Established.

The United States, so-called "larder of the democracies," was a meat importing nation during April instead of an exporter, the department of commerce reported yesterday. This country shipped out much less beef and pork than it imported, continuing the trend of the first quarter of 1941.

In April only 4,477,563 pounds of meat, exclusive of lard, was exported, while imports for the month totaled 12,356,620 pounds. This excess of imports over exports was the most unfavorable for any month since the European war began, with imports exceeding exports by 7,879,057 pounds. A year ago the April imports were 1,063,554 pounds below the exports.

Reverse Year Ago Trend.

This country shipped out only 15,538,028 pounds of meat during the first four months of 1941, which was 28,254,520 pounds less than the imports for the same period. A year ago the four month exports exceeded the imports by 43,975,052 pounds. Aggregate shipments of meats from the United States for both April and the first four months of the year established new all-time low marks for those periods. April exports last year were 6,448,153 pounds, while the four months' total was 71,836,217 pounds.

An increase in exports of beef failed to offset the further decline in pork shipments. Beef exports, at 1,547,826 pounds, the largest since last November, were the largest for April in seven years. Pork exports, at 2,929,737, established a new low for April. The four months' exports of beef fell from 5,907,625 pounds in 1940, to 5,141,599 in 1941. The four month pork shipments this year, at 10,396,429 pounds, were almost insignificant compared with 65,928,592 pounds sent out in 1940.

Lard Exports Decline.

Lard exports declined from 24,328,737 pounds in March to 22,375,420 in April. However, the latter total was largest for April since 1934, and compared with 18,848,807 a year ago.

Imports of meat continued to rise during April, the department's report showed. Imports of pork, mostly from Canada, at 2,951,424 pounds, were the largest for any month since the war began. They compared with 1,687,967 in march, and 456,208 pounds a year ago. Beef imports, at 9,405,196 pounds, were largest for April since 1937 and compared with 4,928,391 a year ago. The four months' total for pork imports, at 7,293,784 pounds, compared with 2,221,541 a year ago. The four months' beef imports rose from 25,639,624 in 1940, to 36,498,764 in 1941.

Predict 100 Billions for Arms; New Cups in Other Lines Seen

Significant views of the nation's preparedness effort were made in Washington, D. C., yesterday. One official of the Office of Production Management foresaw the expenditure of 100 billion dollars for armaments, to match Germany's war machine, while William S. Knudsen, OPM director general, said further curtailment in nonarmament industries was possible because of material shortages.. The developments:

War Aims Hinted

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 18.—The United States must be prepared to spend 100 billion dollars on armaments, an official of the Office of Production Management said today, hinting at the administration's determination to fight Germany, alone if necessary.

The official, Joseph L. Trecker of the defense contract service, told a conference of defense contract field officers that this nation must be ready "to go the route alone" and that the cost might reach 100 billions.

Includes Seized Facilities.

He declared that Reichsfuehrer Hitler has a war machine costing in excess of 100 billion dollars, including the facilities he has seized in occupied countries. Compared with this, Trecker said, United States armament contracts now total 19 billions. He said that he hoped the United States would not have to meet Germany alone but that it must be prepared to do so.

Trecker said that in his opinion Germany has spent 22 billion dollars for arms during the last seven months.

Another OPM official, Peter R. Nehemkis Jr., special assistant to the chief of the DCS, expressed the belief that the nation needs a new banking system designed to handle the needs of small business.

A New Deal Reformer.

Nehemkis is one of the New Deal "reformers." He conducted part of the Securities and Exchange commission's studies for the monopoly investigation.

"Present commercial banks are not geared to handle the problems of small business," he said, adding that he estimated 90 per cent of the country's business was conducted by small enterprises.

"If you don't look after them," he continued, "you're going to lose them and something is going to happen in this country. If you lose them you will plant the seeds of Fascism in the United States."

Knudsen Statement

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 18.—Because of a shortage of basic materials it may be necessary to reduce production of refrigerators, washing machines, and air conditioning equipment, in addition to automobiles, William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Production Management, disclosed today.

Discussing the proposed further reduction in automobile output next year, on top of the 20 per cent cut already agreed upon by the industry, Knudsen told a press conference that Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal had urged the OPM to institute a cut in the other items.

Doubts Original Goal.

Knudsen said that neither Forrestal nor Patterson had named a definite figure for further auto curtailment. He said, however, that he did not believe the industry could produce as many as 4,200,000 cars in 1942, a figure representing the 20 per cent cut from the estimated 5,385,000 assemblies of 1941.

Knudsen also said that the OPM is forming various industry committees, consisting of representatives of employers and labor, to consult with the OPM on rearmament problems. These groups are intended to function as clearing agents acting on administrative problems and to obviate the need of individual companies consulting the OPM over prices, priorities, and other subjects now subject to OPM approval.

Facts on Steel Soon.

Within a week, Knudsen said, he will know what the steel production expansion program will be like. Ten million tons of additional ingot capacity is considered necessary because of the armament program. New aluminum plants are also under discussion.

June production of warplanes probably will surpass that of May, when there was a decline from the preceding month's volume, Knudsen asserted. A transportation shortage may become acute later this year, he said.

EXPORT 591 PLANES IN APRIL; 110 MORE THAN MARCH TOTAL

Washington, D. C., June 18 (AP).—The department of commerce disclosed today 591 airplanes were shipped to Great Britain and other countries in April—an increase of 110 planes over March.

The airplanes were valued at $47,077,905, compared with a $27,506,424 valuation on the March craft.

Shipment of extra airplane engines, however, declined from 1,102 engines, valued at $13,782,140, in March, to 700 engines, worth $8,223,894, in April.

Exports of engine parts and accessories increased from $2,914,289 in March to $3,115,552 in April, setting a record for this classification.

Other April aeronautic shipments included $61,205 of parachutes and parts, $658,549 of instruments and parts, $1,879,132 of propellors and parts, and $5,266,603 of other airplane parts and accessories.

BRAZIL BLOCKS VITAL GOODS TO ALL EXCEPT U. S.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, June 18 (AP).—Exporters said today that Brazil had banned exportation of certain important arms making materials, including rubber and manganese ore, to all countries except the United States.

The other restricted materials include industrial diamonds, quartz, crystal, mica, and other ores in addition to manganese.

Previously it had been necessary to obtain export licenses for these materials, but until now licenses were readily available, except in cases where the intent was to re-export products imported from the United States.

Great Britain and the other countries of the western hemisphere were included in the ban, giving the United States exclusive claim on these exports.

MANY FACTORIES PERILED BY LACK OF MATERIALS

Unadapted to Arms Work; Some Close.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With production of peacetime goods already curtailed in many industries, manufacturers are facing a still more critical period ahead as preparations are being made to extend and tighten the rationing of raw materials.

Developments yesterday emphasized the seriousness of the situation of many large and small manufacturing enterprises which are not engaged in war work and whose supply of raw materials is being diverted to plants handling government contracts.

Auto Industry an Example.

The proposal that the automobile industry make a 50 per cent reduction in output in its 1942 models suggests the degree to which the production of nonmilitary goods will be affected by the armament program, manufacturers said.

Most manufacturers of radio sets, which are seriously affected by the shortage of aluminum, are engaged in some type of military work, but these contracts will not enable them to maintain operations at anything near a normal level.

With many small manufacturing companies the situation is critical. Some companies are going out of business because they cannot get materials to carry on their normal operations and are not equipped to handle war contracts. After consulting with defense officials, one small manufacturer of axes decided to suspend operations because he was unable to obtain steel of the type needed for his product. Some small plants, by pooling facilities with other manufacturers, are able to get some defense work.

Seek to Farm Out Work.

Thru the regional offices of the defense contract service, the Office of Production Management is making an effort to farm out work to small manufacturers.

W. Homer Hartz, coördinator of the defense contract service for the Chicago district, told yesterday how his office is attempting to serve small manufacturers that are seeking defense work.

Many of the companies, he said, have never handled government contracts and are ignorant of the procedure for getting such work. The service office catalogs the facilities of the manufacturers seeking jobs and in many cases has enabled them to get contracts.

Hartz has a staff of 16 with offices in the Federal Reserve bank building. Four engineers on the staff are able to give special technical advice to many of the applicants. Hartz also will assume the duties next week of district coördinator of the priorities division of the OPM.

STOCKS REBUFF SELLING ATTACK TO END STRONG

But Early '41 High Marks Are Slashed Down.

New York, June 18 (AP).—A last-minute selling attack failed to smash a general stock market advance today and leading issues extended the previous session's gains.

Closing prices, however, rarely resembled the figures attained earlier in the day, for the selloff chopped major fractions out of some quotations which, previously, had established new 1941 highs.

Transactions totaled 576,240 shares, compared with 403,880 yesterday.

Most of the dealings took place in the morning, while prices still were on their way up. The first two hours more than doubled yesterday morning's operations. Then the market turned nearly stagnant in prelude to the dive finale.

355 Issues Close Higher.

At the last, it was seen that of 768 issues traded, 355 had advanced and 208 had declined, leaving 205 unchanged.

Altho commentators regarded the downturn as evidence mainly of profit-taking, it coincided with publication of predictions of a Turkish-German agreement. Previously, reports of successful British operations across the channel and in the near east had assisted trading optimism.

On the upside at the last were Commonwealth and Southern preferred at a new 1941 high mark, Air Reduction, American Can, Westinghouse, du Pont, Johns-Manville.

CHICAGO STOCKS.

Chicago corporation stock yesterday dropped ⅛ point to ⅝ on the Chicago Stock exchange, equaling the level of earlier this month which was the lowest since 1932. Shares generally were higher, however, altho, United States Steel, the volume leader with turnover of 700 shares, bucked the trend to close at 56¼, off ⅝.

COTTON

General mill and commission house buying advanced cotton futures to new high prices for about four years in the early trading yesterday, but the market turned weak later on hedging pressure and commission house selling, and the close was at the bottom with losses of .09 to .17 cent a pound. Bearish sentiment predominated, altho crop reports in the main are unfavorable.

Spot cotton closed .14 to .16 cent lower with New York 14.79 cents, New Orleans 13.80 cents, and Houston and Galveston at 13.75 cents a pound. Prices follow:

COTTONSEED OIL AND MOST OTHER STAPLES LOWER

Rubber, Sugar Futures Rise Against Trend.

Cottonseed oil declined yesterday along with a majority of other commodity futures under selling prompted by reports that federal price administration officials were studying recent price rises. Only rubber and sugar futures advanced, with the latter reaching new seasonal highs. Sugar closed 0.01 to 0.03 cent a pound higher, and rubber unchanged to 0.11 cent a pound higher.

Cottonseed oil closed 0.12 cent higher to 0.09 cent a pound lower, cocoa 0.01 cent a pound higher to 0.02 cent lower, and coffee 0.02 cent to 0.06 cent a pound lower. Silk was off 2½ to 3½ cents a pound from its seasonal high of two days ago. Hides and wool declined moderately, and lead, tin, and copper were unchanged.

FOOD STAMPS ON NATIONAL BASIS SOUGHT

Grocers Also Back Fight on Trade Barriers.

Extension of the federal food stamp plan to cover the whole country and the elimination of state trade barriers were urged yesterday in resolutions adopted by the National Associations of Retail Grocers.

Meeting in their 44th annual convention in the Palmer House, the grocers in other resolutions called for the extension of social security to grocers, the protection of small business, the elimination of unnecessary nonarmament spending, and unification of state and federal food laws.

Viewed as Health Move.

The grocers contended that enlargement of the stamp plan, to be financed by congressional appropriation, could correct the malnutrition of the general public and diet defects as disclosed by the United States public health survey and the draft reports. It also would ease postwar economic readjustments, they said.

Commending the department of commerce for what it already has done toward reducing trade barriers, the grocers requested further efforts in that direction by state and federal agencies. They asked also that state laws be made to conform to the federal laws on food and food distribution.

In the resolution on small business, the grocers declared that independent merchants have disappeared in the war-torn countries of the old world and that armament problems may discriminate against such merchants in this country.

Oppose Sales Tax.

New taxes for preparedness purposes must be fairly apportioned and based upon ability to pay, thus preserving free enterprise, the grocers stated. Use of a sales tax as a means of financing armament spending was rejected in favor of a manufacturers' tax, payable by the first processor and to be included in the first cost.

They requested the government to make provisions now for post-war depressions and readjustments and to protect American government by limiting effectiveness of armament legislation to two years.

SMALL DECLINE IN PHILIP MORRIS EARNINGS SHOWN

Philip Morris & Co., Ltd., Richmond, Va., cigaret manufacturer, yesterday reported a small decline in consolidated net income. The total for the fiscal year ended March 31 amounted to $7,360,669, equal to $8.14 a common share, compared with $7,435,766, or $8.38 a share, for the preceding year.

Raybestos-Manhattan, Inc., Stratford, Conn., manufacturer of brake lining, rubber sundries, and other products, yesterday reported net profit for the March quarter of $573,282, or 91 cents a share, compared with $434,441, or 68 cents on a slightly larger number of shares, for the 1940 period.

POWER OUTPUT FOR WEEK SETS ALL-TIME MARK

Despite power shortages in some sections of the nation, output of electricity in the United States last week rose to a record high level, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday.

Production of electricity in the week ended June 14 totaled 3,057,344,000 kilowatt hours, a gain of 0.5 per cent over the revised total for the preceding week of 3,042,128,000 kilowatt hours. Output was 14.7 per cent larger than the 2,664,853,000 kilowatt hour production in the corresponding 1940 week.

Production in the southern states, where the shortage is said to be acute, was up 14.4 per cent from a year ago, and in the New England states, 21.6 per cent, the largest gain for any geographical area. Commonwealth Edison output in the Chicago area of 145,355,000 kilowatt hours compared with 141,989,000 in the preceding week and 126,845,000 in the corresponding 1940 week.

SUIT PROTESTING LOFT-PEPSI COLA MERGER DROPPED

Wilmington, Del., June 18 (AP).—The court of chancery today dismissed the action brought by Harriet Mnuchin, the holder of 10 shares stock of Pepsi-Cola company, to enjoin the proposed merger of Pepsi-Cola company and Loft, Inc. Court costs were paid by the complainant.

The trial, which was to have commenced today, was halted by the request of complainant's attorney for permission to withdraw the suit. Counsel for the defendant companies objected.

The proposed merger was approved May 29 by the votes of more than 75 per cent of the stock of Loft and more than 95 per cent of the stock of Pepsi-Cola.

People and Events

FORECAST EARLY END OF WESTERN SHIPYARD STRIKE

Accept Closed Shop, Bethlehem Urged.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Early termination of the machinists' strike in the San Francisco shipyards was predicted yesterday after the defense mediation board recommended in Washington that the Bethlehem Steel company's shipbuilding division sign a closed shop contract with the AFL metal trades council.

Harvey W. Brown, president of the AFL International association, said in San Francisco he believed the strikers would go back to work after the issues were explained.

Favors Master Contract.

The board recommended that Bethlehem accept a master contract which all other shipbuilding plants in the area had signed. CIO and AFL machinists walked out six weeks ago, tying up 500 million dollars of government contracts.

The master agreement calls for a basic wage rate for skilled mechanics of $1.12 an hour, time and a half for overtime work on Saturdays, and double time for Sunday and holiday work. In addition, a 10 per cent premium is provided for the second shift and 15 per cent for the third.

The strikers demanded $1.15 an hour and double pay for all overtime work. The current scale is $1 an hour.

Advocates Arbitration.

The mediation board also proposed that wage issues between the Marlin-Rockwell corporation, Plainville, Conn., and a CIO union be submitted to arbitration, with the results binding on both sides.

Other phases of the dispute would be settled by negotiations between the company and union. The union accepted the recommendation. The company, which manufactures plane ball bearings, said it would answer by Monday. About 1,225 workers are involved.

HOGS TOUCH NEW 4 YEAR HIGHS AS SHIPMENTS DROP

Hog prices soared to new four year peaks for June on light receipts yesterday as farmers cut shipments to market again. Meantime consumer resistance caused packers to reduce prices of fresh pork for the second day in a row. Packers wholesaled top light loins at $21.50, off $1 a hundred pounds in two days.

All classes of hogs shared in the 10 to 20 cents advance, closing at the highest prices of the day. The average jumped 15 cents to $9.90, the highest for any day since Oct. 21, 1937.

This price was double the average of $4.95 on the same day last year.

BILL WOULD END REGISTERING OF EMPLOYE STOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 18.—Representative George A. Paddock [R., Ill.] today introduced in the house a bill amending the securities act to provide that no registration shall be required for stock issued by corporations to employés "arising out of or resulting from the creation or operation of any employés' stock bonus, pension, or profit-sharing trust."

Also exempted under the amendment would be any employé savings account plan under which officers, agents, or employés are permitted to make savings deposits with their employer with the object eventually of obtaining stock.

The measure was referred to the committee on interstate and foreign commerce of which Paddock is a member. The merits of the legislation were obvious, he said, and he expected a favorable report from the committee in the near future.

BROTHERHOODS ASK DISMISSAL OF ROAD'S SUIT

Action Revives Charges of 'Leak' Thru Board.

The case brought wide public attention in May, 1940, when Chicago railroad executives alleged that the brotherhoods withdrew a number of complaints against the road when they learned thru a "leak" in the National Railroad Adjustment board that a referee was deciding against the labor groups.

Attorney Asks Dismissal.

Leo J. Hassenauer, attorney for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Order of Railway Conductors, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen asked Judge Igoe yesterday to dismiss a suit brought by the Delaware & Hudson against 10 members of the adjustment board and Judge Royal A. Stone of the Minnesota Supreme court, who had acted as a referee in the case.

The attorney contended that the federal court lacked jurisdiction in the case. Judge Igoe gave the railroad five days to answer the dismissal plea.

Anan Raymond, representing the D. & H., asked the court to direct the adjustment board to reinstate 73 cases reportedly withdrawn by the brotherhoods and to have Judge Stone hear them again as referee.

Ask Pay for Switching.

Many of the 170 labor cases in the brotherhoods' original action against the D. & H. involved demands for extra wages for road train crews which had done terminal switching—work usually done by yard or switching crews.

When members of division 1 of the adjustment board [five representing railroad management and five the unions] were unable to agree on the demands, Judge Stone was called in as a referee. He was said to have prepared a ruling, never issued, assailing the unions' demands.

A copy of the memorandum embracing his proposed recommendations was said to have come into the possession of the brotherhoods, resulting in their withdrawal of the 73 complaints.

APPEALS COURT REVERSES NLRB ORDER A 2D TIME

Foote Brothers Gear and Machine corporation, Chicago, won a reversal of a National Labor Relations board order yesterday for the second time in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The first order, requiring the company to withdraw recognition from an alleged company union, was vacated by the Appeals court and later sustained by the United States Supreme court because of technical error in the review before the Court of Appeals. After hearing the evidence the second time the appeals court entered the same order as before and denied the board the right to enforce its order.

AMERICAN BARGE LINE.

I would like a review of the reorganization of the American Barge Line company and its operations.—E. E. W.

Answer: Thru a financing deal managed by F. Eberstadt & Co., Inc., New York investment banking firm, shares of the American Barge Line company, formerly privately held, were offered to the public last April. The change was effected thru a reorganization under which Eberstadt received 236,520 shares of $5 par common stock and 2 million dollars of first preferred mortgage bonds.

The underwriters previously had purchased 85 per cent control of the company for $4,103,033 from trustees and heirs of the late W. C. Kelly, founder and former principal owner of the enterprise. The underwriters then offered the 236,520 shares to the public and sold the mortgage bonds to an insurance company. An additional $250,000 in bonds was sold by the underwriters to the insurance company for the account of American Barge Line.

As a result of the reorganization the company's capitalization consists of $2,250,000 in funded debt and 300,000 shares of $5 par common stock, of which 63,480 shares, retained by the management of the company, were not subject to the public offering.

The company transports cargoes in barges on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and their tributaries. The line connects the farm and industrial sections of the north central states and the middle west with Gulf of Mexico ports and the oil, sulphur, sugar, and cotton areas of the gulf states.

The major commodities, according to tonnage, carried on northbound trips last year included oil products, scrap iron and steel, sulphur and sugar. On southbound trips the leading articles were manufactured, iron and steel goods, soft coal, and corn.

1939	2,870,651	627,254	2.09
1940	3,293,991	678,154	2.26

First quarter net income this year was $218,740, equal to 73 cents a share, against $99,488, or 33 cents a share, in the first 1940 quarter.

An initial dividend of 24 cents a share on the new stock will be paid Aug. 1 to holders of record July 21.

The annual dividend rate on the company's old common stock was $10 a share, which is equivalent to 67 cents a share on the new common stock, without making provision for fixed charges on the new bond issue.

LARD, SOY BEANS TUMBLE AFTER SCALING PEAKS

Corn Higher; Wheat Closes Lower.

The props fell out from under lard and soy bean futures prices on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday after both commodities had bounded to new high levels for about four years.

Both markets dropped in the late trading following official disclosure that the Office of Production Management is investigating the recent upturn in cottonseed oil.

Soy beans broke 4¼ to 4½ cents from the early high, and closed 2 to 3¼ cents lower. Lard finished unchanged to 2½ cents a hundred pounds lower.

Competing Oils Higher.

Numerous competing oils and fats were quoted ⅛ to ½ cent a pound higher in the wholesale markets.

Corn showed independent strength and finished ⅛ to ¼ cent higher. Wheat broke around 1½ cents on liquidation in sympathy with soy beans, favorable weather for harvesting in the southwest and on hedging pressure, and finished 1⅜ cents lower. Oats lost ¼ to ⅛ cent and rye was off ⅜ to ⅞ cents a bushel.

Prospects of decreased imports of foreign oils and fats continues to furnish the background for the strength in beans and lard, brokers said.

Expect Drop in Lard Output.

Production of lard during the first four months of 1941 is estimated by the department of agriculture at 512,000,000 pounds, a decrease of about 9 per cent as compared with the corresponding 1940 period. The department estimates that the decrease in production for the calendar year of 1941 will not exceed 10 per cent, compared with earlier indications of a reduction of 10 to 20 per cent.

The possibility of a smaller cotton crop than anticipated a short time ago, and a consequent reduction in the supply of cottonseed also is a factor in the cottonseed oil advance.

COOL WEATHER AND RAIN HINDER CROPS, HARVEST

Excess Moisture Yellowing Corn in Some Areas.

Cool weather and excessive rain were unfavorable for the development of crops and for harvesting of winter wheat in parts of the grain belt for the week ending Tuesday, the weather bureau reported yesterday. In areas where rainfall was lighter crops made good progress and harvesting was well under way.

Damage to winter wheat in parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, and Texas was confined to losses from floods, and lodging, with severe losses from black rust in parts of Texas.

Dry and warmer weather is needed in the corn belt, where cultivation has been delayed by wet weather. In some areas the plant had turned yellow from too much moisture.

Conditions by States.

ILLINOIS—Heavy rains in north and central portions of the state, but moisture is needed in the south. Wet soil retarded cultivation of corn. Condition of the crop good to excellent. Winter wheat in good to excellent condition with harvesting under way in the southern counties.

INDIANA—All field work delayed by rains, but pastures and soy beans improved. Winter wheat ripening in central counties and some cut in south. Cutting of rye and barley in south interrupted by rain. Corn up to good to excellent stands.

Field Work Hindered.

WISCONSIN—Field work almost suspended by heavy rains. Corn retarded, but condition generally good. Wheat, rye, and barley filling well.

MICHIGAN—Wheat, rye, and oats progressing normally. Corn needs warmer weather.

IOWA—Progress of corn generally fair, except for yellowing on lowlands and flooded areas that did not drain. Crop varies from just planted to 2 feet high. Oats and barley heading.

Rainfall for the week ending June 17, and from April 1 to June 17, in inches and hundredths of inches, as reported by the weather bureau follow:

REPUBLIC STEEL SUIT AGAINST CIO DISMISSED

Cleveland, O., June 18 (AP).—Republic Steel corporation's anti-trust suit asking 7 million 500 thousand dollars damages from the CIO and various leaders and affiliated organizations as a result of the 1937 steel strike was dismissed in federal District court today.

Upholding a CIO plea for dismissal, Judge Robert N. Wilkin said in a brief opinion that Republic's allegations "do not constitute a cause of action" under the anti-trust laws in light of a United States Supreme court ruling in the Apex Hosiery case.

The Apex decision concerned a company's right to sue a labor union for damages under the Sherman act. Apex Hosiery company of Philadelphia, scene of a seven week sit-down strike in 1937, won a District court verdict against a CIO union for $700,000 damages, but the verdict was reversed by a Circuit court which in turn was upheld by the Supreme court.

Republic had argued that a trial was necessary to determine whether the Apex decision was applicable.

BANKERS PLAN 'HOME GUARDS' THRUOUT STATE

The crime prevention and insurance committee of the Illinois Bankers' association, meeting in the Palmer House yesterday, drew up plans for expanding the "home guard" thruout the state as a means of decreasing bank crime.

The committee will ask county bankers' organizations to sponsor the home guard, which is comprised of a group of armed persons appointed by the sheriff in each small town.
